Strange, but True

The child that cannot digest milk can digest Cod-liver Oil as it is prepared in Scott's Emulsion. Careful scientific tests have proven it to be more easily digested than milk, butter, or any other fat. That is the reason why puny, sickly children, and thin, emaciated and anæmic persons grow fleshy so rapidly on Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

New Inventions and Discoveries in the Industrial and Social Worlds.

In an account of the wood-bending industry a writer in the Woodworker remarks that comparatively few persons outside the carriage and boat building interests are aware of its extent, and but few realize that the carriages they ride in are very largely made of such wood—the felloes of all their wheels are bent and made in two parts—the framework of coaches and heavy carriages is nearly all made of bent stock, and not only better made, but more cheaply—and the frames of pleasure boats are bent, as also many of the frames of the finest sailing yachts; furniture, too, of many kinds, has bent frames, all the celebrated Thonet chairs, for example, being made entirely of wood thus treated. The object of bending is twofold, namely, saving of time and stock, and stability and strength of the work when put together—this independent beauty of form; and bent carriage shafts are almost, if not entirely, used now, instead of the old style, clumsy, sawed ones. Skill in manipulating the material is very essential; simply the forms to bend on, and the steam box in which to soften the wood do not alone insure success in the operation—it is necessary to know perfectly the stock to bend, it being so variable that no two pieces bend alike.

Properties of a New Alloy.

Recent investigations pursued by Margot have established the interesting fact that an alloy composed of 95 parts of tin and 5 of zinc melts at 200 degrees, and becomes firmly adhered to glass, and, moreover, is unalterable and exhibits a most attractive metallic lustre. He has further ascertained by this experimenter, that an alloy consisting of 90 parts of tin and 10 of aluminum melts at 390 degrees, becomes strongly soldered to glass, and is possessed of a very stable brilliancy. With these two alloys it is possible, it is claimed, to solder glass as easily as it is to solder two pieces of metal and this operation may be done by soldering the pieces of glass, when heated in a furnace, by rubbing their surface with a rod of solder, the alloy as it flows being evenly distributed with a tampon of paper or a strip of aluminum,—or an ordinary soldering iron can be used for melting the solder.

Three Phase Long Distance System.

The General Electric Company is making the first American application of the three phase long-distance system of street railway work at Lowell, Mass., where a plant is in course of construction for the Lowell & Suburban Street Railway Company. Its special features will render it most interesting. In the first place, says the Iron and Coal Trades' Review, the generators will deliver both alternating and continuous current, and when not in use for transmission work will be run in parallel with the railway generators now in the station. They will be wound for delivery of low voltage current at the alternating side, and this current, raised to 5000 volts, will be carried to two sub-stations, one nine miles and the other 14 miles distant from the generating station. The sub-stations will each be provided with suitable step-down transformers of the General Electric air-blast type, as well as two-rotary converters.

Snow and Ice on Railway Tracks.

At the recent Scandinavian Railway Congress, held at Copenhagen, a number of plans were adopted to prevent the accumulation of snow and ice on railway tracks. The work of freeing the tracks of snow is especially difficult in these countries. It has been found that by putting salt on the ground about the tracks in large quantities frost has been prevented for a period of nine years. It was stated that during last winter 33,688 rails in more than 2000 different places on a single railway were lifted by the frost so as to endanger the trains. Ice was removed by the use of dynamite. Every locomotive on the line has been equipped with a snow plow, which will be carried throughout the winter.

Signaling the Approach of Storms.

The Royal Commission of Great Britain has recently made arrangements for supplying telegrams giving notice of the approach of storms to the prominent headlands along the coast. An ingenious system of signaling vessels has also been adopted. The signals used are canvas cones, and are pointed upward or downward to signify the direction the gale will take. All the lighthouses on the prominent points of the coast, which are connected electrically, will be turned into storm-warning stations. A number of lighthouses and light vessels along the coast will also be connected with the telegraphing system of the United Kingdom.

Archaeological Research.

The excavations which are carrying out near Athens by the Greek Archaeological Society have recently yielded some exceedingly important results. In one well-preserved tomb the workmen recently came across the skeleton of a woman with a great assortment of jewelry, together with Egyptian scarabaei and a porcelain statue of the goddess Isis. The relics, it is believed, prove that many important religious rites of the Greek have been borrowed from the Egyptians, which has for years been a disputed point.

Increasing the Power of Gas.

A French scientist has recently discovered the means of increasing the illuminating power of ordinary coal gas about 15 times. The increase is accomplished by supplying a small but constant current of air to the flame. A tiny electric motor is fixed in the body of the gas lamp, which is a diminutive ventilator. The motor is run by a current supplied by a couple of small accumulators. The flame has a remarkable brilliancy, and lamps have been constructed on this pattern with an illuminating power of 800 candle power.

ODD HAPPENINGS.

A Record of Queer Things and Events Chronicled in the Newspapers.

Emperor William II. of Germany has caught the bicycle fever, but he will not ride in public. A private track is being made ready for his spins at Portdam.

In a tavern at Leer, Holland, a young fool lately bet 50 cents that he could eat a thousand flies at one sitting. The flies were caught and put in a beer glass, and then he won.

In Turin, Italy, the twin brothers, Hugo and Guido Palazzi, lately married the twin sisters, Euphrasia and Virginia Thevenet. It is feared that interdomestic complications will arise.

An extraordinarily large number of dwarfs live in the District of Rhwas, in the Eastern Pyrenees. Tradition has it that they are the descendants of a race which inhabited those mountain regions in prehistoric times.

In Lublin a young woman named Semschalowa has been sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment at hard labor for cremating the living bodies of the two small children of a neighbor with whom she was at enmity.

At Littau, Austria, a 15-year-old girl carrying a pair of scissors in her hand while passing through the house stumbled and fell. The points of the implement entered her left breast and she died within an hour.

Prof. Goldberg reports that in its conception the whale is a legged mammal. He found that until the embryo reaches a length of several inches legs are plainly discernible thereon, but these disappear long before birth.

The longest suspended telephone wire is no doubt that extending across Lake Wallenstadt, Switzerland. The distance from post to post measures one and a half miles, yet at the lowest point the wire is still 120 feet above the lake.

Prince Bismarck received about 218,000 postal cards from as many admirers congratulating him on his 80th birthday. These cards have a total weight of 1220 pounds, and piled up in one column would reach a height of 150 feet.

The House of Parliament in London is partly lighted by 40,000 electric lamps, which number is being constantly increased. Fifty experienced electricians are employed to keep the system in order. But there is still a gas bill of over $12,000 for the year.

Flies and mosquitoes were so numerous in Iceland last summer that the farmers had to wear gloves and face masks while working in the fields. Pending the discovery of an anti-fly bacillus, 100 frogs have been imported lately to begin the work of destruction.

Before the Academie de Medicine at Paris a paper was read not long ago which pointed out that the tortures of the corset are to a large extent responsible for the much-lamented scarcity of children in France. The writer urged that a tax on corsets would be as just as the tax on tobacco and alcohol.

A physician in the Department de Maine-et-Loire, France, has established the bamboo in his garden and introduced it in his kitchen. He reports that young bamboo shoots equal asparagus and Brussels sprouts, and that this new vegetable is nutritious and easily digested. With French sauce, cela va bene.

The Sunday law in Germany hits the drinker instead of the purveyor. The Court of Appeal at Erfurt has just sustained the lower court in fining a thirsty man 75 cents for drinking a glass of beer at a tavern during the hours of divine service.

Sweden can boast of a steamboat on wheels. This unique vehicle makes regular trips overland from one lake to another near by. To leave one lake it approaches the shore with a full head of steam on, rushes over the rails of the connecting road to the top of the eminence midway, shoots down to the other lake, and then screw propellers merrily churn the waters again.

Lieut. Baden Powell of the British Army, claims to have made successful experiments with a monster kite of 500 square feet, supplemented by three smaller kites, the team to carry a man aloft. The tests were made only when gentle winds prevailed. The device is to serve as an occasional substitute for the captive balloon.

An eccentric old bachelor who died lately at Odessa, Russia, bequeathed 4,000,000 rubles (about $2,000,000) to his four nieces on condition that they first go into service as chambermaids, washerwomen or coal women for 15 months. The local police are charged with the duty of seeing that the condition of the will is strictly complied with. So far the heiresses have received 853 offers of marriage.

Of the 4000 soldiers lying in the hospitals of Madagascar a great many suffer from abscesses on the legs, caused by grass seeds having sharp barbes which enter the flesh. This is news, though it is not new. Before the war many Creoles, working in the gold mines there, lost some of their toes, and sometimes half the foot, in consequence of such poisonous grass seeds.

Wine may be only a mocker when taken from the barrel, but it seems to be a terror while still in the vat. Not long ago, at Schaffhausen, Switzerland, a farmer proceeded to taste the juice in one of his high vats. To fill his glass he stirred the mess of crushed grapes. The escaping gases must have stupefied him immediately, for shortly afterwards he was found dead.

One night not long ago as a Danau steamer from Balgrade to Odessa neared a small village in Bulgaria a young man approached the captain and requested to be put ashore. He landed. Half an hour later another passenger rushed up to the commander and despairingly complained that his satchel, containing 10,000 francs, had mysteriously disappeared. The captain said nothing, but quietly reversed the ship's course; then he covered the golden letters of its name with a sail cloth and made some other changes, so that from a distance the vessel presented an altogether different appearance. On returning near the spot where the first passenger had landed, the steamboat was hailed, and it promptly arrested its speed. A skiff approached, and a few minutes later the second passenger had his 10,000 francs back and the captain had a man in irons.

Timely Warning.

The great success of the chocolate preparations of the house of Walter Baker & Co. (established in 1780) has led to the placing on the market many misleading and unscrupulous imitations of their name, labels, and wrappers. Walter Baker & Co. are the oldest and largest manufacturers of pure and high-grade Cocoas and Chocolates on this continent. No chemicals are used in their manufactures.

Consumers should ask for, and be sure that they get, the genuine Walter Baker & Co.'s goods.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.
