

Game Deadlocked At 2-all When Halted By Rainfall

The weather is playing havoc with the ball playoffs on the Island. Yesterday afternoon a previous postponed game between Mount Stewart Juniors and Charlottetown Legionaires got underway at Memorial Field under sunny skies.

Shortly later the clouds started to close in and in the bottom of the eighth a downpour halted the game. The score at that time was knotted 2-2.

The game was scoreless till the ninth inning when each team scored a run. LeClair came in for the Legionaires and Pigott for Mount Stewart. Louis MacGuire scored the other run for Mt. Stewart.

Going into the bottom of the ninth Mount Stewart was leading 2-1. Wayne MacDonald, first up for the Legionaires, hit a single to right field, and got all the way to the third on a fumble by the fielder. Next man up, Anselm, was hit by a pitched ball and went to first. LeClair stepped into the batter's box and hit an infield single to drive MacDonald in and even the score. This left a man on first and one on second with none out.

Umpire Charlie Ryan halted the game seconds later. MacGuigan was at bat at the time.

The Mount Stewart lads were a going concern yesterday and their fielding was praiseworthy. Art Coffin, their moundsman gave up only five hits, and walked two. He sent none down via the strike-out route. The team committed five miscues.

The Legionaires, on the other hand, committed five errors. Roger MacLeod, the Legionaire moundsman, was tagged for eight hits, struck out eleven and walked none. His by both teams were all singles.

Harry Callaghan, first baseman for the Legionaires, injured his right knee early in the game, as he came sliding into third. He was taken to the hospital and at time of writing it was not known how serious the injury was.

Jack Kane, shortstop for the local team, was thrown out of the game for abusing the umpire.

This game is a turnaround from the first one of the series. In the opener the Legionaires downed the Mount Stewart Juniors 7-4, but this time the Mt. Stewart squad are putting up a terrific battle.

Legion Wins 2nd Game Of Finals

SUMMERSIDE — The Summerside Legion made it two straight in their best of five series with Cape Traverse for the championship of the Prince County Softball League at Summerside last night, defeating the cape boys by the score of 6-3.

A big third inning when the Legionaires scored seven runs proved the undoing of Cape Traverse. The winners bunched five runs including home runs by Bill Hall and Henry Gallant, and a damaging error at short to reap their harvest of tallies.

Wendell MacFadyen relieved Ray Barrett at this stage, sent eight consecutive men back to the bench before Henry Gallant got a hit in 3-2-3 innings, but the damage was done.

Cape Traverse touched Bill Hall for six hits and the Legion took the number off the two Cape batters.

Wes Campbell led the Cape batters with two hits including a double in four tries. Joe Bernard hit 2 for 3 for the Legion.

The best fielding plays were two nice shoe-string catches by Shelly Gardner in centerfield on two consecutive batters, and a smart running catch by Ralph Champion in left field for Legion.

Gord Sullivan was officiating behind the plate and Dick Crozier took charge of the bases. The next game in the series played at Queen Elizabeth Park on Monday evening.

MOUNT STEWART JUNIORS threw the surprise of the year at Memorial Field yesterday afternoon when they held Charlottetown Legionaires to a 2-2 tie in the second game of the Island Junior baseball finals.

Legionaires had won the opener at Mount Stewart last Saturday 7-4 and were heavy favourites to close out the series here yesterday afternoon. But the boys from the east came, and almost completely, leading the Charlottetown lads 2-1 entering the eighth.

Rain was falling fairly briskly and had not the Legionaires met with a tally in that eighth frame, the series would be all tied up today. As it is the Legionaires are still leading the series 1-0 and a Prince Edward Island winner is far from being decided.

MOUNT STEWART played smart ball yesterday and certainly were deserving of at least a tie. They refused to let Memorial Field bother them and went out there and performed as though they had been using the diamond all season. They had to face Roger MacLeod but even that didn't disturb them a bit. They were doing a great job of silencing the Legionaires. These boys from Mount Stewart brought a great crowd of supporters with them and the brand of ball the easterners dished out was a delight to these loyal and ardent fans.

WHAT HAPPENS NOW? Well when this column was written, we didn't know. When the second game was played we don't know and should Mount Stewart win that second, when will come the third. Meanwhile Saint John, the New Brunswick winner is all set to play the Island winner here this Sunday.

It surely doesn't leave much time.

WILLIS HENNESSEY, the fiery little manager of Rollaway Aces of the City Softball League, didn't stop his masterminding when his Aces bowed out of the softball picture. Willis is now handling the Rollie's Arrows, an intermediate baseball team, that has drawn a bye against the Grand River-Peakes winner in the Prince Edward Island intermediate final.

Willis has a lot of likely looking ball players on his team and they should give the Kings-Prince winner plenty of opposition. They are having their troubles finding a place to practice, with Softball and Junior ball going on both diamonds. However, with softball out of the picture next week, Willis may break in a session or two before being called upon to meet either Peakes or Grand River.

It's guys like Hennessey that keep sports moving around this city.

FATHER CLARENCE ROCHE has a junior softball league going on the Knights of Columbus diamond and spectators have been surprised at the brand of ball these boys are playing. There's some likely looking prospects among these lads and one of the softball managers of this season (he was eliminated in the semi-finals) was seen carefully watching the action the other evening. He surely looked like he was on a scouting expedition and if he was, we couldn't think of a better place to go.

Father Roche has had great success with his youth movement in sports. The Junior B.Y.C. who finished this year in second place in the standings in the City Softball League were products of this junior loop. When they sought permission first in the City League circles, they had to do a lot of convincing for the officials that they would be strong enough.

It didn't take them long to prove their point.

We wouldn't be at all surprised to come next spring to find Father Roche looking for a berth for a team from his junior league in the City Softball League. If that happens, he shouldn't have much trouble convincing the league moguls as to the capabilities of his lads.

BILL VIRDON is just a so-so hitter to most pitchers in the National League, but he is another Stan Musial as far as Carl Willey is concerned.

In three games with the Pirates this season, the young Milwaukee moundsman has yielded only two runs—two homers needed by Mr. Virdon. And one of those homers was a needed pin a 1-0 defeat on Willey recently in a tennising thriller.

THE BOY WHO BEAT Willey in that tense struggle was George Red Witt and it has become a habit of George's, this picking on the world champions. The last time he saw Milwaukee he hung a shutout on them. That's really rubbing it in. "Imagine a pitcher with only two pitches stopping us cold," commented a prominent member of the Braves' artillery. But Witt didn't have to be imagined. The Braves were virtually helpless against the twist and turn antics of a corkscrew sort of operator who occasionally tosses in a curve to make his fast ball more effective.

WITT'S BOSS, Danny Murtaugh, naturally is plenty high on George. Danny, who is almost certainly headed for the manager-of-the-year award has this to say about Mr. Witt. "You can't say he doesn't have a good fast ball—and who do you know can do that without a pretty good fast ball? Not a real hummer, perhaps, but a pretty good fast ball."

PITTSBURGH FANS honored Frank Thomas the other night at the Smokey City.

Frank, a hometown boy, was given one of the bigger nights and received a new automobile, refrigerator, and many other gifts. The Pirate fans really love their slugger third baseman who grew up in the shadows of Forbes Field.

By the way, the Pittsburgh attendance figure is well over a million mark, a tribute to the Bucs who seemed destined to finish runners-up to the pennant-winning Milwaukee Braves.

LONG-LIVED Eagles and falcons may live for 100 years, and parrots and swans for perhaps 80 years.

Mt. Stewart Wins Kings County Midget Baseball Title

The King's County Midget Baseball League came to a successful conclusion with the youthful Mt. Stewart team, ably coached by Ernie Crane, defeating Morell's Nine coached by Louis McGuire by a score of 9 to 5.

This gives Mt. Stewart possession of the beautiful trophy donated by the Bike Shop. This trophy is the gift of Mr. Arthur Burns who has always shown a very keen interest in all sports, but who has a warm spot in his heart for the youngsters. The officials of the League wish to thank him and say how much they appreciate his gesture. This trophy will be played for each year, and will be the proud possession of the team who wins it three times.

This league was composed of teams from Mt. Stewart, Peakes, Georgetown, Morell, St. Peters and Souris. The fight for playoff position was close and exciting.

It was necessary to have playoff games for first and fourth places. In the semi-finals Mount Stewart put St. Peter's out of the running while Morell defeated Peakes.

Although all the players are not of Midget age, it was decided at the organization meeting that everyone should have a chance to play ball, and as a result 18 years old were permitted to play. The officials felt that this would lay the ground work for better intermediate baseball in the future.

The parents and many friends of the teams were great supporters and turned out in the hundreds to cheer on their favorites.

A King's County Midget night will be held in Morell later on to which all the players, coaches and friends will be invited. At this time the trophy will be presented to the winners by Mr. Burns.

Bob Bedard One Of Last Canucks Surviving In Tourney

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP) — Play advanced to the final stages of the international tennis tournament Thursday night and it was tough to find a Canadian listed among these present. Just about every racquet wielding homebrew in this week-long championship has been eliminated.

The women's singles got down to the semi-finals and the lineup showed an American, two Australians and a hard-hitting blonde English woman the only survivors. Two semi-final plays have been allotted in the men's singles and they are occupied by red-haired Billy Knight of England and smooth-stroking Luis Ayala of Chile.

Only one upset was recorded in Thursday's play and the heroine of the piece was 40-year-old Thelma Long. The blonde Aussie upset Brazil's Maria Bueno 7-5, 6-0 to join England's Anne Haddon, Dorothy Knode of New York and Lorraine Coghlan of Australia in the semi-final bracket.

Mrs. Knode, seeded No. 1 in the tournament, took a wild ride Sunday afternoon with finals in all divisions, defeated Marta Hernandez of Mexico 6-2, 6-2 and Miss Coghlan brushed aside Sharon Caldwell from Toronto, 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Haydon defeated Australia's Mary Hawton 6-2, 6-1. The men's singles went as expected. Knight, a 23-year-old southpaw, defeated 45-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-3 over Ayala followed up a hard-fought first-set 6-4 victory over Mike Davies of Wales with an easy 6-1 triumph.

Dick Savitt of East Orange, N.J., 31-year-old veteran of Davis Cup and international tennis, easily whipped Toronto's Don Fontana 6-1, 6-2 in a second-round match. Savitt now will meet Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., the country's top-flight player in the quarter-finals.

Reserve Decision On Action Taken By Warriors

WINNIPEG (CP) — Decision was reserved Wednesday on a $137,000 action taken by Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League against Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

Warriors claimed $125,000 damages and asked repayment of $12,621 by the National Hockey League two clubs on the ground they did not live up to an agreement to provide Winnipeg with players of Western Hockey League calibre during the 1956-57 season.

Leafs and Canadiens each made counter-claims for $25,000 against the Warriors but they were dropped yesterday.

Queen's Horse Pulls Off An Upset Victory

DONCASTER, England (AP) — Agreement, owned by the Queen Thursday pulled off an upset victory in the Doncaster Cup in a close finish with another royal horse, Almeria.

Agreement, 25-1 longshot, took over the lead from the favored Almeria a quarter of a mile from the finish and held on to win by a neck in the 2 1/4-mile. Brioche was two lengths behind Almeria in third place.

Almeria and unplaced Hornbeam were joint favorites at 5-2. Agreement is a four-year-old chestnut gelding by Persian Gulf out of Northern Hope.

Exports Up Again

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian exports in July were valued at $413,400,000, down from $438,900,000 a year ago, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday. The decline reflected shipments to the United States, Latin America and other non-Commonwealth countries. These were somewhat offset by moderately higher exports to the United Kingdom and other Commonwealth countries.

White Sox Sweep Series; Athletics Wallop Orioles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Ted Williams, the veteran hitting star of Boston Red Sox, tied his teammate, Pete Runnels, for the American League batting lead by coming up with two hits in four tries Thursday in one of the three daytime games played in the majors.

Williams drove in the only Boston run as the Beantowners lost 4-1 to second-place Chicago.

Washington Senators edged Detroit Tigers 7-6 and Kansas City clobbered Baltimore 7-1. New York and Cleveland were not scheduled Thursday.

WHITE SOX SOLID IN 2ND
The White Sox, having swept their series with the Red Sox, now have a 3 1/2-game lead over their erstwhile challengers for second place. The victory went to Dick Donovan, with help from Turk Lown. Ike Delock, the loser was hammered for four runs in the fifth inning.

Williams and Runnels are tied at .320, the latter managing one safety in three tries against Donovan.

At Detroit, the Tigers rallied in the ninth inning for three runs but Truman Clevenger finally got the side out and preserved the victory for John Romonosky, who had taken over from starter Camilo Pascual in the third. Romonosky retired the first 17 batters he faced, before the Tigers got to him.

Four of Washington's seven runs were unearned as Tigers committed three errors.

GARVER STEADY
At Kansas City, Ned Garver threw a four-hitter at the Orioles.

The Athletics ganged up on Baltimore southpaw Billy O'Dell for five runs in the eighth inning, topped off by Bob Cerv's 33rd home run, which drove in three tallies.

The victory for Cerv was his 12th, against 10 losses. O'Dell now is 14-14.

The loss dropped Baltimore into sixth place, where they are a half-game ahead of the Athletics.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies jumped on Los Angeles veteran Johnny Podres in the eighth inning and collected three runs for a 4-3 victory over the Dodgers Thursday night.

Podres gave up nine hits in the first seven innings but the Phils scored only one run. Then Wally Pate singled in the eighth, Frank Herrera got on base after Podres hit him with a pitched ball, and both advanced on a wild pitch. Chico Fernandez singled both of them home, and that was all for Podres. Dave Philley batted for catcher Jim Coker, Fernandez stole second, and came home on Philley's single to left. Philley was out on a try for second.

Believer Dick Farrell got credit for the win.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Extension Of Season Came As Bolt From The Blue

The announcement of the extension of the trout fishing season to September 30th has awakened a feeling of disquietude in the breasts of a large number of ardent fishermen. To most of them the announcement came as a bolt from the blue although they were aware that members of the Fish and Game Association had advocated such a move. The announcement in the Press contained the following paragraph:

"For many years now local anglers were obliged to lay away their rods on September 15th. Facing two weeks to the regular season was advocated this year by all five branches of the Island Association." Someone is slightly off the beam in this assertion for a few days before the extension of season was announced I read in the local Press that a vote by the Southern Kings Branch on this resolution resulted in a tie.

HEAVY WITH SPAWN
Several personal friends of mine who are ardent trout fishermen have reported taking trout heavy with spawn as early as Labor Day September 1st, and announced that they were through for the season with trout and were now taking up the sport of salt water smelt fishing. Two of who were fishing on Monday evening called to see me on their return and showed me a female trout in the 3/4 pound class. There was a rosette of spawn around the edge of the vent and they were of the opinion that this trout has already spawned. I explained this particular trout hadn't spawned but was in the process of "breaking down" in readiness for spawning.

When I opened the trout I showed by friends that the eggs, although in process of development, would not be ready until sometime in October. By the time they would be as large as cooked tapioca and in a milky state, 90 per cent of the trout caught that evening were released and only a few that had the appearance of male were creoled.

Incidentally the trout in question, including this specific female, were cleaned promptly and placed in the chilling department of the fridge. They were firm and flavourable when dished up on a platter the next morning.

CLEANED PROPERLY
Trout caught in September, with special reference to those taken in fresh water, have to be cleaned promptly. If left in the creel for the best part of a day the foregone conclusion that some will have to be thrown away. Another angler reported to me that he caught a nice string of trout Labour Day in the stream below Walker's Dam and the marsh at Head of Hillsboro. That evening when he removed them from the creel a number of the female trout had become so soft and smelly that they were unfit for human consumption.

What will be the condition of trout during the last week of September? It is this columnist's opinion that the bulk of some catches will be discarded. Female trout, when the spawning urge is upon them, develop an unnatural appetite and lose the caution so natural to trout. I had an experience fifteen or sixteen years ago with trout in a spawning mood that I have never forgotten..... it opened my eyes wide. At the close of the trout season that year (Sept 15th) the Federal Fisheries Department blocked off the Big Brook above Grove Pine Bridge with fine wire mesh. The purpose was to hold up the spawning run of trout until they were ripe and then milk them and later incubate the eggs in the Hatchery at Southport.

MANY BIG ONES
A shelter was built close by and a local resident, the late Wellington Keefe, was appointed to stand guard both night and day to see that no poaching took place. It dropped in the end of September and the pool below the bridge held so many big trout one could almost walk on

N.B. Considers Open Moose Hunting Season

FREDERICTON (CP) — Lands Minister Norman B. Buchanan said Thursday an open moose hunting season for New Brunswick is under consideration. New Brunswick's last open moose season was in 1937.

The minister said an announcement would be made before Oct. 1. The statement followed release of a report by director Bruce S. Wright of the International Wildlife Management Institute's northeastern station here on the moose population.

The report recommended an open season on most of the province's southern counties, especially St. John and Albert along the Bay of Fundy coast, where the population is heaviest.

The report recommended the season be not longer than 14 days between Oct. 20 and Nov. 20.
