

Two Injured In Fall From Car

Miss Sue Dow of Charlottetown was flown to Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, yesterday evening for treatment of a head injury received when she fell from a moving car on the St. Peter's highway about four miles east of Charlottetown earlier in the afternoon.

Four-year-old Roger Ghiz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Atallah Ghiz of this city was taken to the Prince Edward Island Hospital when he fell out of the same car. He was reported to be resting comfortably last night.

Roger first fell out the door and Miss Dow, a first cousin of the little boy attempted to catch him.

Miss Dow, about 20 years old, was flown to Halifax by Capt. Carl Burke of M.C.A. in a forty-five minute flight. Halifax hospital authorities reported she was resting comfortably.

Miss Dow is a niece of Mr. Atallah Ghiz and arrived in this country from overseas about four months ago.

Tierney-Campbell Wedding

At the Kirk of Saint James yesterday morning at eleven o'clock the marriage took place of Gladys Eleanor Campbell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Campbell, with Mr. Leith Francis Tierney, son of Major D. F. Tierney and Mrs. Tierney, Rev. F. N. Young officiating at the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. K.S. Rogers and Mr. William Rogers. Lilies and standards of snapdragon and sweetpeas were arranged in the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Mary Hooper as bridesmaid and Barbara Henry as flower girl. The groomsmen were Mr. Millard Cole and the ushers Lieutenant Commander Wilfred N. Inman and Mr. George W. Campbell.

A gown of ivory satin with a cascade of white roses, and a train of black and white, with a full-length embroidered veil was held by a headress of tiny white ostrich plumes. The attendant Miss Campbell wore a gift to her mother on her wedding day, and her bouquet was a cascade of white roses.

The bridesmaid's gown was of ice-blue satin, ending in a slight train, and the bodice of her dress had a sweetheart neckline. Her matching headress was trimmed with toning feathers and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The flower girl wore a full-length rose satin frock with ruffled yoke, and matching flower headress and lace mitts. She carried a nosegay of rosebuds.

At the reception which followed at the Keppoch Beach Hotel, the bride's mother received, wearing a dusky rose crepe gown with black accessories and a corsage of Tallman roses, while the groom's mother chose a navy blue crepe with pink accessories and rose corsage.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Tierney left on a motor tour of the Maritimes, the bride wearing a beige silk dress with rust accessories and a corsage of sweet peas. When they return from their honeymoon they will live in Halifax, N.S.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Clarence Stewart, Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. A. F. Campbell, Montague, Mrs. Fred Minnikin of Montreal.

Junior Farmers Hold Successful Field Day

A thriving Prince Edward Island with a population of 150,000 in 1950 was depicted by Premier J. Walter Jones yesterday afternoon as he urged the members attending the Junior Farmers annual Field Day at the Experimental Farm, Upton, "to study the possibilities this Province has to offer and to develop as nature intended it to be one of the best places in the world to live in."

"This Province has a tremendous future," he continued, "and I hope you future farmers appreciate the opportunities it has to offer. For those who do not want to farm there will be agricultural jobs."

He noted however that there was not as much hope and confidence among the young people as the older generation would like to see. He urged the members to receive as much education as possible either in High School and University or in the Vocational School.

He outlined numerous inducements for education along agricultural lines. Among them were: Work in Farm Credit Service; Farm Co-op Services; farm auctioneering; forestry; farm machinery, fertilizer, florist, fruit and nursery businesses; livestock and poultry; dairy products; marketing milk; seed business and teaching.

Premier Jones was guest speaker at the opening of the Field Day. Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture officially opened the annual affair, held yesterday for the third time.

And a gala field day it was, with a crowd of well over 600 youths present, all participating in the various judging and athletic events. The registration book even contained one name from Texas and several from Boston, U.S.A.

All the other land tillers present did not include members of the Junior Farmers organization. There were many over the 31 year age limit of the organization and they made the most of the afternoon's activities.

Keen Competition

A steady roar of nine tractor engines for an hour and a half preceding the opening gave evidence of high interest in the tractor driving competition. And it was well founded evidence for the competition lasted over three hours and late last night the judges had not decided the winners.

Boys and girls of all ages entered the contest. Among the contestants was eight year old Plus Mulloy of Farmington, who wheeled the tractor around with the best of them.

Mr. Baker in the official opening noted with regret that most of the horses, except the racing animals, were being sold out of the province or destroyed. He stated that the girls sewing clubs were a very live factor in the province and praised the work of Misses Robins, Boswell and assistants.

President of the organization, Mr. William Cairns, Freetown presided over the activities. Others who spoke at the opening were Messrs. B. Frank Tinney and Gerge Ayers of the Experimental Farm.

Mr. David Boswell of Victoria proved he knew good Ayrsheires when he saw them by winning first prize in the Ayrsheire judging contest. Second prize was won by Scott MacArthur, Suffolk, and third prize by Ash Wood, Farmington.

Parker Jewell of Cornwall came to the fore in the poultry judging game to take first prize over Merilyn MacDonald of Morell who was placed second. Two other Morell boys, Robert Webster and Joe Steel tied for third place.

Display of Sewing

An excellent display of sewing work was provided by many girls in the centre, which had a provincial award for their district achievement day in conjunction with the field day and all of the girls clubs entered fine pieces of work.

Brackley won the sports events totalling 106 points in the various competitions. Cherry Valley walloped Lot 18 in a softball game and Tracadie behind the pitching of the veteran Lloyd MacCallum downed Eastern All-Stars.

The ideal weather conditions helped to make the refreshment and amusement booths centres of attraction. Rounding out the activities of the day was a mammoth dance at North River Rink last night.

All present complimented organizers, Morris Deacon, David Peacock, Elmer McIsaac, Hugh MacLean and others for their magnificent preparations for the Field Day.

GREGG STEPS

Mr. Gregg was succeeded in veterans' affairs by Hon. Hugues Lapointe, Solicitor-General, Justice Minister Garson adds Mr. Lapointe's job to his present portfolio.

Mr. Gregg, who sits for the New Brunswick constituency of York-Sunbury, enters into his third portfolio in taking over the Labor Ministry. He was Fisheries Minister briefly before going to Veterans' Affairs.

In announcing today's shifts, Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated more will come later by saying there will be no more changes "in the immediate future."

Observers believe forthcoming appointments will depend largely on day's developments and that today's adjustment was dictated by the likelihood of government action in the rail impasse.

While the new Minister is plunged cold into that situation without the background in labor affairs enjoyed by his predecessor, Mr. St. Laurent noted today that he will have at his disposal the counsel of an experienced and wise staff including Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister.

Wide Experience

The new minister, a native of Mountain Dale, N.B., has had wide administrative experience in both military and civilian life.

Between 1934 and 1939, he was Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Commons, which involves direction of the internal affairs of the Parliament buildings and control of a large staff.

In the Second World War, he commanded the West Nova Scotia Regiment overseas for a time and later was commandant of a reinforcement depot in England and of the army officers' training centre at Brockville, Ont. He ended the war as a Brigadier.

When Prime Minister Mackenzie King sought a New Brunswick minister in 1947 to replace the late Frank Bridges as Fisheries Minister, he chose Mr. Gregg, then President of the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton. Mr. Gregg was first elected to the Commons Oct. 20, 1947. He became Veterans Minister Jan. 20, 1948.

In recent months, the work of that department has been tapering off with the absorption of veterans of the Second World War into civilian life and the completion of training programs for their rehabilitation.

Speculation as to the choice of Mr. Gregg for the exacting and often turbulent labor portfolio suggests that one major ground may be the possibility of new manpower controls in the event of a general war.

Under the present set-up, the Labor Department would handle military call-ups and allocation of labor in industry. Any compulsory direction of manpower, it is suggested, would be made the more acceptable through the fact it stemmed from a veteran of two wars, and a V.C. at that, particularly in view of the large percentage of veterans in the labor force.

Says North Koreans Use Green Troops

By WILLIAM SHINN

U.S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, Aug. 7 (AP)— Lim Kwang Won, a war prisoner, said today the North Korean 1st Division crossed the Nakdong River near Hamchang and went into action with 6,000 green troops and 3,000 veterans.

The 20-year-old said: Most of the 6,000 new soldiers were picked up in the Seoul area of the South Korean Republic. He was impressed into the Red Army five days after the fall of Seoul, the Red-captured capital. About 5,000 others in his division were forced into the Communist army.

The 1st Division, which suffered heavy casualties in early fighting, had only three pieces of artillery and one jeep. Lim said it had one light machine-gun to a squad.

Lim's platoon and squad leaders were killed Saturday in battle with South Korean forces. He and others in his outfit did not know how to fight. He hid until the Reds retreated and then surrendered.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE

New Public Health Centre Provides Modern Facilities

The new Public Health Centre now nearing completion in Charlottetown will have accommodations for many laboratories and offices at present housed in the Provincial Sanatorium, and with the transferring of these will provide space at the Sanatorium for between thirty and forty more beds.

The Health Centre is adjoining the present building on Prince Street, through which entrance is made to the new structure. The building runs back from the present Centre for one hundred feet, with an L-shaped wing stretching towards Fitzroy. There will also be an entrance from Fitzroy Street, and a paved parking area will be available there.

A brick veneer building, the three floors have a floor space of approximately 13,900 square feet. Large windows have been used throughout giving the maximum light possible and layout of the laboratories and offices has been carefully planned to eliminate unnecessary steps and allow for the maximum of efficiency.

Under One Roof

One of the outstanding features of the new Health Centre is the fact that Agricultural Labs, Public Health Services and Vital Statistics will all be housed under the one roof. In the past much of this work has been done at the Provincial Sanatorium, in rather small quarters, while some has been done in the present Health Centre. Combining them all in the new Centre will save space, time, and allow for a smaller staff.

Laboratories at the Sanatorium are at present making tests every month of milk from the creameries in the Province, as well as testing drinking water at periodical intervals. Tests of this type, and work in the Agricultural Labs, there, have shown an increase of over six hundred per cent in the past eighteen months. Operating from the new Centre will facilitate this work tremendously, and provide much needed space for the technicians while tests are being made.

Entering the new building from the present Centre one walks along the corridor of the first floor which houses many of the laboratories formerly at the Sanatorium. These include a room which combines facilities for bacteriology and serology, a biological chemistry lab., butter testing lab., blood lab., histology lab., Red Cross blood transfusion lab., and a hot room for growing bacteria. Accommodation is also there for a much needed dark room for special microscopic procedures.

Other Facilities

A refrigerator, vital statistics offices, vault and research lab are also on this floor. Medical periodicals will be housed in the research lab for the use of all the medical profession. The department of Public Health and Welfare will have two offices on this floor.

The basement is the full size of the new building and also has the same large windows used in the upper floors. It is connected with the two other floors by a dumb waiter.

Close to the Fitzroy entrance is the butter sampling room and the refrigeration plant and deep freeze, which are being transferred from the Sanatorium and will provide better facilities for the increased work along these lines.

Three rooms are available for the work of the animal pathologist, three rooms for animal diagnosis, a central sterilizer, general preparational room, store room, lower rest rooms for the staff and the boiler room are all on this floor.

On Second Floor

The second floor will house the majority of the offices and investigating rooms for general public welfare work. These will include Old Age Pensions, Director of Child Welfare, Superintendent of Neglected Children, private rooms for investigators, accounting office, two offices for stenographic staff, two rest rooms, board room and offices of the Minister and Deputy Minister of Public Health and Welfare.

Although the date of the official opening has not been set, it is expected the Public Health and Welfare staff will move from their present offices in the Provincial Building early in September.

Air Cadets Visit British Commons

LONDON, Aug. 7 (CP)—Canadian air cadets today visited the House of Commons.

A party of 25 cadets, which will spend three weeks in the British Isles under a three-way exchange plan for Canadian, British and United States personnel, was shown around the Mother of Parliaments by W. J. Taylor, Conservative and National Liberal member for Bradford North.

Taylor, an honorary life member of the Air Cadet League of Canada, is one of a group which originated the idea of reciprocal visits by air cadets from the three countries. The plan started three years ago and is designed to assist closer co-ordination of cadet activities here and in North America. Taylor visited Canada last year as a guest of the R. C. A. F.

The touring Canadian group arrived by air last Friday. Next Sunday they have a tentative date to meet the King and Queen.

HALIFAX, Aug. 7 (CP)—A flying boat from No. 103 Rescue Unit at Greenwood, N.S., was damaged at Weather Station Alert, 600 miles from the North Pole, while attempting to take off with the bodies of nine men who died in the crash of a Lancaster bomber Monday.

The R.C.A.F. Search and Rescue centre here reported that no one was injured in the accident.

The Canso flying boat was damaged when it struck submerged ice. Extent of the damage is not known.

An ice-breaker is en route to Thule, on the northwest coast of Greenland, to pick up the crew of the Canso and the bodies of the Lancaster crash victims.

The Marine Corps said that it also is calling up additional organized units of its air reserve. Some air reserve units were summoned to active duty about three weeks ago.
