4 Expansions Proposed For Lobster Season After End To Territorial Call

Lobster Season Extended 3 Days

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
OTTAWA — The lobster fishing season in district 7B will be extended for three days this year, it was announced here Wednesday by Hon. Angus MacLean, minister of fisheries.

Mr. MacLean said the extension past the normal closing date of June 30 will mean that the last fishing day will be July 3.

He said the decision had been made after consultation by the department officials and after receiving a number of requests from fishermen and their organizations. He said some had asked for an extension of up to five days, while others asked for no extension at all.

Reason for the extension requested is that the season because of heavy ice conditions in the area. A similar delay was made last year when the season was extended for a week.

District 7B takes in the entire Gulf of St. Lawrence coast except some parts of Northumberland Strait and is the district that most effects P.E.I. lobster fishermen. Mr. MacLean said that a six-day extension was also being given to two smaller districts, 6A and 7A, where there was an even later start this season and where catches have been lower.
