

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 21, 1888.

George R. Beer.

The spirit of Mr. George R. Beer was released at seven o'clock last evening. Mr. Beer was in ill-health for many months, and the event has been anticipated for several weeks past.

Agricultural Education.

In the course of his address before the Inter-provincial Teachers' Association, Hon. Mr. Ferguson is reported to have discussed the question of agricultural education, urging for it more prominence.

This is a reasonable view of the matter, and ought to commend itself—particularly to the people of Prince Edward Island. We hope that the pure minds of our boys and girls will, after this, be stirred up to take an interest in agriculture.

Liberal Grumblers in a Fix.

The St. Thomas Times says: Mr. Mowat's organs will now have to change their music. They have abundantly declared the uselessness of the office filled in England by Hon. Charles Tupper.

Twenty cases New Boots just opened, selling at prices which for cheapness cannot be approached by any house in the city for bargains.—J. B. Macdonald's Boot Store.

Departure of Mr. R. Sloggett.

TESTIMONIALS FROM HIS FRIENDS.

There was quite a large gathering of merchants and others in the private offices of Messrs. Peake Brothers & Company yesterday afternoon, assembled for the purpose of paying a tribute of respect and saying farewell to Richard Sloggett, Esq., who took passage in the steamer Princess of Wales this morning en route for the home of his childhood and youth in Devonshire, England.

To Richard Sloggett, Esquire.— DEAR SIR,—On the eve of your removal from this city, which for the last quarter of a century you have made your home, we desire to record our appreciation of your worth as a citizen and a friend, and to express our deep regret at your departure.

You came amongst us as a stranger; by your frank and honorable conduct and living you speedily won our esteem and confidence. In your official position as Lloyds Surveyor of shipping in this Province you had for many years delicate and difficult duties to discharge. Your loyalty to those you represented, and the mainly straightforward way in which you at all times and towards all men discharged your duties not only enabled you to retain to the end the implicit confidence of your employers, but compelled the respect of all those with whom your official duties brought you into contact.

Now that you are returning to the land of your birth, we feel we can truly say that in the land of your adoption, while you leave many earnest and sincere friends behind, you do not leave a single enemy.

We wish you and your worthy partner, Mrs. Sloggett, every happiness in your future home, and should you at any time return again to live amongst us, you will find a warm and cordial greeting from many old friends.

Mr. Sloggett responded briefly in a short off hand address, in which he referred feelingly to his residence here of upwards of twenty-seven years, the many ties of friendship, etc., by which he was bound to this Province, his approaching departure for the land of his birth, and his feeling that he was too highly honored by the presentation of so flattering an address.

Mr. A. B. Warburton was then called to the chair; and Mr. F. H. Arnaud read the following address from the members of the Mic-Mac and Fitzroy lawn tennis team:—

To Richard Sloggett, Esq., President of the Mic-Mac Lawn Tennis Club:—

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the Mic-Mac and Fitzroy Lawn Tennis Clubs, desire to express the sincere regret we feel at the approaching severance of your connection with us.

The unvarying interest you have taken in Tennis, and the hearty and substantial support you have ever accorded to it, has laid us all under no light debt of gratitude to you. As a player, upon whose ability and regularity it was always possible to rely, you have more than any other member assisted in keeping up an interest in the game; and your departure will leave vacant a place not easily filled. We can only hope that the ties you have formed here may ere long prove strong enough to draw you back once more to take your accustomed place in our midst.

We assure you that we will always cherish feelings of personal attachment and respect for you, and we most heartily wish you and Mrs. Sloggett all the true happiness and prosperity that you so thoroughly deserve.

This address was accompanied by the gift of a beautiful racquet suitably inscribed. Mr. Sloggett, in reply, spoke of the pleasure these kindly expressions of friendship and regard gave him. Remarks were then made by Hon. F. Brecken, Hon. R. P. Haythorne, W. Welsh, M. P., and George Peake, Esq., as to the high character Mr. Sloggett bore in the community, and their regret that he was about to take his departure.

Varia.

Sir Edward Watkins' bill for tunnelling the English Channel was defeated in the Imperial Parliament by an overwhelming majority. It was opposed by all military experts who showed that its construction would enormously increase the cost of defence should England ever become engaged in war with France.

I have not hitherto commented on the Irish land question, the statements of the different sides are so irreconcilable that I don't profess to be able to indicate when the truth may probably be looked for.

When a young lad I lived several years in Ireland, much too young to understand the political questions which excited the public mind, but I earnestly hope that the outcome of this trouble and these disturbances will be for the well-being of the warm-hearted Irish people.

The Department will not be bound to accept the lowest or any tender.

The "round table conferences" between Mr. Gladstone and the disaffected members of the Liberal party, of which we have latterly heard so much, no doubt was taken from the King Arthur history, in which wo are told his knights of the "Round Table" sat around a large circular table. The table was circular to prevent any heartsease about precedence. The number of these knights is variously given; the popular notion is that there were twelve; several authorities place the number at forty; but the "History of Prince Arthur" states that the table was made to accommodate 150. King Leodegrance, who gave Arthur the table on his wedding day, sent him also 100 knights, Merlin furnished twenty-eight, Arthur himself added two; and twenty "seiges" were left to reward merit. These knights went forth into all countries in search of adventures.
