CAMERON BLOCK.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 5, 1889.

Down With Them.

YEAR after year THE EXAMINER has called the attention of our farmers to the necessity of cutting down, before the seeding season arrives, the thistles and other weeds that line the wayside in so many sections of the country. It is useless to try to maintain clean fields where such troublesome seeds are allowed to flourish on the other side of the fence. There is a law on the statute compelling the destruction of thistles and other dirty weeds; but like other enactments, it is altogether disregarded. This is too bad. The tidy farmer has no heart to keep the thistles cut down in his fields when his uncivil neighbor allows them to blow their seeds broadcast all along his fence line. All should abhor a crop so disgraceful, and lend a hand to wipe out this thistle pest. In a week or two, and the whole land will be flooded with tourists. Let us not allow them to carry away the impression that we are insensible to the opprobrium of dirty waysides. Whether it be thistle, daisy or bughten, then, down with them, and clean up the road fences, as you value your reputation as farmers.

Our Position in Prospect.

In the course of an address, in Toronto, on Dominion Day, Sir Daniel Wilson said:—

"We occupy a position altogether unique in the history and civilization of the world. We are at once members of the great British Empire, and yet of a Dominion organized with every facility and every means for self-government. We have an army of our own, we are levying our own customs, each province has its own independent Parliament, its own Legislature elected by free citizens to manage their own affairs; and over this is the Dominion Senate and Parliament, with a representative of Her Majesty presiding over all. In this respect we occupy a position at once with colonial relations to the Mother Country, yet with every advantage that free institutions can supply. We may truly say no country exists or ever existed, where more thorough freedom is enjoyed, where every privilege is placed within our reach that man can desire, and what then can we have more in losing the bond that binds us to the Mother Land, or still more in seeking union with the neighboring republic? We enjoy as members of the British Empire all the glories and the liberty that appertain to that great and ancient land, the honors of those who have ruled it from the days of Alfred down through the reigns of the great Elizabeth and Anne, to the reign of the present Queen, in whose virtues are bound the glories of England's triumphs. We can recall the victories of Creecy and Agincourt; the naval achievements of Blake and Nelson; the triumphs of Marlborough and Wellington. They are all ours, although we have come to that state of our existence when we can enter on all that appertains to peace without being threatened with the travails of standing armies that enthrall the freedom and cumber the actions of Europe, while we cannot be dragged into the intricacies of diplomacy. Let me impress upon your permanent view, as people of a young country, entering upon this vast territory, which but half a century ago was committed to our charge by Mother England—a vast domain, with its prairie lands and fertile soil extending beyond the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific, that while it is a country we should be proud of, much depends upon how we shape its history for the future by granting to new provinces, where necessity arises, the same rights and privileges and the free institutions we now enjoy. We must realize that we have the care and the charge of this great land of promise, which the miserable, and destitute, and suffering, and those who are bound under the iron rule of European despotism and pride look upon as a promised land for them. Lust, or jealousy, or selfishness must not characterize our attitude. Mercy and justice to mankind must be our guide, and we must be always ready to accord to mankind the rights and privileges that have been accorded to us. We must especially welcome those who come from the Mother Land, and treat kindly those who come from other nations of the Old World, so that we may unite together in building up a great future for our Dominion. Let us anticipate the glories of the future that are in store for us. Let us realize at once that we can enjoy every privilege of a thorough autonomy while being under the wings of the Mother Land, and if, in the far off days to come—while wishing it may never be—it might be our destiny to stand alone as an independent nation, let us trust and believe that if ever that time comes when Canada will have parted with the Mother Land, let us make sure that we leave her as a son leaves his father's home—(hear, hear, and loud cheers)—and the time may yet come when Canada will stand proudly forth as a strong and powerful nation, and when under some crisis she will step in and fill the breach and aid the Mother Land. (Applause.) Let us be hopeful that peace may be prolonged in our land; that justice may triumph; or auspicious that our nation may develop in literature and science, giving to these even a grander and truer stimulus than the Mother Land, with which we associate Chaucer, Spenser, Milton and Bacon—(Applause)—the Augustine and Elizabethan periods, but with elements of grandeur truer and nobler than both." (Applause.)

These words are commended to the Patriot and others of that ilk.

THEY WERE SKYLARKING.—While Captain Clarke, and Patrick Pyke, one of the crew, were skylarking on the deck of the schooner Hattie Dell, bound from Lockport to Halifax, they tumbled overboard, and Pyke was drowned. He was 24 years old, and a native of Newfoundland.

Local and Other Items.

A SUCCESSFUL PICNIC.—At the Roman Catholic picnic in Amherst on Dominion Day the receipts were $1,200.

EARLY HAYING.—The Moncton Times says that if the present dry weather continues the farmers of Petitcodiac will commence haying operations next week.

CRICKET.—The final rubber between the teams Militia and Civilians will be played at the Park to-morrow afternoon. Stumps pitched at 2.30 sharp.

SHE'S A BAD ONE.—The Halifax papers say that Mrs. Doyle, who figured so prominently in the Preper-Doyle murder case at Halifax, is now keeping one of the worst dives on Albermarle street in that city.

NEW POTATOES.—We have received a sample of new potatoes from Father Burke, Alberton. The potatoes are full-size early roses, and were planted on the 19th April. This is surprisingly early. Good for the west.

ARRIVALS AT HALIFAX.—The arrivals at the port of Halifax for the fiscal year ended 30th June were 406 steamers and 643 sailing vessels from foreign ports, and 307 steamers and 3,404 sailing vessels coastwise.

"MAN'S INHUMANITY," ETC.—The other day Terrence Reilly jumped into the Hudson river to rescue an Italian. After a desperate struggle he reached shore with his lifeless body, to find that the dead man's brother had run off with his trousers and $52.

THE AMERICAN WISS.—A London despatch says that the race for the diamond scale between Charles G. Pootta, the American amateur champion, and Blackmore, the English champion, was rowed at Henley on Wednesday. Pootta won by three lengths.

SEIZED FOR SMUGGLING LIQUOR.—The Moncton Times says: Collector Robidoux, of Shediac, acting under the directions of Collector Binney, of Moncton, yesterday seized the schooner May Queen, Capt. Sam White, for smuggling liquor. The vessel was put in the dock and stripped. The alleged evasion of the customs took place at Summerside, P. E. Island, where the vessel arrived from the Magdalen Islands.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Scolding Syrup should always be used when children are outting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. See and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Scolding Syrup, and take no other kind. (April 1 '88)

AN AMHERST ELOPEMENT.—Says the Record: On Friday evening, after the departure of the west-bound express, two people were missed from town—a man of 35 and a girl of 16. It has since been learned that he bought two railway tickets for St. John, and she bought one for Sackville, and that she did not get out at that station. He left his wife and three children without informing them of his intended departure; but he told others that he was about to take a lengthened trip abroad. The girl, though well stocked with clothing, took but one dress in addition to that she wore, evidently having left without much time for preparation, or with the intention of soon returning. Her mother is anxiously instituting enquiries, in the hope that she has not gone far from home.

THE POLICE INTERFERED.—The Boston Herald of the 3rd says: The long-anticipated 15-round contest, with gloves, between Joe Lannon and Danny Kelliher, which was to have taken place under the auspices of the Cribb Club in the gymnasium of that organization last night, was prevented by the police, by direction of Capt. Irish of station 4. This officer claimed to have information that the match was for a stake—in fact, a prize fight; thence the action he took. The police did not await the appearance of the men in the ring, but, after being admitted to the hall, announced that the contest would not be permitted, greatly to the disappointment of a large number of members of the club who had assembled to witness the sport.

Telegraphic Tips.

KINGSTON, July 3.—A little boy named Cardiff, son of a widow, was bathing with younger brothers, yesterday, when he got beyond his depth, and was drowned before help could reach him.

BRAMPTON, Ont., July 3.—Alex. Watson, 18 years of age, was drowned here in Fallas Flats, in one foot of water, while bathing on Dominion Day. He was subject to fits.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 3.—Heavy rains during the past two days partially inundated this city. The heavy pumps, which it was believed would secure to the city partial drainage, proved practically useless.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 3.—A man committed suicide at Clappison's Corners, near Hamilton, on Tuesday morning, leaving no traces of his identity beyond the letter "C" on his linen. Some suspect him to be Cooney, "the fox" wanted in the Cronin case; others, that he was W. J. Coster, cashier of the Buffalo Club, who has been missing for several days.

ST. JOHN, July 3.—The Methodist Church trouble was settled by conference special committee to-day. It is arranged that Rev. Dr. Sprague remain at Marysville. Rev. Mr. Evans goes to Centenary, Rev. C. H. Paisley to Hampton, Rev. W. Tippet to Campbellton and Rev. G. C. P. Palmer to Upper Kent. Rev. James Crisp therefore remains at Point de Bute. The quarterly board of Centenary Church has agreed to accept Rev. Mr. Evans, but some members of the congregation are much dissatisfied. Mr. Gibson would have accepted Rev. Mr. Spargo instead of Dr. Sprague, but the former refused to go. Mr. Gibson was in town to-day.

At the Door.

It was just for a moment Rose stopped at the door,
In the dim twilight,
And I halted and stammered, and said no more
Than just—"Good-night."

Yet now I can think of a host of things
That I meant to say;
And the words come as fast as if they had wings,
When she is away.

For I know her charming, but how can she know
What I think aright,
When the best I can do is to stammer so,
And say—"Good-night!"

—Walter Learned, in the Century Bric-a-Brac.

A Cloudburst

CREATES A PANIC IN A PENNSYLVANIA CITY.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., July 3.—A terrific thunderstorm passed over this city last evening, followed by two cloudbursts, which caused a furious overflow of the Church Run, which traverses and winds through the city. From an insignificant stream the Run turned into a furious torrent, in a few minutes coursing through the streets, filling the cellars and rising in some cases to the first stories of the houses. Fully three miles of streets are flooded, and there is over two feet of water on the sidewalks. A number of rafts were built on which the women and children were taken to places of safety. The force of the water ripped up hundreds of feet of sewers, and the roads in the surrounding country are badly washed out. The water poured down the side hills northwest of the city, where the cloud burst occurred, in a perfect avalanche, sweeping all before it. Many fertile garden sand a number of valuable farms are ruined.

Walt Whitman say that the greatest pleasure of his old age has been in re-reading the novels of Charles Dickens.

John Gilbert, the great comedian, wore no jewellery of any kind. He was accustomed to say that ornaments were out of place on a man.

"You wish to marry one of my daughters? The youngest will get 15,000 marks, the second 30,000 and the eldest 45,000." "You don't happen to have one still older?"—Fliegende Blatter.

Flossie is six years old—"Mamma," she asked one day, "If I get married will I have to have a husband like pa?" "Yes," replied the mother with an amused smile. "And if I don't get married will I have to be an old maid like Aunt Kate?" "Yes." "Mamma,"—after a pause—"it's a tough world for us women, aunt it?"—Binghampton Republic.

President Harrison has issued an order reducing the routine of Sunday work in the army. The reduction has long been asked for, but has been opposed by army men. General Sherman in particular entered a warm protest some years ago against abolishing Sunday morning inspection. However, many army men are now in favor of a day of rest. Generals Schofield and Howard are both in favor of it.
