POWER FAILURE — A power failure shortly after seven o'clock last evening left Summerside in darkness for a brief period as the result of a break in power in the Charlottetown area. This left too heavy a load for the Summerside plant to handle with the generators that are normally in use and several circuits were cut off until the emergency generator was put into operation. However the generator was not used as the Charlottetown and Summerside circuits were synchronized quickly and power was restored after about ten minutes. Several areas were affected.
