A DISPATCH from Petitoediac, N. P., of the 24th reports that a fire broke out at 9.30 that evening in the store of G. L. Brown & Co., and burned all the buildings between the bank and Humphrey & Triggs store. Several families are out in the street and homeless. The loss is very heavy, and but for the superhuman efforts put forth the whole of the buildings on the main street would have been destroyed. The insurance on the property destroyed is very small, and some of the sufferers will doubtless be ruined.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Debate on the Address.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.

After the presentation of several petitions the Speaker announced the order of the day, upon which

Mr. Everett began a speech, moving the adoption of an address in answer to the Governor-General's speech. His cheerful voice and his fluent delivery immediately claimed the attention of the House.

Mr. Ward, who seconded the answer, spoke of the agricultural prosperity.

Mr. Blake attacked Mr. Everett and the Government.

Sir John ably replied.

Sir Richard Cartwright, who followed, repeated his exodus speech, incorporating in it his usual remark upon the increase of the debt.

Hon. Mr. White ably followed.

Mr. Davies then spoke, denouncing the Government for its treatment of the fisheries question.

Mr. Mitchell said he thought the Government should have put a hundred thousand dollars in the estimates for the protection of the fisheries, two years ago, to show the United States we were in earnest. He thought the duty should be taken off coal and flour, and reduced on sugar and cotton.

The clauses of the address were then passed and the House adjourned at 10.45.

The following is the peculiar verdict rendered by the jury at Sydney, C. B., touching the death of Capt. Macdonald:—

"That the deceased came to his death from taking off his two coats and vest and going towards a sleigh owned by one Wm. Grantmyer, with whom he was seen in a scramble; and that he was seen to fall from a push or blow, and died from exposure. The jury further find McLean was blameable for going off with deceased's coats and not looking after him."
