
SEA WALL PROJECT MAKES PROGRESS

Construction of the new sea wall on the east side of the Marine Wharf in Summerside is progressing favorably and should be completed about the latter part of June. Workmen are seen above knee-deep in water yesterday afternoon as they replace a section of crib work which was destroyed by wind and rough water on Monday, before the cement could be poured. When completed the sea wall will extend seaward from the shore line beside Jim MacLean's Service Station and be connected to the existing wharf wall to form a continuous sea wall to the outer end of the wharf.

S'side Branch Red Cross Society Has Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Summerside Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held yesterday afternoon in their new quarters located in the old Prince County Hospital on Central St. with the president, Mr. J. Frank Arnett presiding.

Mr. Arnett expressed the regret of all members at the real loss sustained by the organization in the Town Hall fire in Feb. 1955 in which valuable records and equipment were lost, but spoke with pleasure of the convenience of the new quarters in the second floor of the old hospital.

Mrs. F. W. Strong read the financial report for the past year which showed a healthy statement on the year's finances.

Mrs. Victor Travers reported for the women's work committee which showed a magnificent amount of work had been completed. Her report showed that the local branch together with rural branches, organizations and individuals had completed 1,849 articles, including 301 pairs of socks, 232 pullovers, 30 layettes containin 19 articles each, 10 quilts and 7 crib covers donated by Women's Institutes. The women also made baby gowns, vests, children's dresses and numerous other articles. Great credit was also extended to the Summerside Division of the Catholic Women's League for their splendid work.

Miss Gladys Holman read the report on first aid along with swimming and water safety which revealed that in the latter almost 500 boys and girls were enrolled in Summerside in primary, junior and senior classes of swimming and water safety. Miss Holman also read the disaster relief committee report which was under the chairmanship of Mr. Ewen Nicholson and which was organized in 1954. In this report she stated that Mr. Gordon MacDonald paid a fine tribute to Mr. Nicholson at the annual meeting in Charlottetown for the excellent work of him and his committee, in cooperation with the summerside Town Council,after the ice storm last January at which time the disaster committee performed an excellent service to various communities.

The loan cupboard of sick room supplies report revealed that 69 articles were loaned in 1955 as far as the present records are concerned but records for the first part of the year were unfortunately lost in the Town Hall fire. Articles loaned included hospital beds, wheel chairs, crutches and other sick room supplies. Two blood donor clinics were held last year with a total of 713 donors and the cooperation of the local branch of the Canadian Legion was stressed.

The meeting approved the re-election of the present slate of officers before adjournment. Tea was served by the workers.

Sreet Lighting Restored To Portion Of S'side Last Night

After five months of night-long darkness, street lighting was restored to some sections of Summerside last night, giving almost a carnival atmosphere to the town by comparison with the absence of light which has prevailed since January 6th when street lights, along with power and communication lines were completely destroyed by a disastrous sleet storm.

Power and communication lines were restored as quickly as possible, but the town has remained in darkness in so far as street lighting is concerned.

Recently the restoration of the street lighting system was begun and last night the street lights again provided illumination in an area extending from the east to west ends of the town, and roughly bounded on the north by Fitzroy and North Market Streets and extending south to, but not including Water Street.

Other sections of the town will be lighted as quickly as the system can be rebuilt.

Plans For Air Force Day Now Nearing Completion

Officials at R. C. A. F. Station, Summerside yesterday announced that plans for that station's Air Force Day celebrations were rapidly nearing completion. A full full afternoon's program is planned with something included for every spectator. The local base is holding its open house on June 9th, commencing at 1.00 o'clock AST and continuing until 5.00 p. m.

From the moment that the gates open until closing time there will be a constant parade of features and special events that will interest young and old alike. The static displays in number 5 hangar will be open for inspection throughout the afternoon and this year includes several never before seen at Summerside. The display erected by the radio officer section at 2 (m) OTU is one that will be sure to attract throngs when the radio men display a new type of radar with rays so powerful that they can light flashbulbs by holding them at a distance from the antenna. Almost every section on the station is contributing something towards making the afternoon a success. The Station Fish and Game Association members, who last year provided a varied display of Island wildlife are once again going all out with their display. Indeed, most of the equipment used at Station Summerside will be available for inspection by the public.

The open air portion of the program will be if anything, more interesting. A kiddies' train will operate all afternoon, taking loads of the small fry on tours around the station. At 2.30 Summerside's own Air Cadet Squadron will exhibit the training they have received during the winter when they show their skill in a precision drill exhibition while their cadet band accompanies them.

The official opening of the airshow will take place at 3.00 o'clock followed by two hours of thrills as the men of the R. C. A. F. put a wide assortment of aircraft through their paces. Neptunes, Lancasters, Mitchells and an assortment of civilian light aircraft will flash by the spectator area in a wide assortment of manoeuvers. Jet aircraft of several types will also be seen during the afternoon when T-33's, Sabres, and CF-100's come in from other bases across Canada to take part in the show.

A break in the flying at 3.30 will allow a flight of Girl Air Cadets from North Sydney to display their skill at precision drill. Shortly afterwards an airwoman will be presented to the crowd as queen for the day. Eight of the airwomen will participate in a contest in the static display hangar at 2.00 o'clock and will be judged on their personality, grace and charm by a panel of civilian judges from Summerside. The one chosen queen will be crowned on the dais by the Lieutenant Governor of the Province and will reign over the base for the day.

It looks like quite a day that the Air Force has scheduled for the citizens of P. E. I. on June 9th and an invitation is extended to everyone to come to the station on that day to see the Air Force in operation.

Let's Talk It Over

The Montreal Gazette gives the reason, as it is very often glibly given, that because life is competitive, pupils in school should also compete against each other. What those who argue thus do not seem to realize is that life is not competitive in the same sense as school is. The competition in life is largely between people of similar background and more nearly equal between people of similar background and more nearly equal gifts. In what sense, for example, does the professional man compete against the day laborer? In their youth in the classroom, however, they are placed in direct competition with each other, with the boy of limited capacity hopelessly outclassed before he begins to try.

You may have sitting next to each other in school a boy who will be some day a top bracket civil engineer and a boy who because of his forebears and background generally hasn't a chance to keep pace with the other in mathematics, but he is placed in direct competition with him nevertheless, and the naturally clever boy gets all the rewards and the praise, though it may well be he has exerted himself less than the other. In the pursuits of life, the common man is able to gain rewards for industry and to make some worth-while achievemnts in his lowly sphere of activities. The trouble with school competition we're putting all the green horses in the free-for-all.

Health Centre Ladies Aid Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Stewart Memorial Health Centre Ladies' Aid was held at Rectory, Port Hill. The president Mrs J.A. Stewart conducted the meeting which opened with the Lord's Prayer.

Thirteen members answered roll call. The minutes of the last meeting reviewed the improvements made to the hospital, the redecorating of the dining room and kitchen. A new aluminium door had been hung on the office entrance. Following a discussion concerning the X-Ray, the Ladies Aid finalized their plans to purchase an X-Ray machine for the Health Centre.

Mrs. Stewart had requested Mr. Henry Maynard to contact the road engineer to make plans to surface the hospital front court.

Concerning the flower show and lobster supper at the Ellerslie Orange Hall, the president reported the following plans: Mrs. Frank Hardy with a committee from the Freeland Institute would cook the lobsters and deliver them to the hall. Two Institues reported they would cook their own donation of lobsters. Four tables would be set and arrangements were made to decorate the hall the evening before. The proceeds from the lobster supper and flower show will assist in purchasing the X-Ray machine for the hospital.

Donations were acknowledged from Mt. Pleasant Institute and from Conway Institute for baby cupboard and from the Port Hill Institute for a box of canned goods and one pair of pyjamas. Mrs. Spurgeon Dyment donated a baby gown.

Bon voyage wishes were extended to Miss Sonja and Mrs. Horace Lidstone, two nurses on the staff who are vacationing in Europe. Announcement was made that the annual meeting of the Health Centre will be held June 18th. at Tyne Valley.
