

Keen Rivalry In Red Cross Drive

Realizing that there is a great need for funds to carry on the many worthwhile activities of the Canadian Red Cross Society in this province, Division No. 11, under the energetic leadership of Dr. R. H. Barrett, is entering wholeheartedly into the spirit of the Campaign.

They have gone through the prospect cards given them, culled out those who are no longer residents of the city and added many new names in order to make their list top notch. They are fully convinced that if a job is worth doing it is worth doing right and they are determined to make each card mean money for the Campaign.

Division No. 2, with Lt. John Richards in command was the first to have all its teams lined up and cards sorted out ready to have the quotas made up.

It will easily be seen that there is going to be great rivalry to see which of the seven Divisions will come out on top and bring in the highest percentage of returns.

MONTREAL POLICE

Des Neiges Road last December. Jackson and his wife had lived in their basement apartment on Lincoln Avenue since Feb. 11, a dingy room compared with Suchan's plush quarters.

Jackson paid a rental of $12 a week; Suchan $145 a month.

Police believe that Boyd is still in Montreal was borne out by the way every report and rumor was run down.

Only a few hours after Jackson surrendered a telephone tip came that Boyd was believed to be at the home of a girl friend in Ville Jacques Cartier, across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal proper.

Police surrounded the house. They found only the girl. She is reported to have said she hadn't seen him for several weeks. She told them to try a Hotel at LaPrairie, 15 miles west.

Police searched every room of the hotel, and stories were told there that a man who looked like Boyd had been there earlier.

The police order that went out after Suchan's capture still stands: Shoot to kill.

"Boyd will never get out of this city alive," said Assistant Police Director Wilfrid Bourdon.

Bourdon anticipated a third gun battle. Both Suchan and Jackson had almost limitless supplies of guns and ammunition.

WILL DIRECT

He served his soldiering apprenticeship on the northwest frontier, and fought in Africa during the First World War.

He moved steadily up and in 1933 was assistant secretary to the committee of Imperial defence.

For his work as Chief-of-Staff, he was once described as the "man with the oilcan," who made the wheels of war turn smoothly.

When his defence job ended in 1946 he hoped to settle down with his wife and three daughters, but three weeks later he was called to advise Lord Louis Mountbatten in his task as last Viceroy of India before the sub-continent became independent.

When that job was finished, he retired to private life, only to be recalled to take a portfolio in the Conservative Government last October.

Warns British Trade Policy Making Canada Dependent On The U.S.

LONDON, March 12 — (Reuters) — Eric Johnson, Conservative member of Parliament, told the House of Commons tonight Britain's attempt to keep Anglo-Canadian trade at a low level would "only drive Canada into the arms of the United States."

Johnson, a cattle rancher in British Columbia from 1923 to 1930, was speaking in debate on the budget.

He urged Britain to concentrate on producing the sterling area goods for which it is best suited. It then could sell them for dollars which in turn could be used to buy Canadian products.

Canada would be more than able to buy bigger quantities of bananas from the British Honduras, he said. The resulting dollar beef "which as everyone knows, is second to none."

Canada would gladly buy many other commodities produced in the Commonwealth sterling area, he said. He urged some preferential treatment in the allocation of raw materials for Anglo-Canadian trade.

No Progress In Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, March 13 — (Thursday) — (AP) — The Communists changed their tune at the adult truce talks Wednesday, apparently because of stern Allied warnings against further threats. But there still was no progress.

The sessions deadlocked on truce supervision and exchange of prisoners were scheduled at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. EST Wednesday).

In contrast to tirades of several days ago, the Reds Wednesday suggested mildly that neutral truce inspectors—including Russia—be permitted to examine secret military equipment.

The United Nations Command rejected the proposal on the grounds that it "amounted to a forced gathering of military intelligence."

The Allies want inspection of replacement equipment only. Regarding Russia as one of the neutral inspectors, the Allies previously said no—finally and irrevocably.

In an adjoining tent, Allied truce delegates told the Reds again they could not accept the vaguely-worded Communist proposal of March 5 to exchange prisoners on the basis of lists already traded.

Rear-Admiral R.E. Libby, U.N. Command delegate, said the Allies still insist on voluntary repatriation of prisoners—a point the Reds have said they would "reject forever if necessary."

But throughout both meetings Wednesday there was a marked change in the Communist attitude. Libby had told them Monday the Allies no longer would listen to threats and intimidation. The Reds had loudly threatened to carry the issues "beyond the scope of the Korean question."

Empress Ship Is Sold For Scrap

LONDON, March 12 — (AP) — The Canadian Pacific Steamship Company today sold the 21,833-ton Empress of Australia to be broken up for scrap.

The 38-year-old liner and troopship was bought by the State Iron and Steel Corporation. Purchase price was not disclosed.

The Empress of Australia was built by the Germans but she was held in Britain by the First World War naval blockade. Her last voyage will end May 1, when she is due to arrive in Liverpool with George VI and Queen Elizabeth on a state visit to Canada.

The Empress was seen frequently in Halifax Harbor as a trooper in the last war.
