Red Cross Preparing For Blood Donor Clinics

A feature of last evening's check-up meeting of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown was the presentation of the various trophies won in last April's series of clinics held in the city.

Fremont Archer, chairman of the local committee, extended congratulations to the winners and challenged them to produce an even greater number of donors at the fall series to be held at Zion Church hall in Charlottetown on Oct. 30 and 31, and Nov. 1.

He pointed out the change in the hours especially of Wednesday's clinics which are being held morning and afternoon and not in the evening because of Halowe'en, and urged members of the committee to stress the necessity for full attendance during these day-time hours in order to exceed the quota of 1,000 established for the three-day session.

Blaine Gregan of the Bank of Montreal was presented with the Bankers' Trophy which this bank won with a 100 per cent attendance at the April clinics. Mr. Gregan said that he was writing a challenging letter to all the other banks in town on behalf of the staff of the Bank of Montreal who, he said, were going to make every effort to retain their high percentage of attendance.

The students' councils of both St. Dunstan's University and Prince of Wales College have new blood donor chairmen in the persons of Michael Lane at SDU, and David Reynolds at PWC. The latter received the PWC inter-class trophy which he will arrange to have presented to the winners of the April competition. The second year students had a 53 per cent attendance. On hand to accept the SDU inter-class trophy on behalf of the senior class, which scored a 95 per cent result, was Lee Gillis.

Other trophies awarded at last evening's meeting went to John Richard who represented the Canada research laboratory of the Dominion department of agriculture which achieved a 100 per cent response when this competition was conducted for the first time last April; the department of highways which won the P.E.I. Public Servants' Association trophy; the Kiwanis Club which received the Robert Bradley award for inter-service club competition; the Main Brace Naval Veterans' Association, the winners of the armed services clubs competition; and Local 1423 IBEW (Maritime Electric) the trophy donated by the Charlottetown District and Labor Council.

Reginald Gay, a very active member of the Red Cross blood donor committee for Charlottetown, announced that a new competition was being promoted among the various milk producers and processors in the Charlottetown area, and he also said that there was every indication that other business firms would be announcing their intentions of setting up new competitions within the next few days.

first beginning of our union in Christ."

But he said Pope John believed union could only be arrived at "little by little"—first rapprochement, then coming closer together, then reunion.

The German Jesuit Cardinal said his secretariat had put forward several draft proposals for the council, including one on religious freedom and another on the Catholic ecumenical movement, prayer for union and the "crucial question" of mixed marriages.

The council will meet in massive St. Peter's, the vast 16th-century basilica built on a site where Christians once were burned at the stake and fed to beasts.

It is the 21st such council of its kind in 2,000 years of church history.

In scope, the council is unprecedented. Never before have the rulers of the church gathered from so many lands, in such numbers—more than 2,600 of them.

At the last such meeting, the first Vatican council in 1869-70, only 774 were present. And the Catholic population was only about 200,000,000.

ANALYZE SUGGESTIONS

Three years of work, sifting and analyzing suggestions from around the globe by learned commissions, have gone into its preparations.

Among the many topics which may come up are the greater use of modern languages instead of Latin, reform of dress of priests and members of religious orders, more independence for bishops, less "Italianization" in the church machinery, and better distribution of clergy throughout the world.

Many thousands of persons are expected to watch Pope John lead today's procession across St. Peter's Square.

About 85 Canadians will participate in the procession, mainly cardinals and bishops, with a sprinkling of experts who have worked on preparatory commissions

Among the top-ranking prelates are James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, Paul - Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, and Maurice Roy, archbishop of Quebec City.

Charge Is Withdrawn

SUMMERSIDE — A charge of failing to leave his name and address after being involved in an accident was dropped yesterday by Magistrate R.S. Hinton in police court at the request of chief S.D.A. Wannamaker. The charge was laid against Alden Ramsay, Lot 16, when he was in collision with a parked vehicle and left the scene without leaving his name and address.

Chief Wannamaker stated accused had reported the accident early the next morning because at the time he saw no one there and the other vehicle was out of sight behind a building, where the collision sent it.

Lorne MacAdam, South Granville, was fined $15 without costs for speeding and Beatrice Arsenault, Summerside, was fined $10 and costs on a similar charge.

One accused forfeited bail of $25 when he failed to appear on a charge of public intoxication. Accused explained to court if he could get time payment so that he could return to his home in Nova Scotia. Magistrate Hinton said the court had no choice in the matter because as he said. "If a few get away with little punishment, next year they'll all do it".

MINISTER

the "most desperate scramble for power in Canada's history" and continuing "scream and scare" tactics started before the last election campaign.

Gilbert Rondeau (SC—Shefford) repeated his request that the CBC television networks carry at least one hour of Commons debates every sitting day. Telecasts would show voters "the laziness, the pettiness" of many MPs and how time is wasted by long speeches.

He said Social Credit would continue to vote with the minority Conservative government in the foreseeable future "to obtain better legislation."

The party did not want to see Canada evolve into a situation similar to that of France, where governments were "toppled overnight."

Among the measures that are required, he said, is a 100-percent increase in family allowances, or an adjustment that would bring the allowances in line with the rise in the cost of living.

Mr Rondeau also called for cuts in income taxes.

No taxes should be paid by a family man earning less than $5,000 or a single man earning less than $3,000, he said. In addition, the breadwinner in a family of five should pay no income tax if he earns less than $100 a week because studies showed it cost $86 a week to maintain a family that size.

ADJUST PENSIONS

Old-age pensions also should be adjusted to recognize increases in the cost of living, Mr. Rondeau said.

He argued that Canadian prosperity rests with private enterprise, yet it was being crushed by taxation. Instead of spending money seeking sales abroad, the government should concentrate on expanding domestic markets.

An industrialist himself, Mr. Rondeau said one problem with the economy is that people—farmers and workmen—have to go into debt to buy goods. Social Credit would change this system.

It is easy to laugh at Social Credit, Mr. Rondeau said. It only required a wrinkled-up nose and a smile. But it took less intelligence to laugh at it than to understand it.

Rustico Bred Holstein Heifer Is New Canadian Jr. Champ

A Holstein heifer bred in the herd of Walter Buntain and Son, Rustico is the new Canadian champion junior three-year old producer in both milk and butterfat in the 305-day division.

The heifer which is owned now by B. J. Mitton and Sons, Moncton, N.B., produced 23,665 pounds milk, 825 fat. This performance supplants the former junior three-year old fat production record of 816 pounds held by Abegweit Milady that was in the Bunbury Farm herd owned at the time by the late J. Walter Jones, and the milk record held by Brown's Mistress Mercedes of 20,734 pounds. She is owned at LaTuque, Que.

Allena had a top day of 101½ lbs. of milk and finished her 305-day record with 61¼ lbs. a day. She stood in the milking line with the rest of the herd throughout her lactation.

She is a rugged heifer with an amazing appetite for good hay, beet pulp and dairy ration.

As a two-year old, she produced in 365 days, 12,168 lbs. milk and 522 lbs. fat, for an average test of 4.29 p.c.

The new Champion is sired by Seaside Gaylad who is a descendant of the Champion producers Abegweit Stardust and Abegweit Milady) and Gaylad is out of the Canadian Champion 2x lifetime producer Seaside Susie Abbekerk with 250,454 lbs. of milk in 15 lactations.

The dam of Allena is Seaside Chrissie Landmark who has produced 102,174 lbs. milk in 7 lactations and still going strong and her grandmother has produced 101,128 lbs. in 7 lactations.

On the evening of October 6th, breeders from the three Maritime Provinces gathered at the Mitton farm to see the new Champion and extend their congratulations on this outstanding achievement.

RICH IN DESIGN

Pointing out that Prince Edward Island was enormously rich in design, Mr. Crowell said there were many things that have not been used—Anne of Green Gables, the Parliament Buildings and the landing of the first settlers.

He said New Brunswick's handicrafts were exhibited at national and international shows and perhaps, next year, Prince Edward Island products will be on display.

Mr. Crowell said it was astounding what tourists will buy if it is Canadian made.

"History is full of design and Prince Edward Island is full of history," he said.

New Brunswick, he said, had a "reaching for the stars" attitude.

"We want to become a major producer of fine handicrafts for all Canada," he stated.

What is a handicraft? Well Mr. Crowell says that New Brunswick has a working definition—"a handmade, locally designed, high quality product, that sells in the best handicraft shops.

"If it is not good, it won't sell and if it is not good, we won't have anything to do with it." he said.

Looking back a number of years, he recalls that New Brunswick's handicraft industry got its start one day while he was teaching handicraft work at McGill University.

"I was asked by a government official to outline a handicraft program for New Brunswick. Six weeks later the official returned and said 'we like your outline. Come down and run it.'" he stated.

When asked how he got started in the handicraft business, Mr. Crowell said he was teaching manual training and was asked to teach handicrafts at McGill University.

"It was all in knowing how to say 'yes' the right number of times," he observed.

Grand Jury Urges Salary Increases

A recommendation that the staff of Sherwood Hospital receive salary increases, and a suggestion that Riverside Hospital is understaffed, were made Wednesday in the report of the grand jury that sat prior to the opening of the fall session of the Supreme Court.

The report was submitted following a tour of public buildings in Charlottetown and surrounding area.

The jury report strongly recommended the construction of a prison farm on Prince Edward Island, and a complete re-wiring of Queens County Jail. The report said bad wiring in the jail was a fire hazard.

NO MORE ALCOHOLICS

Other recommendations included that no more alcoholic patients be admitted to Riverside unless they were prepared to stay in hospital to be cured; the completion of the paved road to Beach Grove; and additional facilities for staff at Beach Grove.

Mr Justice Mark R. MacGuigan presided.

Members of the jury are: Fred De Coste, Charlottetown, foreman, Perley Drake, Cherry Valley; Emmett Gallant, Rustico; John Morrissey, Cherry Valley; Hubert Harvey, Crapaud; Bruce Pound, Parkdale; Preston V. Beck, Mt. Edward Road; Vernon Coles, North Rustico; Waldron Moase, Pleasant Valley, and Gordon Myers, Mt. Albion.

Firemen Plan Curling Team

A curling team from the Charlottetown Fire Department will represent the city at the first annual Maritime Firemen's Association bonspiel, to be held early in March in Lunenburg N.S.

L.G. Gillespie, secretary of the city fire department, attended a committee meeting of the Maritime Firemen's Association in Truro over the week-end to discuss the matter.

The bonspiel will alternate among different communities each year, Mr. Gillespie said, and it is expected the bonspiel will be held here within the next few seasons.
