Two-Way Radio For S'ide Police Again Discussed By Town Council

The question of a two-way radio for Summerside police patrol was again raised at the regular meeting of the Summerside Town Council last evening by Councillor Hillard Clark who suggested that the matter be investigated, and said that towns smaller than Summerside consider two-way radio to be important in police work.

On the matter of by-laws in regard to building he said the present by-laws of 1937 were outdated and should be revised in keeping with present conditions.

In reporting on the water and sewerage committee he expressed belief that water meters would be the fairest method of water rates. He described new work on Victoria Road, made necessary through the installation of a storm sewer.

TAX COLLECTION The town clerk, Mr. John Cameron, reported that 88 percent of the personal and real estate taxes, and 70 percent of the poll taxes, have been paid up to the end of October, and he said this compared favorably with the collections at this period last year.

Councillor Andrew Perry, reporting for the street committee, said that with the exception of Noonan Street, all contracts for street work had been completed and said that because of bad weather this street would not be paved until spring.

Mayor Henry Wedge, who presided at the meeting drew attention to complaints which had been received regarding the condition of the town library, and suggested that something should be done to clean it up and make it more presentable.

Councillor Donald Lidstone indicated that some objection was being received to the cutting of tree limbs by electric light crews and said these crews are presenting quite a problem of whether these people want the services of electricity or the branches of some trees.

Councillor Clark drew attention to some poorly lighted sections around the hospital. Councillor Lidstone agreed that improvement should be made in this area and promised to see about it.

At the beginning of the meeting minutes of a special meeting on October 25th were read which granted building permits to Charles Melvor for construction of a bungalow on Harvard Street; and to J. Arthur Clark, for the construction of a private garage on Winter Street.

TO HELP CENTENNIAL Correspondence at the meeting included a request from the chairman of the committee in charge of the Charlottetown centennial program requesting that advertisements in a booklet which is being published by the committee for distribution to tourists in connection with the centennial observance next summer.

The newly erected church hall seen together with the church above, will be dedicated this evening, marking another milestone in the long and progressive history of the Bedouque United Church.

The new hall, 25 x 64 feet, will be named "The John Craig Memorial Hall" in memory of an honored member and devoted worker of the past.

For many years the lack of adequate room for Sunday school, and through-the-week meetings was keenly felt. The Sunday school teachers and leaders of the youth groups proposed building a suitable hall and the suggestion met with ready approval on the part of the other church organizations.

At a meeting early in the year the congregation decided to build the hall and the trustee board was authorized to proceed with plans. This was done through the instrumentality of a building committee of three men—Messrs. William Montgomerie, Vernon Craig and A. A. MacInnis.

The contract was given to Mr. Gerald MacLean of Kensington and due to the fine co-operation of the committee and the contractor the project which was started about the middle of June was completed within three months.

The special service of worship this evening will be conducted by the minister, Rev. George K. Ward, and he will be assisted by two former pastors of the congregation, Rev. G. N. Somers and Rev. George Ayers, and by Rev.

Canada To Observe Remembrance Day With Ceremonies On Thursday Brunswickers in tributes at some border points.

Thousands of persons in service organizations are scheduled to march in Vancouver's parade. Weather men declined to hazard a guess on weather prospects but said the city has had rain every Nov. 11 since 1950.

A Canadian Legion pipe band will lead the parade at Medicine Hat. Edmonton has planned four special Thursday morning services for all faiths.

As in former years, the bugling of the "last post" will signal the start of two minutes' silence for the fallen at 11 a. m. local time, recalling the hour of the armistice in the First World War.

Newfoundland will see its first big Remembrance Day parade when Canadian forces joined by United States units from Pepperell air force base march at St. John's. Usually, Newfoundlanders mourn their dead July 1 anniversary of the 1917 Battle of Beaumont Hamel in which the Royal Newfoundland Regiment was almost annihilated.

Almost everywhere across Canada, stores and business places will be closed to enable staffs to attend memorial services. The day is not a statutory holiday but government offices, banks and many schools will take the day off.

Montreal's parade to the Dominion Square cenotaph is expected to include between 5,000 and 6,000 troops and veterans. Prince Edward Island plans parades and cenotaph ceremonies at Charlottetown, Summerside, Montague and Georgetown.

Nova Scotian communities will hold similar observances. The Canadian Legion has arranged to include a brief religious service in the ceremonies at Halifax, where deletion of the religious touch was criticized last year. Maine residents will join New Brunswickers in tributes at some border points.

ALBERTON W. I.

—Proceeding their annual meeting the members of Alberton Women's Institute enjoyed a turkey dinner at The Hillside Tourist Home. Mrs. H. J. Larkin, honorary president of the Institute presided over the head table and welcomed Mrs. C. W. Hayes who later in the evening showed slides of Western Canada which she visited during the past summer.

The menu featured a two-tier birthday cake with twenty-seven lighted candles. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. C. H. Weeks for the use of her home and Mr. Henry Clarke who catered.

Mrs. Joseph Callaghan was re-elected president. Other officers for the coming year are vice-president, Mrs. Thomas Phillips; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Wilkie (re-elected); treasurer, Mrs. Herbert Matthews. Directors, Mrs. J. A. Noonan, Mrs. O. H. Phillips, Mrs. Erskine Campbell and Mrs. Everett Shea.

Mr. Campbell said that at the present time there are not enough strawberries grown in this province to warrant canning them in such large quantities. However, it is understood that if they were available in sufficient quantity, they would find a ready market in Newfoundland.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that there is an urgent need to have Summerside made a port of call for the boat which sails between Newfoundland and P.E.I. and said he felt that produce in sufficient quantity could be assembled at this port to make such a call very profitable.

For sometime past, the Summerside Board of Trade has discussed the possibilities of having Summerside made a port of call and Mr. T. J. Inman of the agricultural committee has, in the past, made a survey of various shippers who indicated that they would most assuredly take advantage of such a means of shipping and could provide sufficient produce and livestock to build up a flourishing trade with Newfoundland.

Comeback By Quiz Team Is "Parade" Feature —The remarkable comeback by the Cape Traverse quiz team was the highlight of last Friday evening's Schurmans School Parade. It seemed that after the first round of answering questions the Central Bedouque school was going to build up a commanding lead but the evening was out; at this point the score was 14 for the Cape Traverse School and 4 for Central Bedouque.

It was then that the Cape Traverse school applied the pressure and for the next three rounds not a student missed a single question. When the final count was given it read: Cape Traverse 16 Central Bedouque 14.

There was one student from each school who had perfect scores for the evening: Beryl Murphy for the winning team and Alice Bagnall for Central Bedouque. Other members of the Central Bedouque team were: Sandra Rayner, Louis Smith, Elaine Green, and Elaine Rayner. The winning team was represented by Hazel MacDonald, Douglas Muttart, Wayne Howatt, Beryl Murphy and Elaine Campbell.

The winning question on "Dollars for Scholars" was submitted by Willard Wedge of North Carleton school.

The talent part of the program consisted of some excellent numbers by children from the elementary and Junior grades of Summerside High, Bedouque Junior North Bedouque, and Tyne Valley schools.

750 Million Bill For Wrappings

TORONTO, (CP)—The wrappings around the goods you buy are big business—wrappings in this case meaning everything from the tube from which you squeeze toothpaste, to huge boxes and crates, are in Canada, $750,000,000 worth of business.

Food and beverage industries alone spend $200,000,000 to protect their products en route to the customer, while chemical and allied products industries rank next at $50,000,000.

The figures are from a statistical report published by the Packaging Association of Canada in connection with the Canadian national packaging exposition here today, Wednesday and Thursday.

The fruit and vegetable industry, says the survey, spends $48,000,000 annually on packaging materials; the brewing industry nearly $24,000,000; bread and bakery products $10,000,000 each.

Four groups exhibiting at the exposition-cotton-and-jute bag industry, and the coopeage industry—around $150,000,000 worth of Canadian raw materials in their manufacturing processes, and pay 20,000 employees $50,000,000 in wages and salaries annually.

Near half the output of the sheet metal industry, the report says, is used in production of containers, caps and seals. This industry alone pays 17,000 employees around $33,000,000 in wages and salaries, and uses materials worth around $115,000,000.

Dr. Sheppard's Close Friend Gives Evidence At Trial

CLEVELAND, (AP)—One of Dr. Samuel Sheppard's best friends Monday described him as a "very straightforward fellow—a good, decent fellow."

The description came from Donald J. Ahern, a prosecution witness, who told of the last night of Marilyn Sheppard, 31-year-old wife of the osteopath. The evening began quietly with a home cooked meal and neighborly gossip. It ended with Marilyn's murder, for which Dr. Sheppard is on trial.

Reviewing Ahern's friendship with Sheppard, defence counsel William J. Corrigan asked on cross examination: "Did you ever see him lose his temper?"

"No, sir, I did not." "During the time you knew Sam Sheppard did you have an opportunity to determine what kind of a man he was?"

"I felt Sam was always a very straightforward fellow," Ahern replied. "He was my friend."

COMPLETES TESTIMONY The first state witness finally completed his testimony Monday in the opening day of the trial's fourth week. He was Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy county coroner, who performed the autopsy on Marilyn's body.

Despite minute cross examination, Dr. Adelson insisted to the end. "Mrs. Sheppard was beaten to death."

Corrigan managed to introduce the suggestion that Mrs. Sheppard might conceivably have died by strangling or drowning in her own blood, or even by shock.

Dr. Adelson went along reluctantly with any such possibilities.

A battery report was signed at a police station by Dr. Roland Marks, 51, an ear and throat specialist who lives in suburban Rolling Hills. Mr. Blum said Joseph Hanson, a Dresden district farmer, and Mrs. Bernard Carter, a neighbor, entered Matt Emerson's restaurant Sunday and asked for service.

He said they left after waiting 15 minutes, during which time the restaurant door was locked, preventing several white people from entering.
