HOLMAN'S Summerside

Elmsdale and Vicinity

Mrs. Robert McKenna and little daughter Alene and Catherine spent the past week with relatives in Summerside.

Mr. Bennett & Kelly of the staff of the Recording Office, Summerside, spent the week-end in Elmsdale.

The many interested in the condition of Ivan Adams, little son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Adams, will be glad to hear of his improved health. A consultation and examination by his doctor in Charlottetown showed such an improvement that the cast which he has worn for some time was removed.

Our sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Mrs. Ne'son Waidron, formerly of Tyne Valley, whose funeral took place in Campbellton last week. She leaves to mourn besides her husband, her mother, Mrs. Douglas Reid and two brothers, Chester and Irving of Campbellton. A funeral service was conducted by Rev. W.A. Paterson, assisted by Rev. Mr. Elliott. Interment took place in Campbellton Cemetery.

During the electric storm of Monday last the large barn and newly-built granary of Mr. James Murray Dock Road was burned to the ground. Though the animals escaped, a large number of farm implements were burned.

Rev. W.A. Paterson and Mr. Frank Yeo motored to Seckville on Monday to attend the annual session of the Ministerial Conference. The purpose of the conference is the selecting of and appointing of ministers for various congregations.

Miss Annie O'Connor has returned to Elmsdale after paying a visit to her mother in Montreal.

SHARP PAINS SHOT THROUGH KNEES

Woman Suffered 10 Years

"Since coming here from England 10 years ago," writes a married woman, "I have suffered badly from rheumatic pains. I bought medicine, lotions, liniments, and have taken concoctions until I was tired spending my money. I heard of Kruschen Salts so often, that I thought one day I'd try that. By this time my knees were frequent full of terrible pains. I bought a bottle of Kruschen and took a teaspoonful every morning. It had no effect. But my husband said 'Persevere! Give it a chance to act.' Well, I did, and before long my knees were nearly normal. I kept on, and believe me I am not like the same woman. I walked four miles the other day and felt fine, whereas before I could hardly walk across the floor." (Mrs. E.A.)

What more need be said about the relief that Kruschen Salts can bring to sufferers from the pains and stiffness of rheumatism?

Mr. Wallace Thompson left Tuesday for Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haltzen of New York, accompanied by Mrs. Lou Hill motored to Elmsdale to visit Mrs. Haltzen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie. They plan to attend their Majesties' reception in Charlottetown.

Mr. Gordon MacLeod, son of Rev. Mr. MacLeod, Springfield is spending a few days in Elmsdale.

Mrs. Hazel Cameron and son Maxwell were visitors to Tignish on Sunday.

Miss Mary G. MacDonald, Supervisor of Women's Institute, Charlottetown, motored here on Monday to supervise the work done by the Elmsdale Girls' Sewing Club. The directors, Mrs. W. Paterson and Mrs. James Adams were also present. Miss MacDonald made some suitable suggestions regarding the work to be displayed on Achievement Day which is to be held during the first week of August.

Last Thursday the Boy Scouts were definitely organized into two patrols of eight boys each. The Scoutmasters appointed were, Rev. W.A. Paterson and Mr. James Currie. Patrol Leaders invested were Bruce Currie and Freddie Whelan, who chose as Scouts Ralph Forsythe and Lloyd Horne.

On Saturday evening the members of the Elmsdale Junior Red Cross Unit held an ice cream and cake festival at the store of Mr. A.L. Rennie. A small sum was realized sufficient to pay a bill owed.

Mr. Robert Weeks has been engaged as cheesemaker in Tignish Cheese factory. Mr. Weeks is well known here and his friends are looking forward to hearing the melodic tones which he so well brings forth from the strings of his violin.

Mr. A.R. Jones, Manager of the Maritime Egg Exchange, St. John, visited Mr. Basil MacNeill on Thursday last.

"Sleeping on Haversack," Britain Seeks Army and Air Force to Equal Her Navy

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Great Britain, which for centuries has been the strongest naval power in the world, is making Herculean efforts to become equally strong on land and in the air. To do this the government has adopted the biggest peacetime budget in the nation's history and imposed taxes that approximate those inflicted in wartime.

All this is Britain's notice to Germany and Italy that she is getting ready to fight to the death. It is her way of making true War Minister Fore-Belsh's saying that in these troubled times the nation must sleep on its haversack.

Admiral Mahan of the American navy wrote the classic work on the influence of sea power upon history. He maintained that sea power most of the time is decisive in wars. England believes this and acts upon it. Nothing in Europe is comparable to the British navy.

But Britain has not been satisfied with this surface preponderance. It has to consider the submarine menace which it also faced in the last war. Germany is reported to be building many "subs." It is true that British naval authorities claim to have better detectors of submarines than ever before and that, therefore, the menace from them is less.

The naval budget of Britain for 1939-40 is $750,000,000 and provides for about 600,000 tons of ships, including two battleships of 40,000 tons each, a new aircraft carrier, four cruisers, 16 destroyers, four submarines and 22 swift escort vessels, designed to fight submarines and protect merchant shipping.

And when they reach old England, A royal welcome, loud will ring throughout the Empire, as of yore, "God save our Gracious King."

Some day in after years, when they think of their trip to Canada, they will recall, "The most wonderful of all." —Darrell Guy MacQuarrie.

Costumes Worn By The Queen Find Favor

By MURIEL ADAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 13—Costumes Queen Elizabeth has displayed during the royal tour of the Dominion will find favor among Canadian women. They generally have been the kind of average young woman in this country might find in her own wardrobe.

There probably will be conflicting viewpoints about color, for the Queen wears pastel shades while Canadian women seem to prefer contrasting color combinations, but the royal gowns and coats have been simply designed, well cut and easy to copy.

Miss Canada likely will be content to admire rather than copy the Queen's picture gowns for the time being. There are few engagements on Canada's social calendar warranting such elaborate gowns as those worn by Her Majesty at official dinners on the tour.

These gowns may, however, invoke a new model for formal presentations or for debutante "coming out" parties.

Absence of long evening gloves was a welcome sign to women who attend formal functions. The only time the Queen wore long gloves with evening dress was for the royal assent ceremony in the Senate Chamber at Ottawa.

Pearls, furs and parasols all had their place in the royal wardrobe. And the Queen's use of these accessories may influence Canadian fashions.

Pearls probably will be worn more frequently since Her Majesty rarely was seen without two or three strings. While Canada's well-dressed women favor fur in jacket form or as a neckpiece, Queen Elizabeth used it to trim her cuffs and band her hem or in collar effect. She only occasionally wears a fur jacket.

The hot weather that greeted the party in the United States brought out the parasol and the umbrellas may come into its own again as a protection against the sun, although Canadian women smile favorably on sun hats.

Blues undoubtedly will flood the costume market because of the Queen's preference for that color and tones designated as "Queen's Blue" can be expected to cover a myriad of shades.

King And Queen Chat With The Mahaney Quads

(By Charles B. Lynch, Canadian Press Staff Writer)
SAINT JOHN, N. B., June 13—Four frightened children stood to day before their King and Queen, and were overwhelmed as their Sovereigns spoke to them.

About 20,000 looked on as the Mahaney quadruplets, three girls and a boy met Their Majesties. For a while during the ceremonies at the Barack Green here, it appeared that the 15-year-old "quads" would receive no attention.

But Mayor D. L. McLaughlin called the King's attention to John, standing on crutches with his broken left leg in a cast, and his three sisters.

The King and Queen walked over and spoke to them.

To John, who left the hospital only yesterday so that he might see the Royal couple, the King said: "How did you hurt your leg?" "Playing football," was the nervous reply.

"That's annoying," said His Majesty. The Queen, meanwhile, commented on pins which the three girls, May, Edna and Christine, were wearing.

More than 8,000 school children sang and yelled wildly during the half-hour ceremonies.

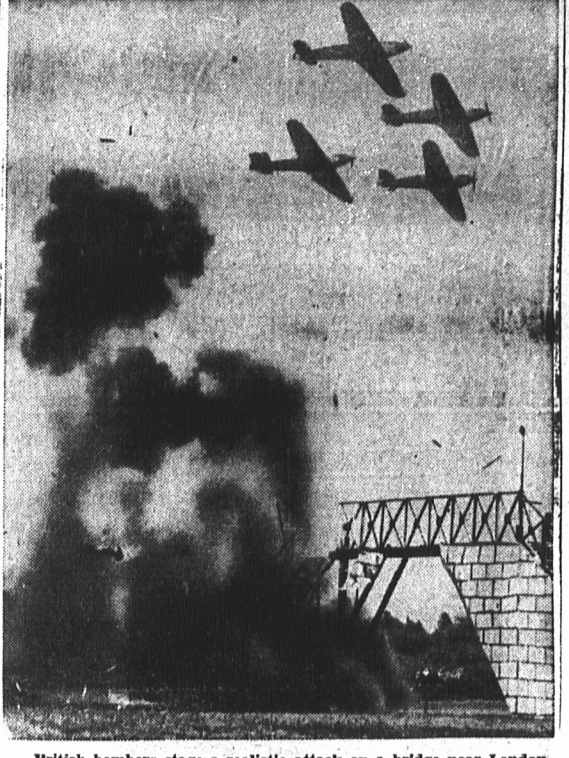

After civic and other officials had been presented, the King, his hair blowing in a light Funday breeze, descended from the platform accompanied by the Queen, and proceeded to greet 40 members of the Amputations Association and South Africa War veterans who were lined up nearby.

Britain's armament industry is going "full speed ahead." Here a 4.7 inch gun swings above the heads of men working on the manufacture of lighter guns.

Regular and reserves, 366,000. Territorial army field force, 340,000. Anti-aircraft units, 115,000. Compulsory recruits, 200,000. Total, 1,021,000.

This will be the biggest peacetime army force England ever had.

AIR FORCE IS RAPIDLY EXPANDING
A gigantic effort is being made to create a huge air force. According to most confidential reports, the Germans, if they make war upon Britain, count mainly upon their air force. To offset this, Britain has to have:
