

RESCUE METHOD SHOWN

The first of three methods of rescue is performed as part of a militia rescue demonstration held in Montague yesterday. Using this method the victim is strapped to a stretcher and using a ladder as a hinge he is easily and comfortably lowered to the ground.

The other two methods involve the use of ropes and with the aid of a ladder the victim is slid to safety while strapped to a stretcher. Also part of the course was drill instruction, an equipment inspection and a film dealing with the effects of a nuclear explosion. There are 33 recruits attending the course and instruction is given by Lieut. T.J. Landrigan assisted by Sgt. J.A. Bernard and Sgt. G.J. MacDonald.

Whether anything will be done on the Charlottetown Board of Trade suggestion that consideration be given to creating new electoral districts, to consider people with common interests being grouped in divisions where those interests are paramount, is another item of interesting speculation.

Electoral Reform Report Expected

By RALPH CAMERON
Guardian - Patriot Staff Writer

Amid a welter of speculation on the soon-expected report of the Royal Commission on Electoral Reform, two items appear to stand out as almost virtual certainties for proposal by the commission.

First, and the matter which has provoked the most and sometimes bitterest arguments, is that of increased representation in the Legislature for the City of Charlottetown and the Town of Summerside.

The second, also the cause of much controversy is that of elimination of the multiple vote.

Greater representation for Charlottetown has long been claimed as a logical right by urban residents, due to the number of voters who live in the 5th Queens electoral district which includes the capital city.

In briefs presented to the DesRoches Commission, during its several hearings held across the Island, proposals on this matter ranged all the way from no increase at all, by the Federation of Agriculture, to a jump to 10 members from the present two, by the City itself in its brief.

Despite expected criticism, and that undoubtedly will come regardless of what the Commission proposes in the matter, there can be little doubt it will suggest some increase, however small, for the city.

What will cause the expected criticism will be the size of the proposed increase.

If population, alone, were the deciding factor, it has already been pointed out in one brief presented to the Commission that the 5th District of Queens has more people than the entire County of Kings.

Obviously, the Commission is not going to propose any change so sweeping as to give the city 10 members and the eastern county only two.

MIDDLE GROUND
But it has to find some middle ground for a compromise solution which will be as acceptable to both sides, as compromises usually are.

And it is this undeniable situation which provides an area for interesting speculation.

either four or five seats in the Legislature.

But whether that will be in a 30-man Legislature, as at present, or whether it will be in a 20-man Legislature, as at present, is still a matter of some doubt.

Multiple voting, is a system whereby property owners not only vote for Councillors but may also exercise the franchise to vote for Assemblymen, as well. Franchise voters may vote only for Assemblymen.

Peculiar to Prince Edward Island in modern election methods, multiple voting is both time-honoured and time-worn.

But, regardless of opposition to the system, there is still a strong feeling, especially in rural areas, for its continuance.

This is generally based on the feeling of farm and other property holders that they have a greater stake in the province than those who do not possess property to a value of at least $325.

Assuming the DesRoches Commission proposes abolition of the system, or for that matter, any other changes in the manner of conducting elections in this province, there is still no assurance the suggestions will be implemented by the provincial government.

VOTING LIST
One proposal heard several times during Commission hearings was that there should be a provincial voting list. It seems unlikely now that this will be suggested in the report, especially should the Commission recommend that multiple voting be ended. Remarks have been heard that it would not be necessary then, as most workers know voters in their own polls.

This probably is not true of urban polls, where the weight of numbers, alone, makes it difficult, if not impossible, for workers to know all voters personally. On the other hand, it is also claimed this is a fault of poor organization.

The latter is probably true as urban political organizations have a tendency to indifference when no election is in immediate prospect. They are never such closely-knit groups as holds true in rural areas, where close personal contacts make practically all issues of great personal importance.

5th KINGS DISTRICT
Another angle of possible suggestions for changes is that of

Souris Man Gets Two-Year Term

James Arnold MacLellan, Souris, was sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary on each of two counts by Magistrate James B. Johnston, QC, yesterday. The sentences will run concurrently.

On the first count, MacLellan was charged with breaking and entering the store of J.P. MacPhee, Souris, with intent to commit an indictable offence on December 2. At his original arraignment on this charge, the accused had pleaded not guilty; this morning he requested that his plea be changed to guilty.

The second charge against the accused was that of escaping from lawful custody in the Kings County jail, Georgetown, Dec. 11, to where he had been remanded without bail while awaiting trial on the first count. The accused was counselled by Allison M. Gillis.

Pleading guilty to the charge of speeding, Joseph Bennett Melsaac, Cherry Valley, was fined $10 and costs or five days in jail. A similar penalty was meted out to Joseph Merrill Doucette, North Rustico, for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's licence.

Failure to stop for a "stop" sign resulted in another accusation and a film dealing with the effects of a nuclear explosion. There are 33 recruits attending the course and instruction is given by Lieut. T.J. Landrigan assisted by Sgt. J.A. Bernard and Sgt. G.J. MacDonald.

Sales To Reds Boost Canadian Export Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Increased exports to Communist countries, chiefly Communist China, accounted for just over half of the gain in all exports of Canadian products during the first 10 months of last year.

Shipments to 11 Communist countries during the period totalled $212,823,525, more than four times the $52,545,425 in exports during January-October of 1960. It was shown in figures tabled in the Commons this week.

The increase of $160,278,100 compares with the rise of $316,327,709 in exports of domestic products to all countries. These total shipments advanced 7.2 per cent to $4,688,997,036 from $4,372,669,327.

A large proportion of the export increase to Communist countries resulted from the heavy wheat and barley shipments to Red China. Exports to

Applications Being Received For Deep Sea Fishing Course

Applications for the deep sea fishing course, to be given at the Vocational School, Feb. 25 to March 9, are already coming in. George V. Fraser, director of the P.E.I. Travel Bureau, said yesterday.

This was an encouraging sign said Mr. Fraser, as advertising concerning the course has been in circulation for only a few days.

NEWEST PHASE
While it is impossible to say, as yet, how many fishermen will take this year's course, Mr. Fraser pointed out that the 1961 course was taken by some 36 persons and has proved invaluable in the development of one of the newest phases of the Island's prosperous tourist industry— deep sea fishing.

At the completion of the course a department of transport official from Halifax will hold examinations, and successful candidates will receive their temporary master's certificate. This certificate must be renewed every year, although no further examinations are needed.

The course included numerous aspects on seamanship including navigation, safety procedures, and several others. Capt. LeRoy White of Charlottetown, formerly of Murray Harbor, will be chief instructor. The course is sponsored jointly by the departments of education, fisheries, and tourism.

School Integration Fight Switches To Northern Area

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK
NEW YORK (AP) — Negro forces in the fight for United States school integration are turning their attention to the North, and this coming dispute may well overshadow efforts in the South.

that country in January-October soared to $114,916,725 from $8,587,549.

There also were sizable gains in exports to Cuba, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Their work is being continued in the South, but more and more emphasis is being placed on what is called de facto school segregation in Northern communities.

Negro leaders are hopeful changes in many Northern schools will be peaceful. But they already have made successful use of the courts, and they say they intend to continue using them when necessary.

Northern schools are not segregated by law, but they generally have a policy of requiring students to attend schools in their own neighborhoods, which often are mainly white or Negro.

Pro-integration groups also assert that in some cases boundary lines for school districts have been altered in order to continue segregation.

Paul Zuber, an outspoken Negro lawyer who has pioneered in Northern school integration, says he believes the centre of the entire U.S. segregation battle is shifting to the North.

The 35-year-old lawyer won a school case in New Rochelle, N.Y., last year and he also has won cases against the New York City school system.

He filed his latest court case last week against Englewood, N.J., and he has cases pending Newark, N.J., and Chicago.

The case that has attracted the most publicity is one that began early this month in Englewood, a town of 27,000 four miles from New York City.

Unlike the case in New Rochelle, which was confined to courtroom arguments, the Englewood dispute has brought out many of the techniques used in Southern integration struggles.

Sit-in demonstrations, an economic boycott, and public singing, praying and chanting have been employed.

Unhappy city officials say Englewood's reputation as a "Fully integrated" community has been unfairly damaged and the city has been made to resemble another Little Rock.

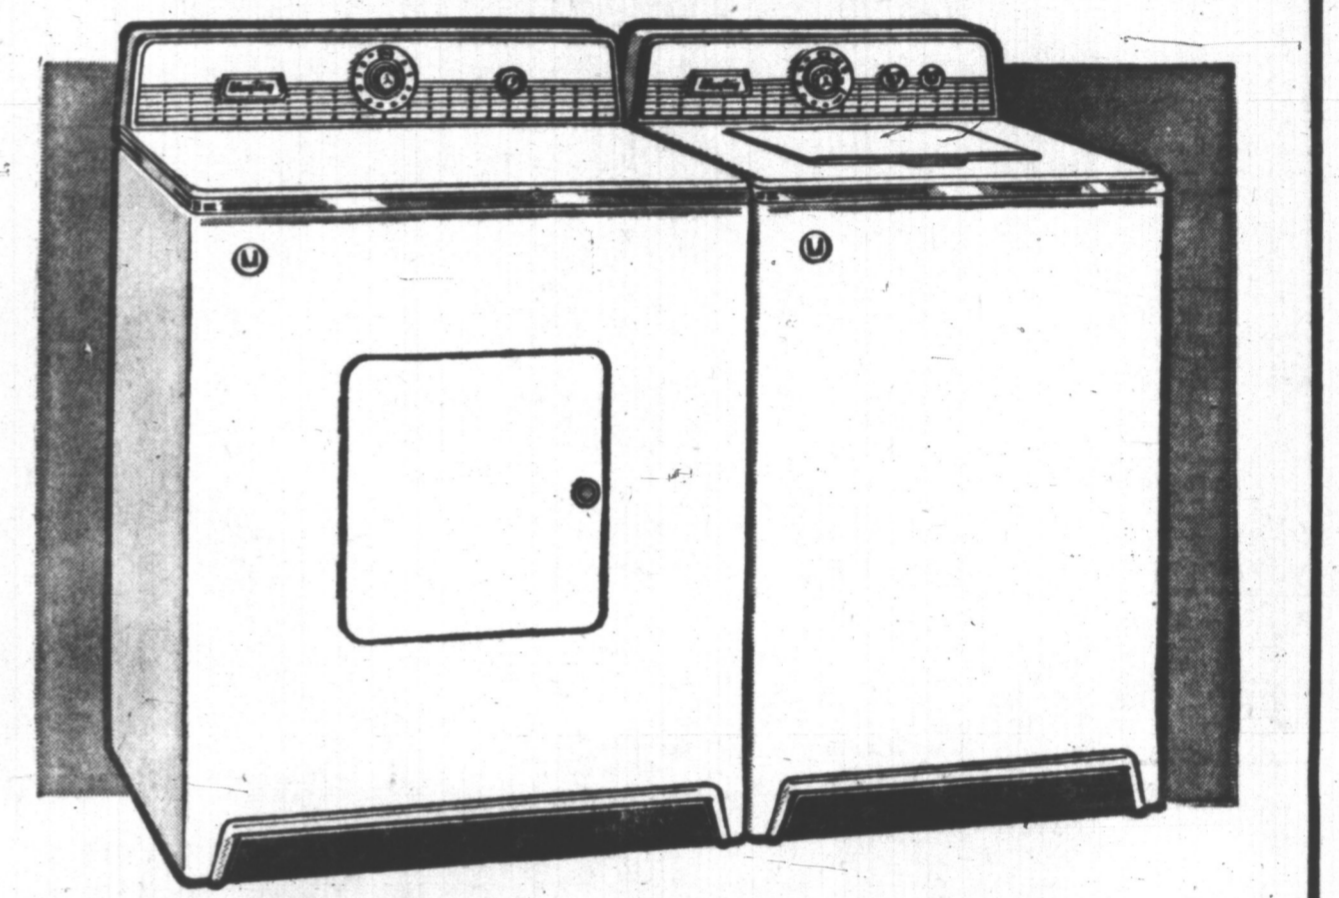

About a fourth of Englewood's citizens are Negroes. They live in all sections, but most of them reside in the fourth ward, one of four in the city.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The Saint John Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. Ltd. Wednesday announced it has started construction of a $7,000,000 grain and ore carrier. The 25,000-ton vessel, for use on the St. Lawrence Seaway and Great Lakes by Eastern Lake QCarrriers, will be 730 feet-long and 75 feet wide.
