

- 89—5, When I visited this district, Miss McKinnon was absent on a visit to her parents, with the permission of the Trustees; but she is much esteemed for her conduct and character as a teacher. I had an opportunity of inspecting her Register, which is duly kept.
- 90—1, Fair. 2, Fair. 3, Fair. 4, Earnest and able. 5 The house, when finished as intended, will reflect great credit on the enterprising people, who have lately settled in this place. The organization judicious, and several children have already made good progress. This promises to become a Model Primary School for others in the surrounding neighborhood. Examined, 21.
- 91—1, Fair. 2, Fair. 3, Fair. 4, Fair. 5, the people are not so anxious now as formerly, and the character of the school is not what it should be; the attendance is so irregular that the young teacher is embarrassed and discouraged. Examined.
- 92—1, Good. 2, Good. 3, Fair. 4, able and attentive. 5, The House is objectionable, but the Teacher has the classes arranged to remedy the inconvenience. The classification is systematic. After the primary, I examined boys studying the rudiments of Latin, with whom I was well pleased. In such a mixed School, the Teacher deserves encouragement for his attention to Algebra, Latin and English Composition. Examined, 30.
- 93—5, This school resembles the Brooklyn, in the system and the success with which it is conducted. The children are nearly equal in age and aptitude. The Rev. A. Munroe, who examines duly the schools in his parish, endorses my opinion of Miss M. Stewart's success and abilities as a Teacher.
- 94—1, Good. 2, Good. 3, Explanatory. 4, Fit and faithful. 5, Mr. Martin has been in the profession for many years, and three in this district. He is respected for his assiduity in developing the talents of his pupils, and, by his judicious method of raising a spirit of competition among them, the school exercises and "home-tasks" are diligently prepared. The examination satisfactory. Examined, 32.
- 95—1, Fair. 2, Good. 3, Fair. 4, Intelligent and generally esteemed "worthy." 5, The population is dense, and in comfortable circumstances, but the children are neither regular nor punctual in the school, I often see some going thither so late that I accused them of truancy and reprov'd them. The scholars in the higher classes are making fair progress, considering their attendance. Reading, Grammar and Arithmetic well taught. Examined, 25.
- 96—1, Good. 2, Good. 3, Satisfactory. 4, Reliable. 5, This School is organized with creditable skill. The Children classified according to their ages and attainments, and advanced when qualified to enter a higher department. The management of this School is similar to the plan followed in the Uigg School.
- 97—5, Mr. McPhail's character, his zeal and abilities as a Teacher, are well known and appreciated. His unremitting exertions to discharge his arduous duties have been such as to benefit the youth of Belfast and his ardour is skill unabated.
- 98—5, Mr. McDonald raised this School to creditable efficiency; his successors wished to realize success—and Mr. Beaton's efforts are praiseworthy. The primary classes fairly taught, and the higher acquitted themselves well. When Examined, 27.
- 99—1, Fair. 2, Good. 3, Good. 4, A young man of good abilities and character. 5, This School was well managed by the late master, Mr. R. Finlay, and the scholars are also improving under the present Teacher, in Reading, Arithmetic, and Writing. Lessons in Algebra and useful Information are sometimes given to those of the boys who have a fair knowledge of Grammar, Geography and Etymology. Examined, 30.
- 100—1, Fair. 2, Fair. 3, Suitable. 4, No experience in "School-keeping," but he is attentive. 5, Mr. Peter McQueen left this School in a thriving condition, which Mr. Finlay endeavoured to keep up. The Inhabitants of Orwell Head Settlement should be included in this, and the House erected near the Kirk, Uigg, and Cross Road. Examined, 26.
- 101—1, Fair. 2, Good. 3, The common method. 4, Efficient. 5, The children are making respectable progress, and the master is attentive to his duties. The House is too small and needs repair. Examined, 27.
- 102—5, The condition of this school is nearly the same as reported last year. Miss Mellish has succeeded Mr. Morrissey, who was teaching when I visited. Miss Mellish made a good appearance in the Normal School and is well qualified.
- 103—Mr. Butler has adopted a new organization in all the departments, and the school is now in a very flourishing condition. Examined, 35.
- 104—5, The children have always made a very creditable appearance at examinations. The good relations between Mr. McNeill and his pupils are remarkably gratifying. Examined, 24.
- 105—1, good. 2, The usual. 3, Judicious. 4, Competent. 5, The several classes are faithfully taught and Mr. Currie makes praiseworthy efforts to attain the distinction of being a useful teacher. Examined, 22.
- 106—1, Good. 2, Good. 3, Fair. 4, Active. 5, Mr. A. McQueen taught during Mr. McSwain's absence in the Province of New Brunswick. The condition of the School has not deteriorated. Mr. McSwain has resumed the management with hopeful prospects. Examined, 24.
- 107—5, The teacher sustains his character for fidelity and attention; and the children doing well, but their progress and proficiency are hindered by the drawbacks noticed in my last Report, which have not been remedied.
- 108—5, The scholars are very apt, and their appearance at examinations reflects credit on the teacher, who is painstaking and skilful. The parents take a lively interest in their school. Examined 31.
- 109—5, Miss McTavish is well qualified, but the people are culpably remiss and negligent in school affairs. They are able to maintain a respectable school, if a few of them were less selfish. Examined 18.
- 110—1, Fair. 2, Good. 3, Good. 4, very suitable. 5, The House is commodious, comfortable and fairly furnished. The junior classes are making steady improvement, and several in the higher are satisfactorily proficient. Reading, Grammar and Arithmetic are taught with judgement. Mr. McKenzie is successful in teaching the practical Branches, and is a useful District Teacher. D. Fraser and Wm. McLean, Esqrs., were present at the last examination and seemed well pleased. Examined, 28.
