

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 18, 1890.

Notes and Comments.

Prospects were never better for a large crop of fruit; and recent rains have freshened up the other crops all over the country.

The Educational Review published at St. John's has entered upon its fourth year. We notice in the last issue of it a likeness of the late Donald Montgomery, Esq.

The Week has arrived at the conclusion that the cause of constitutional freedom in Germany has probably lost nothing and gained much by the exchange of a Bismarck for a Von Caprivi.

Advices from Chicago report that the prices of cattle are advancing—particularly the class of medium to choice grades. The hog market is, however, very dull and sheep are largely in excess of demand.

The Writer gives these four lines concerning the proper use of shall and will:

In the first person, simply, shall foretells; In will a threat or else a promise dwells; Shall in the second or the third doth threaten, Will simply then foretells the future feat.

The Empire reports that the doubling of the population of Toronto within eight years has been kept pace with by the erection of new buildings, and the city is no more crowded uncomfortably than it was ten years ago.

Le Canada regards the issue of the Ontario elections as evidence that the Catholic vote is solid when Catholic rights are assailed, and that Protestant sentiment is in the main opposed to a revival of the old feuds of creed and race. Equal Rightism, it says, is a thing of the past.

The Irish Catholic, says a recent telegram, states that the Pope, in replying to the congratulations of visitors at the Vatican, expressed himself as strongly of the belief that great punishment was impending on society for its disregard of, and indifference to, the Church. "The Lord," he said, "will come no longer with a sweet and peaceful face, but with an angry one to strike and purify His church. I am neither a prophet, nor the son of a prophet, but I feel in my heart sorrowful presentments."

The last number of The Dominion Illustrated is largely devoted to the Royal Visit, there being fine views of the arrival of the Abyssinian at Vancouver, B. C., of Stanley Park in that city and its striking bridge that leads to it, of the Decorated Engine that drew the Royal Party over the mountains, of the inspection of the Cadets and the Lacrosse Match at Montreal, and other illustrations. The view of Stanley Park, which the Duke of Connaught so much admired, is very effective, and the other pictures are correspondingly good. Presbyterians will appreciate the portrait of the Rev. Dr. Laing, Moderator of the General Assembly. The next issue of The Dominion Illustrated will be a special Victoria number, and will be unusually interesting. Address: The Dominion Illustrated, 73 St. James Street, Montreal.

At the opening of the present century there were in round figures, 20,500,000 people who spoke the English language. They were chiefly in England. We were only a few millions in America. The French speaking people at that time numbered about 31,500,000, and the Germans exceeded 30,000,000. The French speech is now used by 50,000,000 people, the German by about 70,000,000, the Spanish by somewhat more than 40,000,000, the Russian by about 70,000,000, the Italian by about 30,000,000, and the Portuguese by perhaps 13,000,000. The English language has enormously outgrown its competitors. It is used by nearly twice as many as any one of the others, and its relative growth is sure to continue. North America alone will soon have 100,000,000 English speaking people. There are 40,000,000 in Great Britain and Ireland. Australia will, a generation hence, have as many English people as England now has.

The Canada Gazette (June 14) contains a copy of the Extradition Treaty concluded between Great Britain and the United States. Under this treaty extradition is made applicable to the following additional crimes:

- 1. Manslaughter when voluntary.
2. Counterfeiting or altering money; uttering or bringing into circulation counterfeit or altered money.
3. Embezzlement; larceny; receiving any money, valuable security, or other property, knowing the same to have been embezzled, stolen, or fraudulently obtained.
4. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, or director or member or officer of any company, made criminal by the laws of both countries.
5. Perjury, or subornation of perjury.
6. Rape; abduction; child-stealing; kidnapping.
7. Burglary; house-breaking or shop-breaking.
8. Piracy by the law of nations.
9. Revolt, or conspiracy to revolt, by two or more persons on board a ship on the high seas, against the authority of the master; wrongfully sinking or destroying a vessel at sea, or attempting to do so; assaults on board a ship on the high seas, with intent to do grievous bodily harm.
10. Crimes and offences against the laws of both countries for the suppression of slavery and slave trading.
Extradition is also to take place for participation in any of the crimes mentioned in this convention or in the aforesaid Xth Article, provided such participation be punishable by the laws of both countries.

CORRECTION.—We have been requested to state that the report of the case, Farquharson vs. McMillan in yesterday's issue, is only partial and did not contain a full statement of the judgment given. In addition to the accounts mentioned in that report, the Judge directed the Master to report, whether Mr. McMillan sold coal to the steamer at the general market price at which he was selling the same to general customers, or whether he sold without charging profit, and if he sold at a profit, whether or not Farquharson consented to his so doing. This was an important question in the suit, and we are informed that until it is finally settled the suit remains in doubt. The complainant's contention was that whilst acting as manager the defendant was in the position of trustee and could not be allowed to make any profit out of selling his own goods to the steamer, — Retrospect.

Centennial Celebration.

MRS. JOHN McDONALD'S ONE HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY, AND HOW IT WAS CELEBRATED.

The relatives and friends of Mrs. John McDonald celebrated that lady's one hundredth birthday in a becoming manner at her residence, Goose River, yesterday. The weather was beautiful. About one hundred and fifty persons were present, the greater number of whom were Mrs. McDonald's relatives. Charlottetown, Souris, Tignish and other portions of the province were well represented at the gathering. Among the clergymen present were His Lordship Bishop McIntyre (Mrs. McDonald's brother); Mr. Gillis, East Point, and Revs. D. J. G. Macdonald, St. Margarets; J. C. Macdonald, St. Dunstan's College; Roderick McDonald, Picton; D. F. McDonald, Souris; A. J. McIntyre, Tracadie; R. J. Gillis, St. Peter's; J. J. McDonald, Charlottetown, and Alex. McAulay, St. Peter's.

Three Masses were said at Mrs. McDonald's residence between 7 and 9 o'clock, a.m. His Lordship was the celebrant at the seven o'clock service, at which Holy Communion was received by Mrs. McDonald and her sister, Mrs. James McDonald, who is 89 years of age. The second service was by Rev. Alex. McAulay, and the third by Rev. A. J. McIntyre.

At one o'clock dinner was provided. The table was spread in excellent style. In the centre was placed the handsome cake made expressly for the occasion by Mr. Carter of this city, and which was presented to Mrs. McDonald by Mrs. Dr. McIntyre, of Charlottetown. On the cake there was inscribed "1790-1890; 100 years." There were also a number of other beautiful cakes on the table, and a magnificent bouquet from the Sisters of the City Hospital. On this bouquet was a Gaelic inscription, of which the following is the translation: "100 years—Mrs. John McDonald." His Lordship Bishop McIntyre occupied the position of honor at the head of the table, and Mr. Gillis was the vice-chairman. At the right of His Lordship sat his brother, Mr. John McIntyre, who is 74 years of age, and at his left his two sisters, aged 89 and 76 respectively.

After dinner His Lordship Bishop McIntyre delivered an address in Gaelic, and Rev. A. J. McIntyre spoke in English. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to vocal and instrumental music, etc. Miss Lizzie McDonald presided at the organ. The proceedings throughout were of a highly edifying and pleasing character, and were greatly appreciated by those whose privilege it was to be present.

Mrs. McDonald herself was unable to be present at dinner, being confined to her room. However, she met and conversed freely with many of the guests. Although for some little time past she has not been able to move about as formerly, her general health is excellent considering her great age, and her mental faculties are unimpaired. THE EXAMINER offers congratulations.

Philharmonic Society's Meeting.

A general meeting of the Philharmonic Society was held last evening. The President addressed the meeting, and gave a summary of the year's work and read the Secretary's statement of the first financial year of the Society, up to July 1st, 1890, and estimates of probable receipts and expenditure for the second financial year to end of July 1st, 1891. The total expenditure including the repairing of the old Atheneum, coloring ceilings and ornamenting the walls (which had given the Society a comfortable and pleasant place for meetings) providing stoves, window blinds, caretaking, coal, gas, rent of piano, music scores and rental of hall amounted to $584 31; and the total receipts from active and honorary members' subscriptions and cash from rental of hall for various uses and cash from sales of music scores to members, proceeds from concert held on Dec. 19, 1889, and from concert held on June 12th, 1890, amounted to $643 33. This leaves the Society with a balance on hand at the close of its first financial year of $59 02, which, as the President explained, was a very satisfactory condition of affairs.

The estimates of probable expenditure and receipts for the second year up to July 1st, 1891, showed that it would be necessary for the Society to raise a total of $450 or $500, which includes a proposed salary for Musical Director.

Various members of the Society then addressed the meeting, and the opinion was strongly expressed that every effort must be made to induce the present musical director to remain Charlottetown and continue his useful work in connection with the Philharmonic Society.

It was then proposed that a change be made in the date of the annual meeting for election of officers from September to June, so that the financial year commencing on July 1st, 1890, should agree with the date of the election of officers; and it was decided to call a full meeting of the society for election of officers for the ensuing year on Monday, 23rd inst.

It was then proposed and carried that the executive committee be authorized to make arrangements for carrying on the work of the society for the ensuing year, as soon as they raise a sum considered sufficient to warrant them in undertaking the work.

The meeting then adjourned.

The work of carrying on the Philharmonic Society for the last year has been one necessitating a great amount of labor and patience on the part of many of the members. But everything looks bright now, and all who assisted are generally enthusiastic after a successful concert has taken place; but after this enthusiastic interest has been forgotten, comes the time of danger for a society of this nature. We sincerely hope that the influential citizens when called upon will financially assist the society in the carrying on of its useful and educational work in our midst.

News Notes.

Be punctual. You cannot enforce it on others unless you set an example of it yourself.

A census enumerator in Richmond, Va., has found a colored woman named Martha Gray who has had 37 children since 1868.

A terrific storm in the neighborhood of Binghamton, N. Y., recently did damage amounting to over $60,000. Considerable live stock perished.

Drunkness is a sin. So is indulgence in opium, or in any poison, for the gratification of a morbid appetite. This moral quality must be recognized in all curative and reforming measures.

In New Zealand a Mormon convention has just closed its sittings, at which it was officially reported that there are 3,000 Mormons in that colony, and that 500 converts were made during the past year.

The celebrated Mackenzie fee of £2,000 has been nearly matched. An Odessa millionaire named Ralli employed a famous Russian physician for an operation requiring only five hours' service, and the fee, it is so recorded, was 11,000 roubles (about $6,000).

Mr. Henry Harrison, who was elected without opposition as Parnellite member for Mid-Tipperary, is the twelfth Protestant member of the Irish Parliamentary party. Mr. Harrison, like Mr. Knox, the recently elected member for West Cavan, is a landlord and a graduate of an English university. Their election marks the attainment of a new stage in the struggle for home rule.
