

ELLEN'S DIARY

May Sunshine Cresses Each Leaf And Flower

Warmer they come now—the days. The wind is balmer that stirs the trees, and the sunbeams are dancing across the meadow...

It's—Was that a swallow? No, for a second I thought it was one of the many that are flying about in the air...

The afternoon away went the minutes to "the other farm" past Rob's, and the fence, where the ewes and the goats were gathered...

"And kittens" we laughed, "and a hantam getting broody!" "You may laugh, Ellen," he said, "but it's the stock that counts in the farm."

Alex was our assistant when we planned hollyhocks before noon. He is a willing hand, and he was deeply interested in our work.

"Supposing" he reflected, and together we formed the earth about their roots, "there were no hollyhocks, no flowers of any kind, there'd be no house-plant there!"

Mr. Henry Bahler presided over the meeting of the Ladies' Circle and Guild of the Summer-bridge Presbyterian Church on Friday, May 25.

It would not be a very nice world without honey in it, would it? he thought, he either laughs it off or ignores it completely. Life at home is a constant nightmare.

MARY HAWORTH

Woman Is Emotionally Beaten Down By Spouse

Dear Mary Haworth: I was born in Germany and moved with my parents to the West Coast, where I became a citizen.

He never makes plans for weekends, for vacations, etc., and usually comes home in a bad humor. I cannot talk with him as he says all mothers have the same difficulties as I.

Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Jelly returned to their home in Summerville, Thursday evening after a four months vacation most of which was spent in Louisiana and Florida.

His failure either to lead or to join us in plans for weekends, for vacations, etc., and usually comes home in a bad humor. I cannot talk with him as he says all mothers have the same difficulties as I.

Members of the Women's Missionary Society conducted the worship service at St. John's Presbyterian Church, New London, on Sunday morning, May 13.

It is a common thing to find a woman who is emotionally beaten down by her spouse. She is often in a state of constant nervousness and anxiety.

At Holy Redeemer Church

The Church of the Most Holy Redeemer was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, May 23.

Mr. Alex MacLean was in charge of the wedding music. The double tiered ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Lorne MacDonald, O.M., Ottawa.

The welfare committee reported two boxes delivered to needy families and another ready to go, also that 190 quilts had been received.

John A. MacDonald was the groomsmen and the sisters were the bridesmaids. The ceremony was held at the Charlottetown Hotel.

It was announced that the 1944 annual convention will be held in the Charlottetown Hotel on June 9 and 10.

NEW DEMOCRATS SPEAK Leo Melsaas, Queens

Within the next few weeks of this election campaign both old parties—Liberals and Conservatives—being aware of the growing support the New Democrats are receiving in this Province.

Prior to 1944 the political scene in Saskatchewan had been dominated by the Liberal Party, which had reigned from 1906 to 1929 and from 1934 to 1944.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH: Let us look at some of the accomplishments that Douglas has brought about during his period of power. You then will be able to see the fallacy of the statements those who claim Saskatchewan has a "stagnant" economy.

Read this column for more about the Douglas achievement in Saskatchewan. This ad, inserted by the P. E. I. New Democratic Party.
