The labor committee representing 18,000,000 members of the C. I. O., A.F.L. and railroad unions, said after a two-hour session that "no one is looking out for the interests of the consumer in this situation and we propose to take the leadership."

The committee accusing mobilization director Charles E. Wilson of aiding "big business" to run the program, withdrew all connections with the defence set-up last Wednesday.

Young Seal Visits Cherry Valley Corner

A young grey seal waddled a half a mile through the snow yesterday morning to catch its first glimpse of civilization at Cherry Valley Corner.

Mr. J. Leo Praught received quite a surprise when he went to investigate the barking of his dog and found the four-foot seal preparing to attack. The animal proved to be quite vicious and had to be killed with a stout stick before it caused any harm.

The seal weighed about one hundred pounds and was thought to be approximately one year old. Silver grey on its back, and white on its stomach, it had numerous black spots which would lose if fully developed.

To date this year over 500 students have enrolled at the school, 240 of these were women in sewing classes, which are conducted four evenings a week.

The regular trades courses include carpentry, bricklaying, plumbing and electricity. These courses commenced on October 1. Most of the short courses started at the beginning of the New Year.

STILL OPPOSED (Continued from Page 1) proving to be the biggest defence production headache. This may lead to a reduction in civilian passenger-car output.

3. The Government could not create a system of price controls without first suspending the Combines Investigation Act.

4. Canadians could best help the defence effort and overcome inflation by refusing to buy anything unless it was an absolute essential.

5. In defence contracts, the Government was trying to place orders in regions where industrial capacity is not being fully employed. It was prepared to pay a higher price for shoes produced in the Maritimes than in Quebec, mainly to stimulate Maritime production.

6. Canada could build the St. Lawrence seaway alone. It had undertaken similar big projects such as the $250,000,000 iron-ore development in Labrador. However, it was probable that the United States would agree to join with Canada in its construction before the year is out.

Nothing To Eat When found, the passengers refused to leave their refuge but asked for food and coffee. They had nothing to eat during the 20-hour vigil. The snowmobile continued to Suffield, 30 miles from Medicine Hat, to obtain food. It was estimated that it would be at least three hours before the bus would reach Suffield, as snowplows and tractors working from two directions, still had not reached the party.

Police said three men were stranded in a car in the same area but were rescued at noon and taken to safety in the hamlet of Bowell.

The third bus "lost" in the storm bogged down near Duchess, 116 miles east of Calgary. A snowplow backed through today and towed the vehicle into Brooks, Alta. None of the dozen persons on board were harmed.

Sales Of Securities Rates Hearing Postponed

OTTAWA, March 5—(CP)—Net sales of securities by Canada to other countries rose during 1950 to record level as a result of the exceptionally heavy sales to the United States, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

While the inflow of capital from the U. S. was the most outstanding feature of the year's dealings, there was an appreciable increase in net purchases from the United Kingdom. Net sales to all other countries also were higher but were only a minor portion of the total.

Net sales amounted to $238,400,000 compared with $65,000,000 in 1949. Previous peak figure was $191,000,000 registered in 1946. Net sales to the U. S. totalled $255,700,000 compared with $16,000,000 in 1949.

Repurchases from the U. K. amounted to $22,800,000 against $10,800,000 the previous year, and net sales to all other countries totalled $6,400,000 from $1,300,000.

Duties and Taxes On Fishing Gear

Answers to the following questions by Mr. W. Chester S. McLure were tabled in the House of Commons last week by Hon. Mr. McCann:

Q. Is all fishing gear used by an individual fisherman tax and duty free?

A. Without knowing specifically what is meant by fishing gear, it is difficult to answer this question. It is thought that in the main the question could be answered in the affirmative, but there may be items that are subject to both duty and or sales tax.

Q. Is the heavier rope over 21 thread (one-half inch in diameter) taxable and dutiable?

A. For customs duty purposes, the answer is yes. Provision is made for the exemption from sales tax of "threads, twines, marlines, fishing lines, rope and cordage of vegetable fibre, manila or other material, not exceeding one-half inch in circumference, to be used for fishing purposes or for the construction or repair of fishing nets."

Q. Is the steel cable, sometimes used instead of rope, for hoisting nets and traps, taxable and dutiable?

No opposition to the adjournment was voiced by the provinces.

$20,000 Fire At Windsor, N. B.

HARTLAND, N.B., March 5—(CP)—Fire early today destroyed the general store and residence of Norman Corey in the Carleton County community of Windsor, 10 miles from Hartland. He estimated the loss at $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

Crying by the younger of two children awakened the family. Unable to save even personal belongings, the four occupants escaped in night attire. The loss included the store's new spring stock.

The fire apparently started in the basement of the building. It was out of control when the Hartland Fire Department arrived.

Modern Treatment For Polio Relief Described

In a few days the new polio centre at the Provincial Sanatorium will be open and it will be the only centre in Canada offering modern treatment for the relief of this disease, Miss Kathleen Jackson, M.B.E., M.C.S.P., told Rotarians at their luncheon yesterday.

Miss Jackson came to this Province about twelve weeks ago under an arrangement between the P.E.I. Red Cross and the Sanatorium Commission. She was senior physiotherapist in charge of several hospitals in England prior and during World War II.

While the actual sickness may be over in a week, the patient may not try to help himself, with the result that joints and muscles stiffen permanently. These people do not need pity, but help and encouragement, said Miss Jackson.

The told of a young girl who loved horseback riding and though stricken with polio was able to ride sufficiently well within a year that she opened her own riding academy and so became self-supporting instead of being a permanent cripple as would have been the case had she not had the assistance of a physiotherapist. In this treatment there must be teamwork by the doctor, physiotherapist, nurse and patient, but the most important member of the team is the patient.

Suspension therapy whereby the limb is raised in a sling and so made easier to move is an important part of the treatment. In this manner the patient is able to see that despite his weakened muscles he is able to move the limb of his own volition, and that first slight movement is a miracle to the patient and he will now work unceasingly to increase its use.

Occupational therapy is used to prevent boredom. The patient actually performs the required exercise while concentrating on the result of his work rather than on the movement itself. Then comes re-education in the movements which he will require on his regular job and the patient kept so busy that he "hasn't time to be ill."

So successful has the treatment been that very few cannot be made to walk again and restored to physical independence and finally financial independence, concluded Miss Jackson.

A new member Mr. Yvonne Boudrias, was introduced by Rotarian Jim Burden. Guests present were Dr. O. H. Curtis, and Miss Iphigene Arsenault. Chairmen were Rotarians Roy Cudmore and Edwin Johnstone.
