

A visit to any jail is not generally preceded by bright anticipations or succeeded by pleasing reflections.

Queen's County Jail is not, we suppose, more repulsive in appearance than other jails. But, situated as it is, on Pownall Square—almost in the midst of the city—with all the liberty-loving, liberty-enjoying people of Charlottetown just outside its walls—it is very apt to awaken strange and unusually painful feelings in the mind of a thoughtful and sensitive observer.

Notwithstanding the strange and painful feeling which its appearance may engender, our jail is not, by any means, a horrible place. It is, in fact, rather pleasing to many individuals of the class from which criminals are ordinarily drawn.

In truth, the appearance of the jail is one of its greatest drawbacks; and even its appearance, considering that it has weathered the storms of forty-four winters is not, we should imagine, very repulsive to those to whom it is familiar.

The jail proper is in excellent order. The floors were, on the day we visited it, scrupulously clean. The rooms were warm and comfortable. Glowing coal fires burned on every hearth.

They are permitted to elude together—three or four in a room—and, doubtless, they enjoy themselves after a fashion. There are no means of classifying them in the cells.

What is the result? Instead of having a wholesome dread of prison life and discipline, they are firmly impressed with the belief that jail is not such a bad place after all; and instead of endeavoring to reform, they outdo their old crimes—are again caught, and again condemned to repose and recreation—to eat and drink at the public expense—for a longer period than before!

Mr. MANOH ROWE has been appointed Collector of Customs at Montague Bridge, instead of Mr. Richard W. Sprague.

Of late, our people have been alarmed by outrages on the streets of the city and the roads of the Province. The alarm has, in a few instances, almost reached a panic; and the hardware merchants of the town have done a thriving business in revolvers.

It is now the duty of the Dominion authorities to provide the means of punishing our criminals. They have not yet, we believe, done so. If we are correctly informed, the Local Government still provides board and lodging for all who are condemned, whether in the Supreme Court or in the Mayor's Court.

Business in Alberton, or Cascumpec, we are given to understand, has this year been at least twelve times in amount what it was five years ago.

On Friday last, about half past eight or nine o'clock in the evening, Mr. William S. Glover, of Summerside, was quietly driving near "Three Mile Run," North River Road—when suddenly, without a moment's warning, six or seven men leaped from a clump of bushes on the roadside, and rushed upon him.

The Newfoundland correspondent of the Halifax Citizen, writes:—"I am in a position to state, on the most unquestionable authority, that the British Government have decided not to disallow the Canadian Marine Telegraph Act, but to refer it back to Canada for final settlement.

They are permitted to elude together—three or four in a room—and, doubtless, they enjoy themselves after a fashion. There are no means of classifying them in the cells.

OUR DUAL REPRESENTATIVE.

Even our Dual Representative himself will, we think, admit that the "paid organs" defence of his anomalous position is very weak indeed. It amounts to this:—that the position occupied by Hon. Senator Provincial Secretary Haviland, M.P.P. and M.E.C., is not unlawful.

On this circumstance, the "paid organs" rest the defence of Senator-Provincial Secretary Haviland, M.P.P. and M.E.C. His inconsistency, the singularity of his position, its contrariety to the spirit of our constitution, to the letter of the law in Nova Scotia and Ontario; to the sense of our representatives convened, all hang in the single fact that the two parties in the Legislature disputed a more technicality in the bill—introduced by Mr. Haviland himself—to secure the Independence of Parliament by abolishing Dual Representation.

DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

AN AMBUSH AND COMBINED ATTACK—A SPIRITED HORSE AND A MAN BADLY INJURED.—ROUGH AND TUMULTUOUS CONFLICT IN A WAGON.

On Friday last, about half past eight or nine o'clock in the evening, Mr. William S. Glover, of Summerside, was quietly driving near "Three Mile Run," North River Road—when suddenly, without a moment's warning, six or seven men leaped from a clump of bushes on the roadside, and rushed upon him.

PLOUGHING MATCH.

[For the Examiner.]

A ploughing match in connection with the King's County Exhibition, took place in the vicinity of Montague Bridge, on Monday the 19th inst., under the superintendence of the Commissioners, resident in this vicinity.

TYDALES FAITH.

Mr. Tyndall produced an immense impression by his Belfast deliverance, and the occasion has been improved by both believers and unbelievers to revile or exult at the able exposition of the range and history of science given by the celebrated lecturer.

The insurrection in Argentina is on the decline. Gen. Mitre is retreating southward with 4,000 men, and 16,000 to 18,000 Government troops are in active pursuit.

DISRAELI AT GUILDHALL.

On November the 9th, being Lord Mayor's day in London, the usual civic Banquet took place at Guildhall. Mr. Disraeli and his cabinet were of course the heroes of the evening.

AGE AND WORK.

History furnishes us with many instances of men who come under the description of old men who have performed their best achievements during the last years of their lives.

NOV SCOTIA

BY THE DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE.

This statement is substantially a fact based upon evidence in the possession of the agent, in the shape of numerous testimonials from past sufferers, in all the walks of life, and particularly from some of our most respectable and trustworthy families.

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. In its history, this invaluable medicine occupies the most honorable position possible for any remedy to attain.

It was known only to the friends and neighbors and patients of the proprietor, and always sought for by them whenever troubled with Rheumatism, and in this way came to the notice of physicians generally, and through their favorable expression, and its acknowledged value as a Rheumatic Remedy, the demand for it became so frequent and urgent as to oblige its proprietors to increase their facilities for its manufacture.

Its reputation rapidly extended, and soon orders, letters of enquiry, letters of thanks, and certificates of praise, were daily received from all sections of the United States and Canada; and in this way a basis of merit was established by "tricks of trade" and special efforts—it has risen to its present enviable position. Wherever introduced it has received the most flattering preference in the treatment of all rheumatic complaints.

In this way we are really grateful and happy, not alone because our medicine finds ready sale, and is consequently profitable to us, do we say this, but because we open a new field in medical science, and soon order, letters of enquiry, letters of thanks, and certificates of praise, were daily received from all sections of the United States and Canada; and in this way a basis of merit was established by "tricks of trade" and special efforts—it has risen to its present enviable position.

'A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction.' HARPER'S BAZAR. ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press. The Bazar is edited with a combination of tact and talent that we seldom find in any journal, and the journal itself is the organ of the great world of fashion—Boston Traveller.

The household connects itself to every member of the household—the children, by their dolls and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion plates in endless variety, to the provident matron by its green markets, its receipts, its receipts, its receipts by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and luxurious dressing-gowns. But the leading-master of the Bazar is uniformly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the festive enjoyment it affords.—N. Y. Evening Post.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the world." Harper's Magazine. ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press. The ever increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the most useful and entertaining of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by its appeal to the popular mind.

The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture, for its practical value, for its good and noble aims, should cause its circulation to be regarded with justifiable complacency. It also invites them to a great claim upon the public mind, and it is a great pleasure to its conductors to see it so widely read.
