Charlottetown and Lawn Tennis (Pictou News.)

A party of eighteen members of the Pictou Lawn Tennis Club went over to Charlottetown on invitation from the Fitzroy and Micmac Clubs of that city, to play a match game. Leaving here at mid-day, after an hour's delay at Pictou landing, we set sail, figuratively speaking, on the S. S.
St. Lawrence, and had a most delightful afternoon's trip across the Straits. The weather was perfect, the Gulf wreathed its face in its sunniest smile, just enough of a sea to make it lively. The Glee Club were in good voice, and old Neptune was serenaded by the festive strains of "Merrily we roll along," "Evilina," "In the morning by the sunrise," and other time-honored choruses, the Singing Lancers and Quadrilles being a special feature of the programme. At seven o'clock, p. m., we threw our lines, and, on landing on the wharf were met by a committee of ladies and gentlemen from both above clubs, and driven to the Rankin House, (and just here the party must thank "mine host and lady" of that caravanserie for their care and attention during our short sojourn with them.) At nine o'clock we went to the
"At Home," given by the combined clubs, which was a very brilliant affair. The unoccupied residence of Owen Connolly was beautifully fitted up for the occasion, two double rooms and a side room was used for dancing, and were decorated with floral tennis rackets, nets and balls, and all the paraphernalia pertaining to the game, making a beautiful effect. The reception room was presided over by the Chaperones Mesdames Sullivan, Rayden and Palmer. The upper part being used for Card Rooms, Supper Rooms, and Cloak Rooms. The house and grounds were beautifully illuminated; there were convenient corners, a broad stairway, and dimly lighted verandahs for quiet flirtations, waxed floors, and splendid music from the 82nd Band, a brilliant assemblage of "fair women and brave men" who glided in the mazy waltz, flirted on the stairways, chatted and laughed in the halls and doorways, and made a scene of brightness and beauty that rivalled fairyland. The Chaperones and Committee soon made our party "at home" in the true sense of the word. Supper was served at twelve o'clock, and dancing prolonged until the small hours, when the Clubs had positively to retire for the necessary rest required for the contest on the following day, or words to that effect.
Next morning we did Charlottetown.
Some of the ladies escorted us through the Market, it being market day, and a sight well worth seeing, the government buildings, gardens, and other places of interest, the Colonel exchanged a few reminiscences at the U. S. Consulate, our two professionals had a practice at the Courts, the effect of which was afterwards felt, the religious minded ones inspected the Churches, and others made a few morning calls. After lunch we drove out to the beautiful grounds of the Clubs. The Courts are splendidly situated by the shore of the harbor, level as a billiard table and beautifully kept, surrounded by a charming drive, and enclosed with shade trees. When the game was commenced, the players in costume, numerous on-lookers and spectators seated on rustic benches, on foot, and in carriages, tents and nets, the green courts lined in white, the ladies in brilliant costumes, and the sea glistening in the sunlight showing through the trees altogether, made a charming and picturesque sight, which had to be seen to be appreciated.
Of the match game itself, well it's a painful subject, to the visiting team at least, therefore "the least said is soonest mended." The Fitzroy and Micmac clubs had a walk over—they beat us, to speak in our western vernacular "out of our boots" or rather tennis shoes—but we can easily explain this, as we had met the lady players at the dance the previous evening, and one glance across the net was sufficient, it was the old story of veni, vidi, vici, only reversed. However, it is no disgrace to be beaten by players like the Charlottetown clubs, they can get up a team that can semi-circle around any players that the Lower Provinces can produce, besides, we had been treated with so much kindness, courtesy and attention, that we would not have had the heart to beat them even if we could, don't you know. In the evening a boat sail on the beautiful harbor with a fresh breeze on our lee, a pale moon, balmy air, sweet voices and an intermingling of the Block House light with the Electric illumination from the city co-mingling on the rippling water, sped by the evening hours with changeful rapidity. How does that strike you?—
Sweet maiden with the yellow hair, What golden memories round me float; Again your hand is clasped in mine As lightly speeds along our boat;
The city's lights are left behind.
"Bout ship" aloud our Skinner cries, Alas "bout ship's" too late, my heart's A willing captive to you eyes.
At seven o'clock on Wednesday morning we stood on the deck of the St. Lawrence, and waved a farewell adieu to the party assembled on the wharf to see us off. The gentleman who had "murder" on the brain, furtively wiped a tear from his left cheek, and hung his harp on a weeping willow tree, as the party on the wharf and the one on the steamer exchanged cheers and handshaking, hat and handkerchief waving, Auld Lang Syne and other affectionate tokens of farewell. A pleasant sail home, with only three wounded severely on the trip, ended the pilgrimage.

The members of the Pictou Lawn Tennis Club jointly and severally wait across the sparkling waters of the Straits of Northumberland unto Charlottetown, the capital of the Tight Little Island, their thanks and deep appreciation for the kindness, courtesy, and general attention bestowed upon them by the members of the Fitzroy and Micmac Clubs, the friends and accompani-ances joined with them, their heirs and assigns forever.

Adieu, Adieu kind friends, Adieu, Adieu, Adieu;
We can no longer stay with you, oh, stay with you.
I'll hang my harp on a weeping willow tree And may the world go well with thee.

TEEMER EASILY DEFEAT: HANLAN.

The race between Hanlan and Teemer, three miles with a turn, for $ 000 a side and the championship of America, took place at Toronto on Saturday afternoon, resulting in an easy victory for Teemer. It was feared that the race would not come off, owing to the lumpy condition of the water, but during the day the wind changed and by four o'clock, when referee Busbie went over the course, the water was comparatively smooth and he ordered the men out. They agreed to be at the starting point at 5.30 o'clock sharp. It is estimated that over 20,000 people were assembled on the island to witness the race, and the course was lined with hundreds of boats of every description. There was little or no betting, offers of $300 to $200 and $500 to $300 on Hanlan being made without any takers.
The general belief was that Hanlan would win and even Teemer's friends held back, refusing to bet, except at long odds. The judges were Peter Dwyer, of New York, for Teemer, and John Davis, of Windsor, for Hanlan. At 5.30 Hanlan made his appearance, which was the signal for great cheering. Teemer quickly followed, and was also greeted with cheers.
Both men were in splendid condition, and a race for blood was anticipated. Teemer won the toss, and chose the south side of the course, which was nearest the shore. At five minutes past six, when the men got into position, referee Busbie sang out, "Are you ready, go," and Teemer instantly shot to the front.
The pace for a few minutes was terrific, Han-lan pulling 32 to the minute, and Teemer 33.
Teemer kept about a couple of lengths ahead all the way down to the turning point. Here both made an ugly turn, Teemer striking his buoy, which delayed him for a second or two. He turned, however, five seconds ahead of Hanlan. By this time they were pulling, Hanlan 29 and Teemer 34. Shortly after starting on the home stretch a yacht clumsily fouled Teemer and delayed him for a few seconds, but not sufficient to enable Hanlan to get on even terms with him. He spurred and quickly placed three lengths behind himself and Hanlan. Hanlan's friends encouraged him in every way and he gamely resisted, but it was no use. Teemer won easily by at least a couple of lengths. The official time was 19.31. There was dead silence among the vast crowd, not a single cheer being raised for the victor. There was intense disappointment at the result. Teemer all through pulled grandly and completely out-rowed Hanlan. Hanlan leaves for Australia to-morrow.

A Lesson in Discipline.

On the train crossing the Rocky Mountains I heard a teamster tell about a mother bear and her cub, giving a good example to human mothers in family government. This man was going up the mountain for pine logs, driving a wagon.
On the top of a large rock by the side of the road was a young bear, the mother having started up the mountain on the approach of the team. "The cub looked so cute," said the teamster, "lying there with its paws dropping over the edge of a rock, watching the horses as they came up. Presently the old bear came bounding back to the cub, and, giving it a nudge with her nose, started up the mountain again, expecting the young one to follow. But the cub made no move. The old bear then came back the second time and, taking up the cub in her arms, gave him several cuffs. This time the cub obeyed orders and followed the old bear in a gallop up the side of the mountain."—Our Dumb Animals.

Moncton Again Excited

OVER THE SCOTT ACT—A MAGISTRATE SEN-TENCED TO TWENTY DAYS IN JAIL.

Scott Act troubles in Moncton have entered upon a new phase. Some time ago Daniel Holland, saloon keeper, was proceeded against for violation of law and convicted. He was in an advanced stage of consumption and fatal results were feared if imprisoned.
Finally a compromise was effected, Holland paying $8 cost, agreeing to ship his liquors to Halifax and go out of the business, in consideration of which the fine was not pressed.
Holland did not keep his agreement and lately was again proceeded against, an attempt also being made to recover the old fine. Holland then brought action against David Grant, the Scott Act lawyer, for compounding felony, and on Saturday judgment was given by sitting magistrate Smith, and Grant sentenced to twenty days in jail. Grant, who is also a sitting magistrate for the town in common with Mr. Smith, was not in town when judgment was given, having left the night before.
It is said similar proceedings will also be instituted against two local clergymen and other members of the temperance committee who acted with Grant. There is great excitement in the town.

MESSES. F. W. KINSMAN & Co.—Gents:
"I have sold your Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam over my counter for nine years, and I must say that during an experience of twenty-six years in the retail drug business, I have never sold anything for coughs, colds, etc., that has given such universal satisfaction as your Adamson's Botanic Balsam. I recommend it above all others. Yours truly, S.
Chichester, 337 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N.
Y." Trial bottles 10 cents. dwy lw

EVERY woman knows them. The human body is much like a good clock or watch in its movements; if one goes too slow or too fast, so follow all the others, and bad time results; if one organ or set of organs works imperfectly, perversion of functional effort of all the organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct issue of the abnormal action of the uterine system. For all that numerous class of symptoms—and every woman knows them—there is one unfailing remedy, Dr. Pierce's favorite prescription, the favorite of the sex.
