Air Cadets On Training Flight

The Air Cadets of No. 60 (Charlottetown) were taken for their first training flight of the fall yesterday. A Dakota aircraft from R.C.A.F. Station Summerside, piloted by F/O Ray Lidgren and F/O Adair MacDonnell spent the day at the local airport taking the cadets up in groups of fifteen. Flights each lasting approximately one hour were made over the eastern part of the Island. The R.C.A.F. plan to take all cadets from this squadron on similar flights at least every two months. In addition, they plan to fly teams from the Charlottetown squadron to mainland centres for competition with other squadrons.

Yesterday's flight was just normal routine to the senior cadets, but to the thirty-two that enrolled this fall, it was in most cases their first time in the air, and they found it a thrilling experience.

This co-operation by R.C.A.F. Station Summerside is a valuable addition to the training received regularly on training nights and the flights were much enjoyed by the cadets and appreciated by squadron officers.

Sixty-four cadets are now under regular training and the number is expected to increase considerably during the next two or three months as boys may enroll any time up to the end of January.

INFORMAL DRESS

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — Witnesses who appeared in Supreme Court sessions wearing open-necked shirts were rapped by Mr. Justice R.E.F. Smily. "I think that people should realize that coming to court is a serious matter," he said, "and they should be on their best behaviour so far as their dress is concerned."

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son and brother, Flt. Sgt. J. Elmer Paquet of Souris, P. E. I., who died October 5th, 1943.

If I could place one flower on your grave
And you could pick the same,
I know you'd choose For-get-me-not
And I would do the same.

But peaceful be thy sleep dear Elmer
Life rolls on the same,
Some day we'll meet in heaven above
And clasp our hands again.

Always remembered by Mr and Mrs. J. Howard Paquet and Helen of Souris and Reg, R.C.A.F. Station in Chatham, N. B.

S. School Convention At Hunter River

The North West District Sunday School convention was held in Hunter River United Church on September 23 with the theme "Be Doers of the Word".

Afternoon session opened with worship service conducted by the Misses Avonna McAusland and Myrna Smith two junior members of New Glasgow Sunday School. Rev. Mr. Watterworth closed this part of service with prayer.

President Mr. Gordon Carew, said how pleased he was that secretary treasurer Miss Ella Semple was able to be present this year. Financial statement was given by treasurer. The president introduced Rev. Frank McLean of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown and Miss Louise Cox, Charlottetown. Miss Cox gave an interesting account of her work as student minister in the home mission fields of Alberta, giving a glimpse of the vastness of the work and the great need of laborers, at present so few.

Nominating and courtesy committees were appointed. Mrs. Jeremiah Simpson, Rev. Mr. Watterworth and Miss Anna Stevenson on nominating committee. Courtesy committee, Mrs. George Dunning, Mrs. Ernest Cousins, Mrs. Harry Weeks and Mrs. George Nisbet.

Rev. Frank McLean took charge and gave an instructive and educational discussion on "How Good a Teacher Am I?" A few of the important ratings of a good teacher—to be early, to get in touch with absentees, enlist the interest of the parents, attend the teachers' meetings regularly, plan social gatherings. A prayer by Rev. Howard Christie closed the afternoon session.

Evening session opened with worship service conducted by two teachers of Hunter River Sunday School, Mrs. Emmett Bernard and Mr. Roland Sherren, prayer by Rev. Howard Christie closed worship service.

Rev. Howard Christie introduced Mr. Ralph Rupert, Superintendent of Baptist Church Sunday School, Charlottetown. A dialogue presenting the great work done by the Maritime Religious Educational Council by five members of Hunter River Sunday School, Mrs. Eldon Seamen, Mrs. Lloyd Carew, Mr. and Mrs. George Nisbet and Mr. Harry Smith was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Gordon Carew presided at the evening meeting.

Mr. Ralph Rupert gave a talk on guiding children in worship, based on his own experience as a superintendent. He showed an interesting film strip on guiding children in worship, in the home, in the Sunday School and in the church. The key note of the film strip was prayer.

Committees gave their reports and the following officers were appointed; president, Mrs. Emmerson Murray, Fredericton; vice president, Mrs. George Dunning, North Granville; secretary treasurer, Miss Ella Semple, New Glasgow; boy's work secretary, Mr. George Nisbet, Hunter River; girl's work secretary, Mrs. Olaf Stevenson, North Rustico; children's work secretary, Mrs. Miller Stevenson, Fredericton.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Hunter River ladies for their hospitality also Rev. Frank McLean, Miss Louise Cox, Mr. Ralph Rupert, the retiring president Mr. Gordon Carew and all others who helped make the convention a success. Induction of new officers was by Rev. Howard Christie. The singing of "Happy The Home Where God Is There" and the benediction by Rev. F. W. Sawdon brought an interesting and instructive convention to a close.

Death Saturday of Mr. C. J. Mitchell

One of the Island's veteran newspapermen died unexpectedly in Ottawa Saturday in the person of Charles J. Mitchell. He was seventy-eight years of age. Only two weeks ago he had gone to the capital to live with one of his daughters following his retirement as telegraph editor of The Patriot.

The late Mr. Mitchell had a host of friends in this Province as his many years in the business and his facile pen made him widely known. His ability is perhaps best shown in the fact that he had no enemies.

He had been a newspaperman for nearly fifty years, having worked on The Islander, The Examiner, The Guardian and for several years past on The Patriot. He retired only last June and following the wedding of his daughter, Marjorie, also a Patriot staff member, had left last month for Ottawa.

One of the better known musicians of an earlier day, Mr. Mitchell was a player of note with many of the outstanding bands in the early part of this century. He was widely known as a bass viol player with the old League of the Cross band and also with several city orchestras. He was also a member of the St. Dunstan's Basilica Choir up until three years ago. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society, in both of which organizations he was active for many years.

Mr. Mitchell took a keen personal interest in the affairs of the city and in former years seldom missed a meeting of the City Council. For a long while he was also a member of the Volunteer Fire Department of this city and there were few calls to which he did not respond.

In his passing the city has lost a good newspaperman, a fine gentleman, and a host of reporters, past and present, have lost a good friend.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Mary Loretta Fitzgerald, Saint John, N.B., in 1940. Surviving are four daughters and a son. The daughters are Marjorie, Mrs. Dr. Frank O'Keefe, McAdam, N.B.; Betty, Mrs. Gordon McWade, Ottawa; Mary, Mrs. Louis Hennessey, Ottawa; and Marion, R.N., Charlottetown. The son, Gerald, also resides here.

The remains are expected to arrive here tonight and the funeral will be held from St. Dunstan's Basilica Wednesday morning with interment in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Cut-Over of Power Circuit Delayed

The scheduled cut-over by the Maritime Electric Company between the Barn on Malpeque Road and the Queen's Arms was not completed until 6.10 p.m. yesterday although planned for 5 o'clock. Officials of the Company attributed the delay to high winds and dust which made climbing and placing the wires on the new poles dangerous.

The change in location was made necessary through the widening of the North River Road.

The Maritime Electric Company circuit from Charlottetown to Souris was tied up for two hours yesterday afternoon between four and six p.m. when a portion of a large tree at Belvedere fell across the wires causing considerable damage.

Happy Ending

from a visit to properties of Fenimore Iron Mines Limited in iron-rich Ungava when the men dropped out of sight Aug. 25.

Aboard the pontoon-equipped plane which had been due to refuel at Nitchequon, half-way point on the 700-mile flight from Fort Chimo to Roberval were:

Ray Vanstone, Toronto student; Victor Abel, an experienced bushman from Senneterre, Que.; Klaas Koeten of Rotterdam, Holland; Rolph Theinhaus, German geologist from Seigen; Andre Levesque, Montreal; R. J. Mullin, Kenora, Ont.; and Richard Everitt, Montreal.

Mullin was the Norseman's pilot and Everitt, the flight engineer.

Spotted Norseman

Friday, the second day of a final RCAF sweep over the lake-dotted, heavily-wooded area southwest of Nitchequon, Sqn. Ldr. Jack Woods of St. John's, Nfld., spotted a Norseman dwarfed by tall forests around Lake Emmanuel.

Woods, piloting a Lancaster from the RCAF rescue service at Greenwood, N.S., dropped his big plane low over the lake, unidentified on many Quebec maps, and saw three men waving wildly.

Woods parachuted food to the three, signalled their position to his base at Bagotville and waited for the arrival of a Canso amphibian, owned by Mont Laurier Airways to which the missing Norsemen belonged.

Faint signals sent out Friday night by the Canso crew at Lake Emmanuel named the three men there as Vanstone, Koeten and Abel.

The Canso also signalled that the four others were not at Lake Emmanuel having set out the day before on foot in a bid to reach safety and tell of the location of the other three before winter gripped the northern region.

Knowing that Levesque, Mullin, Theinhaus and Everitt could not be far distant because of difficult travel through the bush, nine planes set out from Bagotville early Saturday to search a 900-square mile area around Lake Emmanuel.

At 9:15 a.m., an RCAF Canso, equipped with loud-speakers that blared advice to the four to light a fire that would locate them, spotted the men near Lake Emmanuel.

The Canso set down about a mile away, its crew went ashore to meet the four men and after feeding them flew them to Bagotville.

Lauded Pilot

All lauded the efforts of pilot Mullin who supervised distribution of their meagre rations, two men's rations for 30 days, and watched over the primitive comfort of the group.

Abel said a navigation error apparently took the Norseman off course westward of its Fort Chimo-Nitchequon flight route.

He said the flight Aug. 25 was made on a sunny day and by the time the Norseman had reached Lake Emmanuel it had only enough fuel to get down safely without opportunity to scout around and find its bearings.

Moved Plane

The party pitched camp and at first kept the Norseman anchored close to shore. As time went by and they occasionally heard aircraft too far distant to see their fires, they moved the plane farther out on the lake where it might be spotted.

While they awaited rescue, the party sent scouting groups out into the thick country around their camp to see if they could establish its location.

Dr. Theinhaus headed one party that explored northeastward to what was believed to be the tip of Lake Nichicun where the post of Nitchequon is located.

Around their campfire in a clearing on the rocky shore they discussed their chances of being found and finally concluded they had been given up as killed in a crash of their Norseman.

The lost men ate sparingly to make their food supply last as long as possible.

With a rifle the plane carried they brought down partridge. They snared rabbits but had bad luck when a fishing net was lost.

The only fish they were able to catch in supposedly teeming waters were two trout.

The men, clad in bush clothing that became tattered as the days went by, made berry-picking expeditions and found moss that had little taste but provided some nourishment.

Vanstone, 20-year-old student at the University of Toronto, lost 40 lbs. during the ordeal.

Mystery At Fifth Game of World Series

By Ted Smits

BROOKLYN, (AP) — The fifth game of the 1953 world series Sunday produced a baffling baseball mystery.

Who flashed the mirror from the apartment building on Bedford Avenue into the eyes of New York Yankee and Brooklyn Dodger batters?

"Somebody had it in a window about on the third floor," said Yankee manager Casey Stengel.

"He always came up with it when a guy was swinging. It looked like a big mirror. He was doing it to both teams."

At one point play was held up while the umpires huddled. "The right field fence of Ebbets Field borders Bedford avenue. The apartments are about 500 feet from home plate.

The feeling in the Yankees' dressing room, seemed to be universal that the pivot game of the series had been won.

"Pretty good," Stengel muttered. Several of the players smiled and as the door was closed for the customary five-minute "cooling" period a few mild shouts were actually heard outside.

Stengel settled down to a happy, rambling discussion of the game. "First day we've hit," he said. "Jim McDonald did a real good job. He fielded his position good, and saved us some trouble. Allie Reynolds had good stuff. Maybe he'll come in handy tomorrow or the next day.

Mickey Mantle, the grand slam hero of the day, displayed a red bruise on his left thigh where he was hit by a line drive from the bat of Irv Noren during batting practice. The ball also bruised the knuckles of his left hand. For a few moments before the game started there was a question if he would play.

Mickey said he hit "a belt high curve" for the big smash in the third that wrecked the Dodgers' hopes—"the same kind of ball they were throwing me the other day."

Death Yesterday Of Mr. John Gormley

Mr. John Gormley, well known brick mason of this City passed away unexpectedly at the Charlottetown Hospital yesterday at the age of 73. The late Mr. Gormley who was a master at his trade, worked on almost every building of brick construction that has been erected in Charlottetown during the last 50 years.

In his younger days he was well known in sporting circles, where as a member of the old Abegweit hockey team he played forward and was reputed to have the hardest shot of any member on the team. On one occasion, he captained the team to Newfoundland. Mr. Gormley also played football and was interested in baseball.

The deceased who was a member of the Knights of Columbus, was unmarried and the only surviving member of his family. Nephews and nieces residing in the City are Leo Corcoran, Arthur Gormley, Hilda Corcoran, Mrs. Sylvere DesRoches and Dorothy Gormley.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning from the residents of his brother-in-law, Mr. Harry Corcoran, to Saint Dunstan's Basilica.

Quebec Farmer Sentenced To Hang

MONTREAL, (CP) — Fortunat Dubuc, 53-year-old farmer from St. Isidore de Laprairie, Que., was sentenced Saturday to be hanged Jan. 15 for the poison-murder of his wife.

A Court of Queen's bench jury debated three hours before bringing in a verdict of guilty. Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure, donning a black three cornered hat and black gloves, ordered that Dubuc be hanged in Montreal's Bordeaux jail. Defence Attorney Alexandre Chevalier said he will appeal the verdict.

The heavy-set, wealthy farmer was grim-faced as he heard the sentence. He was accused of giving his wife strychnine poison last April so he could marry a 17-year-old domestic from the couple's farm.

When asked by Mr. Justice Lazure if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Dubuc replied simply:

"I am not guilty".

HOLMAN STORE NEWS

— G. H. M. —

YOU can wear it a dozen different ways . . . and I'm not foolin' because the fabulous, the flippant TURN-ABOUT BONNET lends itself to versatile arrangement. Only just arrived in the Millinery Section, these darling little Hats have all the dating points for Fall flattery. They are made in a number of exciting color combinations—fine French jersey, banded and buttoned in the back, they allow for any type of hair styling with great aplomb! They tell me that the TURN-ABOUT is just 24 hours from Paris, and this little hit of a Hat will cost you only 4.95 in the Millinery Section at Holman's.

"FINE feathers make fine birds" (so the story goes!) Anyway fine FEATHERS will make a fashionable chapeau of your last season's model. The Millinery Section has a really terrific collection of fascinating Feathers in every color you could desire. This morning, I poked around and noticed perky, tailored quills, shimmering coque feathers, soft wings, luxurious pheasant feathers and the new bejeweled novelties. Dress up your last season's Hat with a smart new Feather—you'll wear it and gather compliments on it over and over again. Fine Feathers are priced from 59 cents to 1.25 each in the Millinery Section at Holman's.

THESE cool, cool mornings it's pretty swell, when you arise from your warm, warm bed, to be able to climb into a pair of cozy LINED DUNGAREES. . . . The doting mommas of boys who take sizes anywhere from 6 to 16 will welcome the news that the Boys' Shop has Winterized Dungarees with comfortable doeskin lining in an assortment of bright plaids. The Dungarees, in the slick Western style (narrow legs), are Sanforized, triple stitched, bar tacked and riveted. They will really and truly give lots and lots of good, long, tough wear. For school and play, the boys demand Dungarees and the Fall season calls for lined ones. . . . So here they are, priced 3.98! By the way, the salesman told me to be sure to mention that these have a big dome fastener on the waist band and a neat zipper fly. You can get Western style LINED DUNGAREES in the Boys' Shop at Holman's.

HOLIDAYS

In order to give our staff a well-earned rest, we will close for a holiday October 6th to October 19th.

We will be open again on Tuesday, October 20.
