Obituary.

The Newfoundland Royal Gazette of the 25th of November announces the death on the 24th of its editor and proprietor, J. C.
Withers, in the 89th year of his age, having held the office of Queen's Printer of that colony for over fifty-eight years. From the leading journals of the Colony, we gather the following incidents in his life and death:

"It is with deep and heartfelt regret that we announce this evening the end of the career of one of St. John's oldest and most respected citizens and the patriarch of the journalistic and typographical profession in this country. John C. Withers, Esq., publisher of The Royal Gazette, passed this morning peacefully away to the just man's reward. A man of untarnished probity, of kindly manner and friendly address, he was held in the highest esteem by all classes.—Telegram, Nov. 24th, 1890.

"Mr. Withers was a typical member of the good old Church of England all his life and in all the social relations of subject and citizen it is sufficient to say of him that he was loyal to his Queen, patriotic to his country, kind to his neighbors, charitable to the poor and courteous to all. So that, without extravagance, we may adapt to the deceased Queen's Printer the well-known post-laureate, and modestly say of him (as he would wish to have it said)

And thus he bore without abuse The grand old name of gentleman.
He was a good husband and father, an exemplary Christian, a kind and sympathizing friend, and though remarkably modest and unobtrusive, he endeared himself to those who had the opportunities of discovering the true metal that was enclosed beneath the unostentatious exterior of our revered friend. He had seen strange vicissitudes in politics in his day, but appears to have preserved such an impartial attitude in his dealings with all parties as to have won universal respect and confidence. He passed peacefully away, surrounded by the remaining members of his family, who ministered to his last wants and wishes, with the love and sympathy alike creditable to both parties.—Times, Nov. 26.

This morning all that was mortal of the late John C. Withers was laid to rest in the beautiful little cemetery of the Church England. The cortege was composed of many of the city's most prominent citizens, members of the legislature, representative men, clergymen of the Church of England, and a deputation composed of the president, treasurer, secretary and a large number of the members of the St. John's Typographical Union. The burial service was impressively read by Lord Bishop Jones, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Hancock. The final prayers were recited at the open grave amidst profound feeling and evidences of deep emotion by all present, everyone of whom were conscious that they were seeing the last of one whose life was a lesson of rectitude and good will to all men—one worthy of everlasting reward.—Telegram, Nov. 26.

Mr. Withers had many relatives and friends in Prince Edward Island, and was an uncle to J. C. Underhay, M. P. P. for St. Peters.

THE COST OF IT.—Halifax having recently furnished a new city hall, has been taking account of the cost. It appears that the building and site cost $140,000, with something like $10,000 more for furnishing.

BLOOMING IN THE SNOW.—The Moncton Times says: Ezra Bishop brought into our city on Saturday, a bunch of pansy blossoms picked in the snowstorm that raged that day.
The capabilities of this climate are only beginning to be understood.

HEAVY WEATHER.—Our exchanges report that a large amount of snow has fallen in Pennsylvania and as far south as Virginia, while a furious rain and wind storm has visited New York, causing damage to property. Business was practically suspended in Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

A YOUTHFUL FIREBUG.—A Montreal despatch says that McKeracher, the youth who set fire to the high school, has been sent to the Court of Queen's Bench in next March to stand his trial. Nichol and Clare, the other two boys implicated, were also remanded to the Court of Queen's Bench. McKeracher's bail was fixed at $3,000, the other two at $1,000 each.

LAW SUIT THREATENED.—A Biddeford, Me., man took a very bad way to collect a debt the other day. He stole the debtor's favorite dog, painted him over and sold him back to his unsuspecting master for just the amount of the old debt. But the new hue was not a fast color, and washed out, and the owner has discovered the trick and threatens a law suit.

THE NEWSPAPERMAN'S BOYCOTT.—A late despatch from Toronto says: Much surprise was expressed by some of the local military men this morning because none of the morning papers reported the banquet to Sir Anolphe Caron and Major-General Herbert last night. It is understood the reason was simply because none of the newspapers were notified of the affair or received invitations to attend until the speaking had actually commenced when a messenger was despatched to the various offices.

AN AFFECTING STORY.—The news comes from Terrebonne, Quebec, that a boy seven years old, who died there last week from diphtheria, displayed most marvellous courage in the face of death. Sitting on a chair near the stove, he warned his parents that his end was fast approaching, and then proceeded to dispose of the several small articles which belonged to him.
To one of his little brothers he gave his penknife, to another his pocket-book and his new boots, and to his sister a case for pens and pencils. The poor little fellow had scarcely disposed of all his worldly goods when he fell back on his chair and expired.

Grand Tracadie.

Sir,—It seems too bad that in this section of the country where, by mail contract, we have only a bi-weekly mail, and as usual at this season of the year, we are generally from six to eight days without a mail from Charlottetown. Since the 1st of December the mail courier has failed to perform his duty according to contract; also, mails which should leave here at an early hour in the forenoon are generally delayed until the afternoon. There must certainly be neglect on the part of some of the officials. Why not give us a tri-weekly mail, and have it carried by rail direct from Charlottetown to Bedford, and thence carried here by some responsible person who will be able to perform his duty according to contract.

Is there no remedy for us, or have we got no person to look after our mail interests? We are not hard to please, and do not at any time ask anything unreasonable of the Government. We will now be satisfied, if, at an early date, a change for the better will take place.
BUMBLY.

Murray Harbor Notes.

The following vessels cleared from this port for Nova Scotia and Boston: Dec. 11 —William Gaffney, Smith, master, 2,550 bushels potatoes and 20 bushels turnips.
Dec. 15—Julia Ward, Reynolds, master, in ballast. Dec. 27—Bessie S. Keefer, Horton, master, 3,800 bushels potatoes, 11 bags potatoes and 1,000 lbs. pork.

The following vessels are in port safe for the winter:—The Belle, Jackson, master; Samuel Drake, Chapman; Julia Ward, Reynolds; Belle of the Bay, Cahoon; Julia, A. McKinnon; Genesta, Jordan; Can't Help It, Herring; Amoret, Roberts; J. S.
Irving.

Most of the vessels have arrived home safely, but, sad to say, not all. The M. E.
Lloyd, Munn, master, in coming from the Gut of Canso encountered that violent storm of the 1st inst., and, as it is supposed, the captain steered for Bayfield, but in attempting to enter Bonquet Harbor the vessel struck on the bar, capsized and turned bottom up. The crew were never seen afterwards. The people beg here to tender, through your columns, their heartfelt sympathy to the two widows in their sad bereavement.

We have very good sleighing at present, and if it continues we certainly will expect a lively time between Christmas and New Years.

The Women's Missionary Society gave a public entertainment on the evening of the 16th inst. Reports were read by the following ladies:—Mrs. Silas James, President; Mrs. Wm. Prowse, Cor. Secretary, and Mrs. James Brooks, Rec. Secretary.
All these reports were indeed creditable, especially the last one. From it is learned that the receipts for the past year were $64.96, that their membership at present is 34, while that of the Mission Band is 32.

Readings were given by Miss Louisa Beck and Mrs. J. Roberts. Miss Julia Brehaut sang a solo in tones clear and sweet, the best of the evening. The following took part in dialogues, which were well acted:— Miss Mary McKenzie, Miss Louisa Beck, Miss Julia Brehaut, Miss Dinah Brooks, Miss Gertie Machon, and Miss Tillie Beck.
Rev. John Lawson from Alberton, also addressed the meeting. He spoke of the benefit to be derived from this society, that it was not worth while to advance argument to sustain the women in the position they have taken on the great moral question of our day. Being the helpmeet of man, she should work hand in hand with him in the great moral conflicts in which he is engaged and help him to struggle safely through.
Having the tongue of eloquence and that excellent capacity, love, she can accomplish a great and high work. He showed how women were assisted with Christ in his labors, that they followed him from his birth place in the manger till he cried on the cross "It is finished." He then gave a list of excellent women of past and present—Lady R. Russell, Bronte, Elizabeth Frye, Ann Hanson, Lady Jane Grey, Caroline of Spain, etc., etc. He then closed his address by urging those who were not members to join this society. The choir on suitable occasions rendered good services throughout the entertainment.

A vote of thanks was then tendered to the Rev. M. Lawson, for his very eloquent address, and to the choir for their excellent services, after which the meeting was closed and everybody went well pleased to their homes.—COM.
Dec. 22, 1890.

Souris Notes.

A correspondent writes: We are sorry to hear that Mr. John McLean, of the Island Railway is ill, and also that Mr. Ban Cox met with an accident in the railway yard that has confined him to his house for the last two weeks. We hope to see both these gentlemen at their post of duty before long.

The potato trade has been very brisk for the past month. The merchants of this place have loaded four steamers and about one hundred and ten schooners and fifteen square riggers, Mathew McLaine & Co., and Knight and Morrow being the principle shippers.
Some of the other merchants loaded a few small schooners for these gentlemen. We understand that Mr. G. G. Sterns has two small schooners frozen in, in Grand River, which were loading for Knight & Morrow, and A. Currie one in Fortune Bay, which he is loading for the same firm.

The Ties.

There are marriage ties, and friendly ties,
And the ties which business makes;
There are solemn ties, and merry ties,
And the ties in betting stakes;
There are builders' ties, and railroad ties, Which an actor can recall,
But the HOLIDAY Ties, which we advertise,
Are the prettiest ties of all.
D. A. BRUCE.
