Federation Meeting At O'Leary

PC Farmers Back Many Resolutions

—The annual meeting of the Prince County Federation of Agriculture at O'Leary yesterday, in addition to resolutions dealt with at meetings in other countries, gave approval to seven others submitted at the meeting, covering unemployment insurance for farm employees; benefits for retired farm laborers; publication of market prices; lowering of electrification requirements to three houses per mile; setting definite standards for manufacturers; increase in and enforcement of dog tax collections; and appointment of a field man to promote membership in the Federation of Agriculture.

Of eleven others dealt with and previously reported, two which had to do with uniform time, and potato board members, came in for considerable discussion before being approved by the meeting.

The resolution dealing with the Uniformity of Time Act was amended so as to request the government to enforce Standard Time.

Speakers on this matter expressed the opinion that it was up to business concerns to decide their opening of closing hours, but were of strong opinion that Standard Time should be uniform throughout the Province.

The resolution requesting the Exerutive Council to amend the Potato Marketing Act so as to have the Potato Marketing Board composed entirely of producers also received the unanimous support of the meeting, with several speakers expressing the opinion that as all groups had a right to an organization of their own, so the producers had a right to a potato board composed of producers.

OFFICERS ELECTED

In the election of officers Mr. John Wallace, of Alma, was re-elected president of the Prince County section of the Federation; Keith Harrington, Spring Valley, 1st vice president; Raeford Locke, O'Leary, 2nd vice president; and Cyrus Poirier, Linkletter Road, was re-elected secretary.

Representatives elected to the provincial board were: Eric Madson, Sherbrooke; John P. Wallace, Alma; and Mrs. Bernetta Brown, Grand River.

New directors elected for the five districts of Prince County are: Gregory McInnis, Tignish; Edwin Hanson, Tyne Valley; C. M. Arsenault, Abram's Village; Louis Mulligan, Kinkora; and Mrs. Frank Townsend, Sherbrooke.

Other members on the board of directors are: Mrs. Robert Woodside, O'Leary; Mrs. Harold Morrison, Hebron; Arnold Henderson, Albany; Mrs. Kenneth Muttart, Albany; John C. Poirier, Miscouche.

The resoultions committee was composed of Harry Linkletter, Ray Handrahan, and Kenneth MacLean.

In his report of the meeting on group accident insurance available to members of the Federation Mr. J. L. Dewar, secretary of the Provincial Federation of Agriculture noted a decline of 99 in the number who are insured under the scheme this year. Figures for last year showed there were 425 in Prince County; 194 in Queens; and 177 in King's County. This year there are 402 in Prince; 164 in Queen's and 131 in King's County who have taken out this insurance protection.

He said that the company had honored every claim and had paid up to $400 on individual claims in this Province last year. He warned that if the program is to be kept in effect in the future it will have to be better supported in terms of an increased number of farmers taking advantage of this form of insurance.

Mr. Roland MacDonald, president of the P.E.I. Federation while dealing mainly with aspects of the dairy industry invited the potato producers to work within the Federation as a commodity group, and pointed out that their recommendations would be included in the suggestions made by the Federation to the Provincial Legislature.

"The government will recognize that kind of a group. I know, because I made it my business to find out before I spoke about it," he said.

Referring to confusion resulting from a recent request of the Dairymen's Council of Canada to have the Government lower the support price of butter, he explained that the Dairyman's Association of Canada is strictly an organization of processors who buy the commodity from the producers. He urged the continuation of the present subsidy on butter as a means of stabilizing the dairy industry, and expressed the belief that if the subsidy were removed it would not be economically feasible for dairy farmers to continue present production which would result in a shortage and lead to greatly increased cost of butter to the consumer.

Mr. Donald A. MacDonald took part in the discussion at this point and said that twenty years ago the National Dairy Council was the organization of the dairy industry of Canada. The producers later withdrew and formed the Dairy Farmers of Canada, leaving the other as a processors organization. This leaves the erroronerous impression that the National Dairy Council, which is just a group of business men who represent manufacturers and processors, are representing the producers which in actual fact have their own organization which is the Dairy Farmers of Canada.

Referring to the increasing burden of school taxes borne by the farmers, Mr. Roland MacDonald said he thought that a more equitable system would have to be found, which might, he suggested, be based on the ability to pay. He referred to the tendency of persons working in towns and cities to build homes in nearby rural districts so as to avoid higher municipal taxes. This, he said, resulted in rural districts requiring increased school facilities and teaching staff at still greater tax cost to the farmer based on land evaluation.

Mr. Keith Clay, agricultural representative for Prince County, spoke to the meeting on the value of ensilage and methods of proper storage. He announced that a new office would be opened in Summerside on April first, and invited farmers to take advantage of the services provided through this office.

Speaking on matters relating to the potato industry, Donald A. MacDonald, chairman of the Potato Marketing Board said that the December estimates were to be announced in Washington last night and would be published in today's issue of the Guardian. He said that despite reduction in estimated crop yield in both Canada and United States the shipment from Maine is still the lighest in years. Movement from N. B. and P. E. I. is about 2,000 cars behind the shipments at this time last year. From this province the figure is less than 50 percent of what it was this time one year ago. He referred to the steadily increasing price that prevailed until the day of the last potato plebiscite when price cutting by dealers began a trend that has skidded the price from $2.30 in Toronto to as low as $2.00 per 75 pound bag. He referred to a news letter received this week which reported the market dull and strongly advised shippers against sending potatoes on consignment. What happened previous to the plebiscite indicates what can be done when shippers work together to maintain prices, he said.

Time alone will tell whether those who voted against the board did a wise thing, said Mr. MacDonald, and added that it seemed unfortunate that the board was not allowed to continue its overall program for one more year.

The board will continue in advertising, promotion, and disease control work, he said, and will keep growers informed of the actual market prices in the various market centers, and will show the price the producers should be getting.

A similar licensing system as in the past two years will be continued and enforced after December 15th, and he asked shippers to obtain their licenses in accordance with the board orders.

Let's Talk It Over

It is gratifying, if a little surprising, to hear that the Dominion Government in conjunction with Provincial Governments, is planing to attack this problem of unemployment, seasonable and otherwise. It is difficult to understand why the government seemed so complacent about this unemployment situation for so many years. Doubtless it caused many people to conclude that unemployment was one of these inevitable things like death and taxes. Possibly it is because the government was always on the defensive, and had to make the picture as bright as possible that we kept hearing that unemployment was not really serious, a mere four or five hundred thousand out of work, and the condition was bound to improve in the near future, etc., etc.

* * *

There are not many things that hit harder at the dignity and peace of mind of man than unemployment. If its blighting influence touches a young man in early life, it can transform him from a fairly ambitious youth to a disillusioned young man content to coast along and turn the other cheek to the slaps of adverse fortune. It does not alter the situation to say that young men with enough ambition and initiative need not go unemployed. Unless we have dreams of a "master race" in the German tradition, we cannot forget that mediocrity, too, must be served. The real test of a government's worth is the number of layers of society the light of its constitution can shine through. If the governments really come to grips with the unemployment scourge, we feel they will work out a plan that will greatly relieve, if not do away with, this slipping cog in the democratic wheel of progress.

Krisko - MacCormack Wedding in Toronto

Baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums decorated St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, Toronto on Saturday, November 27, 1954, for the marriage of Miss Helena M. MacCormack, daughter of the late Joseph D. MacCormack and Mrs. Dorothy MacCormack MacPherson, Launching, P. E. I., to Mr. Thomas J. Krisko of Toronto, Ontario. Rev. Father Flatt conducted the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Bernard Shepherd, wore a gown of white nylon net and lace over layers of white satin, with a nylon net bolero and bouffant waltz-length skirt. Her finger-tip veil of net and lace was caught to a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of red roses on a white prayer book.

The maid of honour, Miss Georgina MacCormack, sister of the bride, chose a gown of petal blue French lace over taffeta with a bouffant skirt and matching headdress, and carried a colonial nosegay of pink carnations.

Mr. Heath Shepherd was best man.

A reception followed at Fantasy Farm's Toronto, where Miss Marion Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Cheverie represented the parents from P. E. I., who were unable to attend.

The young couple left on a motor trip through the States.

S'side High Notes

By Betty Enman

"The Magpie", the little magazine published by the commercial class twice yearly, is expected to be "off the press" some time nert week, or the week after at the latest. "The Magpie" is the work of the pupils of the school as a whole, and received contributions from every grade from I to XII. Poems, stories, articles on school life and other interesting topics, letters, drawings, etc. make up the paper which received "second class" rating in North American competition last year. Efforts are being made to improve on this standing this year. Congratulations are due to Lorna Lawson, the editor, and all her efficient helpers.

The Red Cross Council of the High School has started a project to help the Inkinsmen help the needy of Summerside at Christmas. Boxes have been placed in all the rooms of the High School and pupils are urged to bring along toys, articles of clothing, candy or other things that will help some children to have a happy yuletide.

Some of the Summerside High School girls have taken up the game of volleyball, and go out to the RCAF recreation centre once a week to play this popular game. They are very thankful to Miss Mary Thompson of the W. D.'s for the help she has given. They also wish to thank the RCAF management for permitting them to use the hall.

The magazine selling campaign to put in a new water fountain in the new part of the high school has not been as successful this year as last, up to this point, but the council are continuing their efforts, and hope that it may yet be a success.

Margaret Joan Carruthers had the high single (220) in the High School bowling this week, and Mary Shaw was tops with a three of 492. Ken MacLeod copped the men's high single with 265 and also the high three of 590. Team results were as follows: Summerside Co-Op 2753 (3 points) Imperial Esso (Read's Corner) 2678 (1 point). Amalgamated Dairies 2372 (3 points), Mutt's Guys and Gals 2206 (1 point), Edwin Heckbert's Studio 2534 (4 points), Vic's Fish & Chips 2433 (0 points) Jenkins Groceteria 2516 (3 points) C. J.R.W. 2357 (1 point).

Naval Wedding Friday At S'side Anglican Church

—St. Mary's Anglican Church, Summerside, was the scene of a naval wedding of interest on Friday December 10 at 2.00 o'clock, when Archdeacon G. R. Harrison united in marriage Helen Bradshaw Holman, and Lieutenant Allan Francis Morris, son of Mrs. Morris and the late James Ramsay Morris, Q.C., of Lemington, Ontario.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle the Honorable Thane A. Campbell, while the organist Mrs. Creelman MacArthur played the Bach Chorale "Sleepers Awake." During the signing of the register, Miss Mary Windsor rendered two delightful violin solos 'Meditation" from Thais, by Massanet, and "A Prayer" by Schubert. For the Recessional Mrs. MacArthur played the "Cornelius March" by Mendelssohn.

The bride wore a model gown of white satin fashioned with a portrait neckline encrusted with seed pearls. The dress had a fitted bodice, long tight sleeves with pearl trimmed points over the hands and a bouffant skirt which fell into a chapel length train. She wore a finger tip veil of French tulle illusion, which fell from a crown of white satin embroidered in seed pearls and carried a bouquet of white orchids and bouvardia.

Attending the bride were her cousin, Mrs. Gordon Kinsman, as matron of honor and Miss Mary Ann Lohnes, as bridesmaid. Their floor length gowns, of aquamarine blue crystalette, were fashioned with low, wide necklines, fitted bodice and three quarter sleeves. They wore matching aquamarine caps of velvet leaves and short, white kip gloves trimmed with pearls. They carried Talisman roses arranged in nosegay formation. The two little flower girls, Susan and Ann Cameron, are nieces of the groom. Their floor length dresses were in the same shade as those of the matron of honor and the brides maid and were fashioned with small tailored collars, fitted bodices trimmed with tucking and had wide sashes forming a bow at the back.

Their bandeaus were of acquamarine velvet leaves. In their hands they carried tiny nosegays of white chrysanthemums, centered with a Talisman rose.

White chrysanthemums were used as decoration throughout the church and the guest pews were marked by small, white bells with silver gongs.

The groom was attended by Lieutenant Commander Alan Sterling as groomsman. The ushers were Lieutenant Alan Booth, Lieutenant Craig Balson, Lieutenant Ronald Hutchison and Mr. Melville Campbell. As the bride and groom left the church, a guard of honor was formed by the ushers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James Leroy Holman who wore a model gown of Lavender-grey, with a corsage of American Beauty roses. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake, surmounted by a cluster of silver bells. The floral arrangement was made up of white chrysanthemums and Talisman roses. Mrs. William E. Cotton, godmother of the bride, ushered the guests while friends of the bride assisted in serving. The bride's mother was attired in a gown of peacock blue with copper accessories.

Mrs. Morris, mother of the groom, wore a gown of chantilly lace with a full skirt of silk organza in mocca shade. Her sequinned hat was in jewelled tones.

The bride is a graduate of Edgehill School for Girls, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and received her A.R.C.T. diploma in piano from the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, where she was a pupil of Mr. Alberto Guerrere.

Lieutenant Morris attended St. Andrew's College, Toronto, and the Royal Canadian Naval College, Royal Roads, Victoria, B.C.

The bride's going away costume was a suit of kitten's ear cloth in a dark brown shade, with velvet trimming, over which she wore a mink coat. Her accessories were in a matching shade and she wore a single green orchid.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Morris sail today in the Saxonia for England, where the groom will take a torpedo and anti-submarine specialists course, with the Royal Navy, beginning in January at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, London, and continuing in H.M.S. Vernon, Portsmouth, Hampshire.

On arrival in England, Lieutenant and Mrs. Morris will proceed to Kitzbuehel, Austria, where the honeymoon will be spent.
