By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
BONTON, England (CP) — Canada acquired a tiny corner of the lovely Devon countryside this week to mark in perpetuity the memory of James Graves Simcoe, often termed the Father of Ontario.

Premier John Robarts of Ontario accepted on behalf of the province the ownership of Wolford Chapel, built by Simcoe in 1800 in this beauty spot 17 miles from Exeter.

The ceremony was conducted under the chairmanship of J. S. P. Armstrong, Ontario agent-general in London, before some 175 guests from Canada and Britain crowding the grey stone chapel and an adjoining marquee.

Simcoe, first lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada, now Ontario, and founder of Toronto, lies buried at the chapel along with his wife and several of their children.

"In accepting this deed to Wolford Chapel, we in Ontario are honoring the man who was, in a very large sense, the father and architect of the province as we know it today," said Robarts.

The document was presented by Sir Geoffrey Harmsworth, British publisher whose father purchased the then-neglected chapel for 7500 (£900), 90 years ago.

"From now on the property is forever a piece of Canada," said Harmsworth.

Cole, great grandson of the statesman-soldier, was last speaker in the ceremony.

The chapel deed was entrusted to Norman W. Long, representing the board of trustees set up by the Simcoe Memorial Foundation, established by the Ontario legislature to care for the building in perpetuity.

Long also received as a gift a right-of-way access deed from A.G. Le Marchant, gentleman-farmer whose property surrounds the chapel. Le Marchant proudly recalled, incidentally, that one of his ancestors of the same name had served as lieutenant-governor of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia after Simcoe filled that position in Upper Canada in 1791-1796.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

The bidding:

East South West North
 Pass Pass 1♦ Pass
 1♦ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead—two of clubs. Here is an unusually sad hand from a team of four match. At the first table, nothing startling happened when East became declarer at one spade and made three on normal play. He scored 140 points, counting the 10 points extra awarded in duplicate bridge for bidding and making a part score.

But at the second table, where East's teammates held the North-South cards, they also wound up playing the hand at spades! The bidding went:

East South West North
 Pass Pass 1♦ Dble
 Redble 1♦ Pass Pass
 Dble Pass Pass Pass

South's spade bid may seem very peculiar, but he and his partner were playing a method whereby a pass over one diamond redoubled would have signified a desire to play the hand at that contract. South, therefore bid a spade in desperation.

After East doubled, South might well have had second thoughts about the expediency of playing the hand with a three-card suit as trumps, but he stood his ground and passed.

This turned out to be an extremely unfortunate decision when West made the best lead of a trump against one spade doubled. Declarer went up with the king and returned a low heart to the nine, the finesse losing to the ten.

West led another trump and South was now out of business. He did as well as he could when he went up with the ace and played another heart, losing the queen to the ace.

West led the ace and another diamond, taken by the king, and East, after cashing the queen of spades, put West on lead with a club.

West returned a heart, thus trapping the jack, and the outcome was that the only tricks South ever scored on the hand were the A-K of spades. The adventure cost North-South 1,400 points.

overwhelming endorsement and "make it clear they would like him to go on as long as he felt like it."

Reports from Vancouver quoted Mr. Gordon as telling university students Monday night he does not expect Mr. Pearson to be prime minister in a year or 18 months. The same reports quoted Mr. Gordon as saying Immigration Minister Marchand could be the new leader.

Mr. Gordon said the reports came from a conversation he had with a group of Liberal students at University of British Columbia.

Asked by students how long Mr. Pearson would remain leader, Mr. Gordon said he told them: "It is up to Mr. Pearson. Maybe a year, 18 months or longer."

Mr. Gordon said he is not supporting Mr. Marchand as a leadership candidate "because I have not made up my mind," but he mentioned his name as one of several people coming up in the party. He said Mr. Marchand is an attractive, cheerful, warm and likeable man."

Landmark At Yarmouth Goes

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — The Grand Hotel, a landmark here for more than 70 years, closed its doors Thursday in preparation for its demolition.

The hotel's board of directors announced recently that a large modern two-storey motel will be built on the site.

The 100-room hotel was erected in 1893 and for a number of years was the largest hotel in Eastern Canada.
