IN MEMORIAM

MRS. THOMAS W. MELLISH

The death took place in the Kings County Memorial Hospital, Montague on June 9th, 1954 of Mrs. Thomas W. Mellish, Union Road, Kings County, New Brunswick. She came suddenly, quietly and peacefully. A soul has left the earthly house to join the ranks of the redeemed in the Eternal Home.

Born Eliza Shaw, daughter of the late Daniel Shaw and his wife Bertha (MacPherson) Shaw, New Perth, the deceased was 71 years of age.

After completing her education she took up the study of nursing, and graduated from the Northampton Hospital, Northampton, Mass., later taking a post-graduate course in nursing at the Women's Free Hospital, Brookline, Mass.

For several years previous to her marriage she practised her profession in Canada, and the United States.

She possessed a kindly sympathetic disposition, deeply devoted to family and home. A home where genuine hospitality was shown to stranger as well as to friend.

Mrs. Mellish is survived by her husband, one daughter, Bertha, wife of Bruce MacPhee, Montague, and six sons: Charles, Lloyd, Douglas and Edwin of Union Road; Herbert of the R. C. A. F., staff Central, Ont., and Claude, Detroit, Mich. A son John L., of New Perth preceded her three years ago. Also surviving are thirteen grandchildren, one brother, John Shaw, Avonlea, Sask. A sister, Myrtle, Mrs. Roderick Agar, a half-sister, Mary wife of Henry MacLaren, two half-brothers, Dr. W. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Education and Fred Shaw all of Charlottetown, P. E. I.

The largely attended funeral was held from her late residence on Saturday, June 12th, with Rev. Kenneth W. Norris of Christ Church, Montague officiating, assisted by Rev. J. M. Fraser of Montague United Church.

Favourite hymns sung were, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," and "Abide With Me. A solo "loved by Grace" was feelingly rendered by Mrs. Ralph Beck.

Burial was in the family plot, Union Road Cemetery.

The Pallbearers were: Messrs. Vernon Ross, George Mellish, Robert Mellish, William Moar, Ernest Moar and William Walsh.

Members bereaved are as follows: Malcolm MacPhee, grandson of the deceased carrying the family pillow. George Kennedy, Charles Kennedy, Cyrus Martin, Reg Henneberry, Ernest Woodgate, Arthur Weatherlie, Ellsworth Ross and Jas. Anisic.

The beautiful floral offerings were silent tributes of love and esteem.

Family. Seed Potato Certification Station, Sergeant's Mess R. C. A. F. Station, Centralia, Ont.

NEW HAVEN W. I. The monthly meeting of the New Haven Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Hugh A. MacDonald on July 7 with an attendance of 13 members and two visitors.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Michael Murphy, occupied the chair.

The meeting opened by singing the Institute Ode and repeating the Creed in unison.

Roll call was answered with a cup.

The sick committee reported three calls, treats taken, and thanks expressed for same.

Correspondence was read including a "thank you" note from Mrs. John O. MacDonald for treat received while sick.

Next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Roland Buchanan Jr. Roll call is to be answered with an "auction sale".

Each member received a copy of the Institute News. A contest put on by Mrs. James Tierney was won by Mrs. Michael Murphy.

Mrs. Michael Murphy's nicely worded address was read by Mrs. Thomas Devereaux and a suitable gift presented by Mrs. Richard MacPhee on behalf of the Institute to Mrs. Louis Darrach, the occasion being her 50th wedding anniversary. All joined in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow". Lunch was served by the hostess.

Petal Painting--

Citizens of Genzano, Italy, put the finishing touches to a flower petal painting of the recently canonized Pope Pius X in observance of a 176-year-old religious festival. Three tons of fragrant petals were laid in design, paving a street leading to the St. Mary of the Top church. The petals, gathered in the spring, were assorted according to color and stored in damp caves. Some 50,000 people took part in the festival.

Sterns-Hayes Wedding

St. Anthony's Church, Fredericton, N. B. was the scene of a pretty summer wedding of widespread interest, when Rev. John F. Mooney with Ruptial Mass and the double ring ceremony united in marriage Dorothy Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Hayes, Fredericton, and John Edward Sterns, son of Mrs. George C. Bishop, Lexington, Ky., and the late John E. Sterns, Charlottetown, P.E.I. The altar was decorated in pink and white for the occasion, the altar baskets containing gladioli, carnations and lilacs. The pews reserved for the invited guests were marked with pink sweetpeas on silver dollies. Mrs. Frank Barry of Fredericton, was organist and Rev. J. Walter Coughlan of St. Stephen was soloist.

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Mary Hayes, Fredericton, as maid of honor. Miss Anne Marie Callaghan, St. John, as bridesmaid and little Miss Anne Robertson, niece of the bride, as flower-girl. The groomsmen were Mr. Gene Smith, Fredericton and the messrs. Messrs. Patrick Powers and William Robertson both of Fredericton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a floor length gown of white nylon net with satin underskirt over which she wore a charmingly lace coat. The fitted bodice with self covered buttons to the waist was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and long tapering sleeves. The skirt which was slightly entraine was in redingote style curved in a pannier effect. Her fingertip veil of embequied net fell gracefully from a Queen Anne headdress of nylon net and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and American beauty roses.

The gowns of the maid of honor and the bridesmaid were fashioned alike of nylon net over taffeta with matching lace boleros fashioned with stand up collars and elbow length sleeves, they wore matching millets and headdresses and carried bouquets of carnations, roses and baby mums. Miss Hayes wore a gown of tulle and Miss Callaghan wore shell pink. The flower girl was wearing a frock of pink nylon taffeta, the bodice was fashioned with pink tulle and puffed sleeves edged with lace and stand up lace collar, the overskirt of white brocade nylon sheer was held in place at the waist with a wide taffeta sash of pink tied with a bow in back. Her headdress was a band of white flowers and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations and baby mums.

Mrs. Hayes, mother of the bride, was wearing a gown of dove gray crepe with lace jacket, her accessories were black and white and she wore a corsage of Talsman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Robertson. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. John F. Mooney to which the groom happily responded. Mrs. Leo Currie was in charge of the guest book. Presiding over the tea and coffee cups were Mrs. Leo G. Smith and Mrs. L. E. Keenan. Friends of the bride assisted in serving.

Later Dr. and Mrs. Sterns left by auto for a trip through the New England and Southern States including Kentucky. For travelling the bride was wearing a dressmaker suit of navy linen with navy and white accessories and a corsage of American beauty roses. Dr. and Mrs. Sterns will reside in Fredericton. The bride attended Mount Carmel Academy in St. John and is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, St. John and has been on the staff of The Victoria Public Hospital, Fredericton. The groom attended Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, received his Doctor Veterinary Medicine from the University of Toronto and his Diploma in Veterinary Surgery from Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, Ontario.

British Business Leaders Accept Invitation To Visit Red China

By ARTHUR GAVSHON LONDON (AP) - Leaders of Britain's biggest industrial and commercial interests announced Friday they have accepted a Red Chinese invitation to send a mission to Peiping next November. The Sino-British trade committee, formed to boost business with Communist China, disclosed also it has received an official "assurance" that British firms now can deal directly with agencies of the Peiping regime. In the past they had to go through organizations accused by the British government of being fronts for local Communists.

In a statement issued after a 12-day parley with a nine-member Red Chinese trade mission, the British group stressed traders will continue to observe the United Nations embargo on the export of war-potential goods to the Communist country.

The Sino-British trade committee, representing five associations whose membership includes thousands of firms. They got together earlier this year and, with the full blessing of the government, invited the Chinese Reds to send their trade experts here in the hope of developing business between the two countries.

The committee's statement, issued at a press conference, said "satisfactory progress was made towards reaching an understanding" on such questions as: "Trade systems and conditions; the function of merchant and the utilization of Hong Kong; technical services and the representation of British manufacturing firms in China; methods of payment and trading terms including contracts, inspection of goods and arbitration; and the registration of British trade marks in China."

At the present time, Britain's exports to China represent less than one-fifth of one per cent of her total exports. China has relatively little to sell that Britain needs and her sterling resources are limited.

Thus, the British view is that the China market, while one to be developed, will be limited and competitive for some time, particularly since Germany has been sold more to Red China than any other country.

Strange But True

By F. H. MacArthur

This is the story of the tea kettle that squeaked on a thief. The kettle was on the kitchen range in the home of James Morgan accused by Fred Carriah of robbing him to $650. Two police went to Morgan's home to talk with him.

Morgan poo-hoed the story and the officers were about to leave when the kettle began to sing its song of robbery. One of the policemen looked in the kettle just for curiosity and there was the $650 brewing away.

Tired of living, Elaine Martinez, 24, of Biloxi, jumped off a wharf into the Mississippi River. A bystander, James Jensen, forgot that he couldn't swim a stroke and jumped in to rescue her. Miss Martinez remembering that she could swim, forgot all about drowning herself, swam to Jensen's rescue and saved both of their lives. Strange but true.

Couples have been married in the air, under the water, by Blacksmiths and in all sorts of queer places and by all sorts of queer people, but this couple I am about to tell you were married on a double scooter—a scooter built for two.

And believe it or not, the French bride and groom have begun a scooter trip that will take them across the United States and into Canada.

Antoine Baud, 29, and his bride Denise, 20, are eager to meet Canadians and Americans. They plan special stopovers in Chicago, San Francisco and Montreal.

The couple can speak a little English and will follow the route marked out for them by a friend in Paris.

If you happen to be out driving some day and meet a two-wheeled scooter, you'll know the riders are Mr. and Mrs. Baud.

Summer is a good time to talk about the grounds of your home and keep an eye peeled for attractiveness. Keeping grounds and surroundings attractive is everyone's business because your neighbors have to look at the same things you are forced to look at every day.

A house set among scarred surroundings and a lawn that boasts more weeds than an alley dog has fleas are an offense against your neighbor and a poor advertisement for you and your family. Well kept properties increase their value measurably.

A well manured lawn, plus a few nice shrubs and flowers will give the simplest home a well-groomed look.

You can't have those things in winter so why not have them in the old-fashioned summer time, when Mother Nature puts herself out to make every little plot a little paradise.

The fellow who invented the phonograph also invented the electric light. But that was using good old horse sense. Why? Because he knew people would start up half the night to use his electric light.

Boys' Piggyback Race - 1. Art Homler of Dalhousie dropped me a card the other day which is self-explanatory. I don't know if you ever heard this one or not. I was travelling through Victoria some years ago and stopped at a pit-sized grocery for a drink of pop and noticed the following sign in the window:

"We sell nothing on credit and very little for cash."

In an earlier column I told about seeing a horse-drawn lawn mower operating successfully in the cemetery at Canoe Cove. Since then I've come across two more interesting items about lawn mowers—everybody is interested in lawn mowers at this time of year—the first one showed a picture of a young feller manuring a lawn with two mowers attached to a bicycle. The second item described a mower with a headlight attached for nocturnal mowing and

Vye-Hiscott Wedding

St. John's United Church, Moncton, N.B., was the scene of a pretty wedding on June 8, when Jean Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hiscott, North Rustico, P.E.I., was united in marriage to Hima Lawlor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vye, South Nelson, N.B. The pastor, Rev. T. E. Archibald, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with bouquets of white carnations and pink snapdragons.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white French imported lace over nylon marquisette fashioned on princess lines with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The nylon net bouffant skirt featured lace panels over satin. Her matching fingertip veil was held in place by a queen's crown headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations, matching the only ornament was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Sadie Hiscott. She wore a floor-length gown of pink rayon marquisette over taffeta tapering to points over the hands. The nylon net bouffant skirt featured lace panels over satin. Her matching fingertip veil was held in place by a queen's crown headdress of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations, matching the only ornament was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

The bestman was Rev. Philip Gaudine, cousin of the groom. Mr. Cecil Arthur, brother-in-law of the bride and Mr. Albert Hanington, brother-in-law of the groom ushered.

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of navy blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Norman Sinclair room of the church. Dr. F. E. Archibald proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

The bride and groom spent their honeymoon touring Nova Scotia and other Maritime points. They will reside in Corner Brook, Newfoundland. For travelling the bride chose a tailored suit of teal blue with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Out-of-town guests included: — Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Davidson, Blackville, N.B., Mr. and Mrs. G. Henderson, Chatham Head, N.B., Mr. and Mrs. D. Gaudine, South Nelson, N.B., James W. Vye, South Nelson, N.B., Rev. and Mrs. Philip Gaudine, Waveland, N.B., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hiscott, Summerside, P.E.I., Miss Fern Hiscott, Vernon Hiscott, Leslie Hiscott and Miss Vivian Simpson, North Rustico, P.E.I., Miss Joyce Warren, Ottawa, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hanington, Shediac, N.B.
