The lecturer said that the sociological panacea which would accomplish this end would be the removal of all taxes and other impediments from capital, and from all products of industry, and placing taxes upon natural bounties by appropriating the rental value to public use.

WEATHERWISE.—The Moncton Times says: Reports from all parts of the Maritime Provinces have been that the oldest inhabitant has been knocked out by the unseasonable weather that has prevailed in this section during the present winter. Moncton's oldest inhabitants were for a time stunned, but one of them, Mr. Archie McKay, has sufficiently recovered his memory to be able to go the atmosphere one better. He says that 52 years ago, the weather was so open that ploughing was done on P. E. I. in February, and the ground was dry and summer like. Mr. Thos. McNutt of what was then called Princetown Royalty, had the distinction in that remote year of outdoing what has not since been accomplished, though it is hard to tell but what the feat will be more than equalled this year, as there is time enough yet for ploughing to be done in February, and up to date reports are, that ploughing has been going on almost uninterruptedly in different parts of the country since the ploughing season was supposed to have ended.

QUEBEC, Jan. 19—At the Royal Commission to-day it transpired that out of the $50,000 letter of credit issued in favor of the Drummond County Railway, the company only got $35,000, while Earnest Pacaud and Phillippe Valliere, to whom the letter was issued, pocketed $12,936 as their commission. Mr. Desmarais, M P.P., for St. Hyacinthe and an intimate friend of Mercier's, wrote to the department asking that the letter of credit be handled by him, but Pacaud was before him. It also came out by another banker that the $11,500 deposited in the Banque du Peuple to the credit of Pacaud was part of the proceeds of one of Langlais' letters of credit. The manner in which it was divided could not be ascertained, as Pacaud had withdrawn all his cheques before going to England last year.

Phillippe Vallier had also withdrawn all his cheques about the time the investigation opened, and it was found impossible to trace the division of the other letter of credit of Mr. Langlais.
