

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL ELECTION.

Liberal-Conservative Candidate for Charlottetown,

HENRY LONGWORTH, ESQ.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 14, 1878.

The New Ministry.

The choice Sir John McDonald has made of a Ministry is announced in our telegraphic column. Sir John's knowledge of men and his tact in harmonizing clashing interests have often been exemplified. We feel satisfied that Liberal-Conservatives everywhere will loyally acquiesce in his last selection.

Legislative Council Election.

We understand that Lauchlan McMillan, Esq., of Brackley Point, will probably be the Opposition candidate for the seat vacated by William McGill, Esq. Mr. McMillan would make a very worthy and efficient representative. He is well posted in the politics of this country; and we have no doubt he will be elected by a large majority of the electors of both Belfast and Fort Augustus.

How About "That Glass"?

Is any of Chance's No. 1 Glass (as per tender) available?
Can the required quantity be obtained this season?
These are questions which electors who foot the bills want answered.

Mr. Cartwright.

CENTRE HURON has opened its arms to Mr. Cartwright. No matter how good the Government, it would be a misfortune not to have a good Opposition. Mr. Cartwright's talents and acquirements fit him for the Opposition; and—may he long remain there.

The Situation.

A CONTEMPORARY remarks that "The departure of Lord Dufferin from Canada, the fall of the McKenzie Government, the election of a new Parliament, the advent of a new Governor General, and the arrival on our shores of a member of the Royal family, to become permanently associated with our people and our history, are events of such magnitude and far-reaching consequences that we may well pause to consider changes which, occurring so close together, are almost tantamount to a revolution."

The Lesson of Mr. McKenzie's Downfall.

At last, after long pressing, and with an ill grace, Mr. McKenzie has resigned into the hands of the Governor General the trust he had committed to him in 1873.

His first act was to cancel a number of the appointments Sir John A. McDonald had deemed it necessary for the public service to make before he resigned. His last act was to make a number of appointments of the same sort as those for making which he so virulently condemned Sir John. November, 1873, and October, 1878—the beginning and the end of Mr. McKenzie's career as Prime Minister—stand looking at each other, wondering what it all means; asking each other whether the man who yesterday sent his resignation to Earl Dufferin is really the same man who, five years ago, with the flush of expectant joy brightening his brow, entered the presence chamber, and received authority from Earl Dufferin to form a ministry to govern the country.

The first and the last periods may well wonder with each other at the strange transformation.

When Mr. McKenzie accepted the trust offered him, he personally stood high in the estimation of the people of Canada. He seemed an Abdiel among politicians—

"Among the faithless, faithful only he;
Among innumerable false, unmoved,
Unshaken, unsecluded, untrifled."

High hopes were entertained by the people that a man had at length arisen whose mental powers were only excelled by his moral excellencies. November, 1873, saw the country suspicious of its leaders, determined to give Mr. McKenzie a chance and to put no obstacle in his way. October, 1878, beholds Mr. McKenzie stripped, by his own acts, of all the character for honesty he once possessed, and of all the reputation for administrative ability, which was attributed to him by his admirers.—*He. A CURIOSITY.

—There is at present at the jail a man who has been there nearly three years, and absolutely refuses to leave. A little over three years ago he was fined by the County Magistrate for selling liquor without license. He would not pay the fine, and therefore went to jail. While there, his wife went to her father's house to live. When he came out his father-in-law presented him with a bill for his wife's board, and a small sum of money she borrowed from him. He would not pay the amount of the bill, so the case was contested and went against him. But still he refused to pay the bill, and again went to jail. About a month afterwards his father-in-law told him he would let him go if he paid the amount of cost for contesting (some $15), which he would not do. The father-in-law went away, but returned a few weeks after, and offered to let him go if he would pay $5. This he also refused to do. About two months subsequently the father-in-law offered him his liberty on the payment of one cent. True to his record, even this the man refused and has remained in jail ever since. Here is certainly a novel case. The prisoner can't be got out, and the city has to pay the expense of keeping him. The man is said to be well off, and owns a large farm at Musquodoboit, where he used to live. He says "the farm is so large that a rabbit or squirrel going across it would have to call at his house for food, or they would die of starvation before they got across." The day he was brought to town, before he left the house he opened a barrel of flour, and put it on the top of a table. He then got a lot of bricks and made steps up to the top of the barrel, so that the rats and squirrels could get up to it. He then locked up the house which has not been opened since. This summer he got $60 for the hay that was on the farm. The money was immediately put in the bank. He sleeps in the clothes he wears, beaver and all, and positively refuses to change his clothing. There will have to be an Act passed especially to get that man out of the jail. The case, so far as we know, is unique.—He. Reporter.

MARKETS.

PRODUCE.—Several cargoes of oats and potatoes arrived at Halifax last week, and at a sale at auction realized 42 cents and potatoes 43 cents. The Halifax Herald quotes for both 40 to 45 cents. It is thought that potatoes will be high and scarce this fall.

Messrs. Scammell Bros., New York, circular of the 5th inst. says: "The indications are that there will be a favorable opportunity to ship potatoes here from the Provinces, as the early crop in the States is of poor quality, and in some sections light. Our late crop promises better in quantity and quality. New York State stock is generally of poor quality. Maine and Vermont stock is better, but not up to the standard of former years. The crop in Ohio and Michigan is reported to be a fair one. The shipments from this market have been active all the season, and are considerably in excess of those for the same period last year. We may, therefore, reasonably expect to have a good, healthy trade throughout the fall and winter. The demand is good and prices rule strong. Maine Rose are arriving in good order and sell ready at $2.37 @ 2.50; latter rate for prime. A lot of 150 barrels Nova Rose, in barrels from Boston, arrived this week and sold freely at $2.50; the stock was of good size and in prime order. We quote: Early Rose, Nova Scotia, choice per bbl. $2.37 @ $2.50; Early Rose, Maine, per bbl. $2.25 @ $2.50; Early Rose, Long Island, per bbl. $2.00 @ $2.50; Early Rose, State, good to prime per bbl. $1.75 to $2.25; Peerless, prime, in bulk per bbl. $2 @ $2.12; Peerless, fair, in bulk, per bbl. $1.75 @ $1.87.

A Territory in Trouble.

President Hayes has issued a proclamation giving notice that, owing to the spirit of lawlessness existing in New Mexico, martial law will be declared in that Territory. In his proclamation the President calls attention to the fact that it has become impracticable to enforce, by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, the laws of the United States within the territory of New Mexico, and especially within Lincoln County. He admonishes all United States citizens against aiding or taking part in such proceedings, and warns all persons engaged in obstruction of the laws to disperse to their homes on or before noon of the 13th inst. Secretary of War McCrary has also directed General Sherman that after the time mentioned has expired the Brigadier-General commanding the military department of the Missouri shall proceed to disperse all unlawful assemblages of persons within New Mexico and aid Gov. Wallace and authorities of the Territory in enforcing the laws. The trouble in the Territory began in a conflict of jurisdiction between rival county officials. These contests finally were expanded into faction fights, and repeated aggressions on either side have finally produced a distracting state of things. It is thought in the United States that the obstructionists of Government authority can be easily suppressed.
