EFFECTS OF THE LATE FIRE.—W. R. Boreham is selling off his stock of damaged boots and shoes very cheap, at Dorsey & Jost's old stand. [mar 15, 4]

It was announced, some time ago, that a "Pinafore Company" would give a series of performances in this city, commencing on the 15th inst. As the steamer is ice bound, it is not probable that the Company will open before the end of the month.

An aged woman named Catherine Buchanan was found by the Police, at four o'clock this morning, lying helplessly drunk in a yard off King Street. Had it not been for the accidental appearance of an officer on beat, she would, no doubt, have perished.

The old trough belonging to the pump on the North Side Queen Square, which was superseded last summer by a new one, is allowed to remain standing against the fence beside said pump. Can not the city "Government" have the unsightly thing removed?

The asphalt sidewalks, which were laid several years ago in different parts of the city, have not proved successful. The one in front of Wellner's jewelry store, which, until recently, gave signs of durability, has, at length succumbed, and is slowly but surely passing away.

Why are gates facing the rear of the Colonial Building on Grafton Street always kept closed? It is a great annoyance for parties coming from Upper Great George Street to be compelled to drive a full block out of their way in order to gain the continuation of the Street.

It is too bad that the "hoodlums" or corner loafers who nightly congregate at the most public places should be allowed to put at defiance all efforts to abate the nuisance. If several of those unprincipled scoundrels who delight in insulting unprotected females were made terrible examples of, we might expect reform. Something should be done, and done speedily, as the epidemic is on the increase.

The "Boy's Own Paper," "Leisure Hour," and "Sunday at Home," three magazines of rare merit, published by the Religious Tract Society, we can heartily recommend to our readers. As they are issued at the exceedingly low price of $1.50 per year, it places them within the reach of all. Theo. L. Chappelle, of the Diamond Bookstore, is agent in this city. Call and see specimen copies.

A VERY good attendance at the market to-day (Tuesday). Sales easy at the following prices: Beef (small) 5 to 12 cts. per lb.; beef (qr.) from 4 to 8 cents per lb.; mutton, from 5 to 9 cents per lb.; pork (per lb.) from 7 to 9 cents; pork (per carcass) from 5 to 6 cents; turkeys, from 90 to $1.30; geese, from 50 to 60 cents each; chickens, from 40 to 80 cents per pair; butter (fresh) from 20 to 22 cents per lb.; butter (tub) from 18 to 20 cents per lb.; ducks 25 to 30 cents per pair; flour $3 per 100 lbs.; potatoes, from 15 to 16 cents per bushel; oats, from 42 to 43 cents; hay, from 30 to 34 cents per 100 lbs.

To-morrow is St. Patrick's Day. It will be celebrated in this city—as well as in all other cities of America—silently, without the usual music, procession or display—thus indicating that Irishmen mourn the sad fate which has befallen their Motherland. At 10 o'clock a High Mass will be celebrated in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, and an appropriate sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Father McGilvray. In the evening a grand literary and musical entertainment will be given in the Market Hall, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the relief of the Irish sufferers. For this entertainment an excellent programme has been arranged. The services of the Quintette Club have been secured, and the names of Mrs. Strickland, Prof. Caven, F. H. Beer and L. J. Williams appear among the vocalists, while those of Messrs. Montgomery, Earel and Vinnicombe appear among the instrumentalists. This entertainment we learn will be superior to any heretofore given on St. Patrick's night. If so it will be worth attending.

August Flower.
The immense sale and great popularity of Green's August Flower in all towns and villages in the civilized world has caused many imitators to adopt similar names, expecting to reap a harvest for themselves at the expense of the afflicted. This medicine was introduced in 1863, and for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, with their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sickheadache, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, vertigo etc., etc., it never has failed to our knowledge. Three doses will relieve any case of Dyspepsia. Two million bottles sold last year. Price 75 cents. Samples 10 cents.

Remedy for Hard Times.
Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

A Good Account.
"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

Information Required.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR,—At a meeting held in the Law Library last week to discuss the question of City taxation, by the Local Government, a gentleman holding a prominent position in one of our Banks, is reported to have stated that the Dominion Government receive yearly from the Island $100,000 more than they pay us back, or, in other words, that the Dominion receipts exceed the expenditure on this Island by that amount. As I have heard the correctness of this statement questioned by parties competent to judge, I think this gentleman owes it to his position and the Dominion Government, to let the public have some proof for his statement.

No Parade.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
SIR,—In yesterday's issue of your paper appeared a communication over the signature of "Justice," in which the composition of my letter of Saturday last was criticised, and the facts contradicted. If I cannot call "Justice" a scholar, I can call him a gentleman. He has treated me and the subject upon which I wrote in a thorough gentlemanly manner. Of course he alludes at the close of his communication to the appointment of a "Dictator" or "Adviser" who would continually watch over my countrymen, and give them the benefit of superior wisdom and thoughtfulness. This is not malice or contempt, it is the playful humor of a mind in which no evil thought could live. A bow and a smile accompany every word, and it is impossible to be angry. Having not heard the resolutions passed by the Irish Societies, I am unable to give the exact words, but the spirit and purport are that they shall parade as usual. "That they shall parade as usual" is a portion of the words used in the resolution of one of the Societies. In this sense, I think, the words "parade as usual" are equivalent to "triumphal procession through our streets." Thus do I state a fact. Cold and unpatrotic is the heart of the Irishman who needs a "celebration" on St. Patrick's Day "to keep alive his love for Ireland." The love that needs the stimulus of a celebration to keep it alive, should, itself, sink into the mire of forgetfulness. In lands where St. Patrick's day is kept with neither parade, nor banners nor sash, the Irishman forgets not his country. The Shamrock, the emblem of dear, dear Erin, he places on his manly breast, and, as the pulsations of his warm heart shake the leaves of that plant that represents the Triune God, he utters a prayer for his brethren beyond the sea, and hopes that one day his bones will rest in Irish soil by Irish waters, beneath an Irish sky. This prayer will be on lips, and this sentiment in the heart of many an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day when, with tear stained cheek, he thinks of the old cabin in which he was born, and in which, perhaps, his fond old mother died. "Justice" says my allusions to "silent glens," the "Harp with the broken string," "Hills of Erin," etc., "may all sound well, but are quite common." I wish to use common phrases, common clauses, and common words. These are none the worse for being common. My great difficulty in writing is to avoid the using of uncommon expressions. Perhaps "Justice" is one of those writers who refuse to use the same words twice in a whole essay. How unlike the correct writers of our rich and energetic English! And must the writings of Byron and Newman be condemned because the "Sad Sweet Singer" and the great Theologian sang and wrote in a style that even undeveloped minds can readily understand. Ah, "Justice," your reasoning is faulty, and I fear your knowledge of language, like your knowledge of Irish patriotism, is superficial. Now, "Justice," I must say farewell. I will, on this subject, write no more. I presume that you will not reply, for to-morrow's sun will rise on St. Patrick's Day. Hope it will not rise on an Irish procession. Then, in the after time, it will not be said that in the famine year, when Ireland cried to the Nations and to God for bread, her children paraded the streets green in and gold and mourned not with her.
IRISHMAN.

St. Patrick's Day Parade.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
DEAR SIR,—I am again compelled to ask a small space in your valuable paper. A three-star correspondent in yesterday's issue, but whom I believe to be "Irishman" in disguise, mealy asserts that the Irishmen of this city who intend parading on St. Patrick's Day are not generous or true hearted. No fair-minded man would make such an assertion. If we are to judge from what Irishmen here have so far done, we would come to the conclusion that they are as true as ever to the "dear old land," and feel as keenly for her distress. Parading on St. Patrick's Day will make them none the less good Irishmen—will not be "cold," "ungenerous" or "cruel" to their "suffering brethren at home." Irishmen! if you have voted to parade, by all means do so, and do not be dictated to or influenced by one or two anonymous newspaper scribblers.
Yours, &c.,
JUSTICE.

REPORT ON THE LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:
"We have visited the bottling stores of Messrs. Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
