

Warning:—Strangles have broken out in several places in the Maritimes and owners of tracks should be on the alert and see that no horse suffering from this disease is permitted to occupy a stall as it is extremely infectious and dangerous!

Some real speed was displayed at the Charlotteville oval last Wednesday morning. Despite the fact that the sticks protecting the pole were laid out on the track and the horses had to go in second position, the five-year-old thirty class pacer, P.E.I. Budlong, owned by T. E. Hankinson, Middleton, N.S., paced a quarter of a mile away from the wire in a shade better than 30 seconds. He was taken back and went an easy mile in 2:18 4-5. He is by Calumet Budlong 2:02 3/4 and his dam is the noted race mare Betty S. 2:07, that made such a wonderful campaign through the Maritimes some years ago. She was brought from Ohio by Cecil Alexander of Saint John, N.B. Betty S. is now in the brood mare ranks at Frank McKay's farm, East Royalty, where there is a full brother to P.E.I. Budlong out to pasture. The other fast quarter was paced by Johnnie Kalmuck 2:13. He was minus the hoppers and it was at the end of a mile in 2:18 when he paced the quarter in exactly 30 seconds. These are the fastest quarters we have heard of in the Province this season.

Frank McAlduff left for Gorham, Maine, yesterday with the John D. Forbes stable of Fredericton, N.B., consisting of Yankee Girl 2:10 1-5, Miss Eloise 2:15 2-5, Pat D. 2:06 3-5. The two former winners at the night races here but Pat D. did not make a start.

John Mulligan, Kinkora, is very proud of two foals that arrived recently. One is by Jollity 2:05 1/4, dam, Cochato Princess 2:13, by His Majesty 1:59 1/4, and the other is by Jollity, dam, Queenie Spruce by King Spruce 2:08. Admiring friends predict a great future for these youngsters because of their splendid breeding and exceptional development.

The P.E.I. Circuit moves to St. Peters next Wednesday afternoon where Pres. Quigley and Joseph Leslie have what they claim is one of the best appointed tracks in the Province; certainly no expense has been spared to put it in the best of order. $1,600 in purses will draw an entry list quite as pleasing as any that has started this season. Extra inducements of $25 to the driver of the horse pacing the fastest heat, $25 to the driver of the horse trotting the fastest heat, $125 to the caretaker of the horse pacing the fastest heat and $125 to the caretaker of the horse trotting the fastest heat, will be incentives to the handlers of the ribbons. Last year we had the pleasure of being at the initial meet under the new

Taking a quick glance over the program of events scheduled for this week-end it looks very much like sporting enthusiasts and fans are going to have a busy two days of sporting activity that will present a wide variety of sporting entertainment. The main features scheduled will take in horse racing, baseball, yacht racing and golf.

For the ardent rail birds, it will be a big ten-dash trotting and pacing program under lights here tonight at the Exhibition Raceway, which will be the concluding feature of a two-night program that got away to a highly successful start last evening. With a list of top-notch successes behind them already this season, the Provincial Exhibition Association and the Charlottetown Driving Park have a really promising group of entries slated to start tonight that should give racing fans a really smart evening of keen racing.

Although baseball, in regular league play, will be a minus quantity today, a big program is scheduled for Charlottetown and Summerside tomorrow. Performing over Memorial Field this afternoon, the Abbies will do battle for top honors against the R. C. A. F. 150's. While Gratian Bars may not be so popular all the writers were agreed that no other horse could have done what he did when he won a race with the humps and another race a short time later. One of the most interesting articles I have read in a horse paper appeared in a Christmas number years ago by Judge Reese Blizzard—Was Bingen a Wilkes or an Electioneer? My guess is that Bingen got his speed-riding ability from Alexander's Norman, a horse with a Canadian background. I don't care what it is that made Bingen and Electioneers great trotters; I hate to see the blood die out, especially in the male line Bingen. You should be interested in the Bingen as you had one of the best: raced around here—Briar Mac—I never forgot how that colt could trot as a two-year-old to what Harry Lydiard called his skeleton wagon. Mr. Lydiard had everything it takes to make a race driver—even to being born on the island, but I don't think he was the very best of colt trainers although

In his book "Knotty Problems of Baseball" Evans says: "There are two ways to play baseball, involving juggling of the ball, that are confusing. One has to do with a fly ball, the other a touch play on the bases. In play number one there was a runner on third and one out. The batter hit a fly ball to left field. The moment the ball struck the hands of the fielder, the runner on third, who tagged up, broke for the plate. The fielder juggled the ball several times, but finally held it securely. What were the rights of the runner as to this play? Had he the right to advance when the ball struck the hands of the fielder or must he delay his advance until the ball was securely held?"

"In play number two, there was a runner on first and he tried a theft of second. The catcher made a perfect throw, the ball arriving two yards ahead of the runner, who appeared to be an easy out as he was touched with the ball. The umpire first ruled 'out'. Then it was apparent that the fielder making the play juggled the ball several times after the touch. Then the umpire reversed himself and called the runner safe. It would seem that juggling the ball on the touch play voided the out. Is that true?"

"The rule covering the fly ball is specific. It says: 'A base runner who holds his base on a fly ball shall have the right to advance the moment the ball touches the person or uniform of a fielder.' The reason for this is obvious. If a base runner had to hold his base until the ball was securely held by the out, fielders would make a practice of juggling all fly balls, which would put the runner at the mercy of the fielder and his juggling act."

"On a touch play, where the batter is first declared out, only to have the ball juggled but not dropped, the umpire must reverse himself from 'out' to 'safe'. If the runner in the interim reached the base while the ball was being juggled. The rule says: 'The ball must be firmly held by the fielder after touching the runner. The ball cannot be juggled even though the fielder may retain possession of the ball and prevent the same from dropping to the ground.'"

Johnny Mize Leads Yanks To Win Over Tigers

Big Johnny Mize could name anything in New York he wanted today, from Mayor O'Dwyer's job to a Fifth Avenue bus, and the chances are he'd get it.

For big Johnny was the hero as the Yankees slammed Detroit Tigers 14-5 before 62,823 persons in Yankee Stadium last night and cut the Tigers' first place margin in the American League to 1-1/2 games.

Mize blasted two homers, a pair of singles and drove home 5 runs to spark a New York attack that couldn't be approached by the league leaders.

The Yanks slugged starter Ted Gray and reliever Marlin Stuart for seven runs in the first three innings. The Tigers struck back and knocked Yankee starter Vic Raschi out with four runs in the fifth to cut the Yankee advantage to 7-4. But the Yanks came right back in their half of the fifth with a four run rally that Mize high-lighted with a three run homer to wrap up the decision.

Mize socked his second homer of the game and eighth of the season in the seventh to feature a three run uprising.

Yank manager Casey Stengel shook up his lineup before the game, dropping Joe DiMaggio from the fourth to fifth slot and inserting Mize in the cleanup berth.

The move paid huge dividends as DiMaggio came through with three singles and a double.

Boston Red Sox pounded out 12 hits, including homers by Dom DiMaggio and Birdie Tebbets, while gaining their 11th victory in 12 starts against St. Louis Browns by a 7-4 margin. The Soxers had to use three pitchers, running up a hurling total of 31 for their last 11 home games.

Washington's Conrado Marrero, little Cuban right-hander who had been slammed for nine homers in three previous starts against Cleveland, thwarted the Indians with six hits and beat them 3-2.

Sam Chapman's sing of Chicago's fifth pitcher, Ken Holcombe, with two out, drove in the winning run as Philadelphia Athletics snapped a six-game losing streak with a 10th inning 7-6 victory over the White Sox.

Preacher Roe took complete charge of Cincinnati Reds and hurled Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-1 National League victory.

For the preacher man, it was his 12th triumph, and a sweet one, indeed, for Redleg starter Herman Wehmeier had beaten the Reds three times this season and Butch Shotton's operatives were beginning to think they couldn't lick him.

But with Roe flipping an eight-hitter, they scored enough runs to win the ball game in the fourth inning when walks to Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges, single by Roy Campanella and Pee Wee Reese and a stolen base by Robby, netted two runs.

Philadelphia Phillies kept in the thick of the race by defeating Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1 behind rookie pitcher Emory (Bubba) Church who chalked up his third victory without a defeat.

A crowd of 34,016 saw Ralph Kiner account for the Bucs' only run with his 28th homer in the eighth inning.

Andy Parko's double and Bill Serena's single gave the Cubs a 13-inning, 4-5 victory over Boston Braves before a ladies' day throng of 27,445.

It was Parko's 16th home run of the season which had given the Cubs a 1-0 lead over Johnny Sain in the fourth innings.

The Braves went ahead with a three run lead in the eighth, but the Cubs tied the score in their half of the inning on Hank Sauer's double with two mates on base.

Junior Vics Wallop Kinsmen

The Junior Vics broke a two-way tie for second place in the City Junior League last night when they walloped the Kinsmen crew by an 8-2 count. The game was a regular league fixture played on the Memorial Field diamond.

The Vics' big inning was in the third frame when they tallied seven runs on three hits, three walks and a fielder's choice. They added their final run in the top half of the sixth. The Kinsmen scored both their runs in the fifth on two walks, two hits and an error.

Cliff Ready went the distance for the winners while Lorne MacDougall and Benny Carson shared the hurrying for the Kinsmen.

Jack Cairns and Jack Williams of the losers each had two hits in three times at bat. Eddie Lund, returning to the Vic lineup after being out for three games with an injured ankle, walloped a Carson pitch into left centre for a mighty triple for the longest hit of the game.

Second Stage of MacKinnon Cup At Belvedere Today

The second stage of the MacKinnon Cup Match will be held over the Charlottetown Golf Club's Belvedere course this afternoon commencing at two o'clock. A special sweepstakes match will also be held in conjunction with the MacKinnon Cup play.

As the result of the first stage play held last week-end, Ted Bradley leads the field going into today 18-hole, handicap medal play competition. He garnered a net 65 for 10 points, but is followed closely by F. B. Conrad and Donnie Clarke with nine and eight points respectively.

The match is played over three stages with the winner being declared on a total point basis.

Toronto Argos Manager Resigns

TORONTO, July 21 — (CP) — Teddy Morris, who coached Toronto Argonauts to three Dominion championships, today announced his resignation as manager of Argos and said he will coach Toronto Balmy Beach Seniors of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Morris was appointed manager of Argos last winter after resigning as coach when the Toronto Big Four entry finished out of the league playoffs two years in succession.

In his new job, Morris replaces Don (Shanty) McKenzie, last year's playing coach, who this season is trying out for a line position with Argonauts.

Morris was succeeded as Argos coach by Frank Clair, former coach of the University of Buffalo.

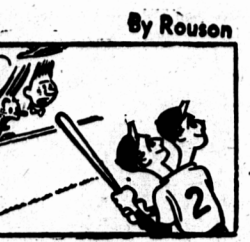

In an interview today, Morris said he is leaving the Big Four club under amicable circumstances and is happy about his new job. The contract with Beasles, he added, was signed in the Argos office.

Sea trout have begun a belated run in the central section of the province. The western portion of Prince county experienced sizeable runs of heavy bodied trout early in July and several streams in Kings County followed suit a week or ten days later. At time of writing a general movement of trout is under way from salt water. Several silvery beauties of three pounds and over have been brought to creel this week and the hopes of anglers, hitherto unlucky, have been raised accordingly.

The first covets of Hungarian partridge have been observed this season and one nest holding 12 eggs was reported destroyed by a hay mower early in the week at Hazelbrook. Evidently this bird had the first setting destroyed and was still in the process of laying. Pheasants are taking quite a beating this season from losses due to hay operations. To date five nests have been reported cut over and only a small percentage of farmers persist in making their nests in hay fields and the percentage of losses is expected to step up accordingly once hay cutting becomes general.

Quite a few covets of pheasants have already hatched. I saw one on Sunday morning that was well advanced. The chicks were the size of robins. I spotted three but figured more were lurking in the roadside grasses. Pheasants appear to have quite a spread in their housekeeping activities. Some late clutches are undoubtedly due to the destruction of the first nest but it is evident that pheasants have no set time on which to begin laying. I suppose, like hens, the individual birds condition governs the laying of the first egg. With such a promising quota of hen pheasants on hand this spring it is only natural that more losses will be reported. Surveys of pheasant nests in the U.S. showed conclusively that hay mowers destroyed more nests than all other causes combined. Flushing bars are used extensively in the States and have been the means of saving large numbers of nests that would otherwise have been lost.

A meeting of the Provincial Game Association Executive was held on Thursday evening at the Rendezvous Restaurant, Charlottetown. At the close of the meeting coffee, cake and sandwiches were served by the staff.

This columnist was present but the lunch didn't figure in my evening's entertainment. At 10:45 two trim waitresses began making preparations for our repast. A few minutes before eleven cups, coffee pots, large trays heaped with lobster, eggs, and ham sandwiches were carried into the room. Just as the paper napkins were handed out word came that I was wanted on the phone.

Cat. Johnston's voice, in rather amused tone, reached me over the line. "How'd you like to catch some poachers in the act of netting trout at X bridge?" In a few minutes I was back at Detachment. Johnny smiled at me across the desk. "Your wife phoned that a man called at the house and said he had caught someone netting trout in the pool at the Railroad Bridge at X . . . and he wanted you to go right out. He had driven to town in 25 minutes." He added: "I've contacted the radio patrol. They'll be in from Hunter River in a few minutes. They'll pick you up at your house."

Smart Racing Witnessed Last Night; Another Big Card Scheduled Tonight

A large crowd of racing fans witnessed another stellar harness horse racing program at the Exhibition track last evening when a total of sixty-eight horses came up with some thrilling track battles in a ten, one-mile dash program that saw every race produce a battle from wire to wire over the mile course.

Another promising looking ten dash program will be featured over the same track again tonight at 8:30 when a large field of trotting and pacing entries from Island and Mainland racing stables will battle it out for top racing honors.

Nell Kalmuck, owned and driven by Willard Kelly of Southport, came through with the fastest mile of the night when she trotted her way to a mark of 2:12 in winning the fifth race on the card. She also came in a winner in the ninth event in 2:14 to become one of the big double winners in the night's racing. Lee Brewer and Lusticia made it close racing for Nell all the way in both events, the former placing second in one and Lusticia taking the number two spot in the other.

The other double winner of the night was Walter Hennessey's Bee Budlong who clipped off honors in both the sixth and tenth races on the card. Getting away to a slow start to trail most of the field up to the three-quarter pole, Bee put on a terrific burst of speed coming off the back stretch into the upper turn to take over the lead and come down the stretch a winner. Getting away well in the final race, Bee tucked in behind Eleanor G. for most of the route and came through on the stretch in a very close finish with Lucky Number and Eleanor who finished second and third in that order. A low favorite to win, Bee's victory was a stunner in the final race. Bee tucked in behind Eleanor G. for most of the route and came through on the stretch in a very close finish with Lucky Number and Eleanor who finished second and third in that order. A low favorite to win, Bee's victory was a stunner in the final race.

The remainder of the races were close affairs too, with upsets frequent. Wait N' See, driven by Len O'Meara, won the number four race only to give way to Jennie Kalmuck in the eighth with the Baron going consistently well both for a third and a second, while in the third race P. E. I. Budlong upset the applicant for a win over a strong field only to place fourth in the seventh. Dorothy Won't Tell, owned and driven by Layton Pettigrew of Springhill, N.S., won the seventh with Miss Commando placing second on both occasions.

In the two single events on the card, Chocolate Dip, owned by Lee O'Brien and driven by Claude O'Brien, captured the opening event on the card while in the second race Hardroad Bill, with owner Harold Stead at the reins, came under the wire a winner with Ramona Peters and Little Millie hard on his heels in that order.
