

Covers Prince Edward Island Like the Daily... Published every weekday morning at 148 Prince Street...

Hopeful Indications

Evidence of the desire of the Diefenbaker Government to implement its pre-election pledges was given in the Speech from the Throne...

This assurance has been hailed with satisfaction by Hon. Edgar Fournier, chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission...

Another matter of special interest in the Throne Speech was the reference to the meeting next month of federal and provincial leaders...

This was one of the strongest reasons for the defeat of our four Liberal candidates last June. Since that time Canada has had a free-trade offer from the United Kingdom...

So it is not at all a question of our representatives going begging to Ottawa for special favors. The men we elected were insistent on this point during the election campaign...

Politics & Science

President Eisenhower and some of his colleagues are obviously trying to make light of Russia's leading position in the development of space missiles...

the misfortune.

The scientists, however, are not as complacent or as cheerful as the politicians are making themselves out to be. For example, Dr. John R. Dunning, dean of the Columbia University School of Engineering...

Dr. Dunning called for "drastically new outlook to answer the challenge" and suggested that perhaps the free world would have to accept "a lower standard of living to combat Soviet progress."

No Isolation

Those who think it is difficult enough at times to put up with one government will find it possible to harbour a little pity in their hearts for the San Marinos who at the present time have two, one Communist and the other non-Communist...

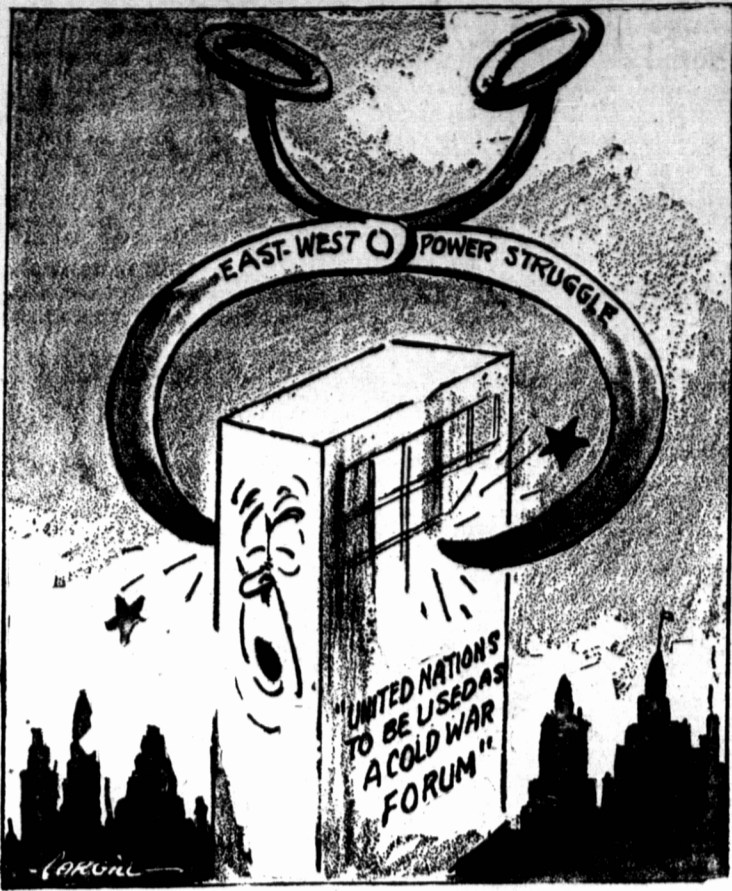

San Marino, which claims to be the oldest republic in the world, is certainly the smallest. In other and less troubled days the sort of conflict that is going on there now would have been regarded as nothing more serious than a comedy of errors...

It is one more confirmation of the truth that in these days no community, however small and insignificant in the general pattern of world politics, is an island to itself.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Citizens Research Institute of Canada has recommended that the Senate be kept in its present "ineffectual state."

The Government and people of Newfoundland are anxiously awaiting the report of the Royal Commission which is studying the financial needs of the Province.

THE ICE MAN COMETH

AT U. N. ASSEMBLY

The Decline Of The Great

By Heath Macquarrie

The other day I listened with rapt attention to the speech delivered before the General Assembly by the delegate of France, Mr. Georges-Picot...

Yet I could not prevent feelings of sadness and depression from arising within me as I listened to this dignified spokesman of one of the Great Powers in the United Nations.

But events since the war have so weakened France that she is somewhat outclassed by other Big Five states (China, of course must be considered in the light of political events since 1945).

Now it is the great region of Algeria which troubles French administrators and tries the political life of the nation. In Algeria there has been violence and bloodshed over many months and France has been much vilified by Arab propagandists.

OTTAWA REPORT

Grain Storage Problem

By Patrick Nicholson

Ottawa: The proposal to advance cash to farmers, against grain stored on their farms, is being carefully considered by the government on the direct instructions of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The Wheat Board's failure to sell all our grain surplus in recent years has filled up our elevator storage space, which makes it impossible for all farmers to deliver all their harvest promptly into the marketing channels.

A preliminary study shows that there are arguments both for and against the suggested cash advances for farm-stored grain.

Some farmers complain that they cannot deliver enough of their previous harvest to supply themselves with money to meet their current obligations. This shortage of cash among farmers who own considerable wealth in the form of farm-stored grain is slowing down trade throughout their communities.

On the other hand, most farmers are complaining less about their wealth being frozen than about the squeeze between falling prices for their farm products and rising prices for the machinery and clothing and other purchases which they have to make.

There is $450,000,000 in un sold grain lying on Prairie farms today. Saskatchewan is the province hardest hit by the failure of our past marketing policy.

has become detached from the Empire and in the United Nations two of its former component areas, Laos and Cambodia, sit as independent states. A third area, Vietnam, has been divided into Communist and non-Communist regions, both of which are quite independent of France.

In the Middle East, French influence was once a potent force in political and military considerations for that region. Syria and Lebanon were placed under French mandate when the old Ottoman Empire collapsed after the First World War.

The withering away of the French overseas domain then reached Africa where vast territories had long been under the control of France.

More important still are the thousands of French colonists who have long been residents of Algeria. The future of these people must be considered and the power vacuum which would result from an immediate French withdrawal would not be a healthy situation for them.

But the latest French government fell from power a few days ago, and with it the latest and apparently most satisfactory plan for breaking the Algerian debacle.

As one reflects upon the passage of time and the former state of this great leader of the Western world, he must regret the present position of France. Once the most powerful nation in Europe and in the vanguard in the arts, letters, and culture, and a champion of liberty, France today holds a precarious position among the great.

Yet there is much of France that will always be great. She has inspired much of the most far-sighted statesmanship of the post-war period. Many of the United Europe plans have been put forth by her leaders.

THE TRIANGLE - LUCKY In Manitoba, the pins are nearly all white. Around Moose Jaw, they are all white or yellow. But west and north of Moose Jaw, the darker colours predominate, and are solid around Kindersley.

Significantly, this is the Palliser Triangle, or "Dust Bowl," where four or five abnormally lush harvests have been enjoyed in recent years. The surplus of wheat still on those farms should be merely the surplus production remaining after the same amount per acre has been sold to the elevators by each prairie farmer.

their own lands. As Mr. Georges-Picot observed the other day: "I know fully well the prestige so properly enjoyed by the words 'freedom', 'independence' and 'self-determination' in our organization. They excite even those who, in their own lands have not known how to give them a concrete reality."

France has long sought to keep Algeria from becoming the subject of a propaganda contest at the United Nations, claiming that it is purely a matter of domestic concern under Article 4, section 7 of the Charter, the United Nations denies itself the right to intervene in such matters.

FRANCE'S FRIENDS France's friends in the United Nations have generally tried to support her case, one which is strong in law, since it is a large degree Algeria was a part of metropolitan France.

More important still are the thousands of French colonists who have long been residents of Algeria. The future of these people must be considered and the power vacuum which would result from an immediate French withdrawal would not be a healthy situation for them.

But the latest French government fell from power a few days ago, and with it the latest and apparently most satisfactory plan for breaking the Algerian debacle.

As one reflects upon the passage of time and the former state of this great leader of the Western world, he must regret the present position of France.

Yet there is much of France that will always be great. She has inspired much of the most far-sighted statesmanship of the post-war period.

Significantly, this is the Palliser Triangle, or "Dust Bowl," where four or five abnormally lush harvests have been enjoyed in recent years. The surplus of wheat still on those farms should be merely the surplus production remaining after the same amount per acre has been sold to the elevators by each prairie farmer.

Diabetics Have Special Problems

By Herman N. Sundness, M.D. We all know that diabetes is a big problem. Somewhere between 1,000,000 and 3,000,000 Americans have the disease.

Aside from the need for insulin and special diets, there are other problems associated with diabetes which few persons realize.

GREAT IMITATOR For one thing, diagnosing the disease frequently presents a problem. One reason why there are so many unreported cases is that diabetes is a great imitator.

Puzzling symptoms may lead the victim to suspect his trouble is only a case of indigestion. Pain and uneasiness following meals is a frequent symptom of diabetes which is blamed simply on indigestion.

Sometimes an acute case of diabetes provides symptoms similar to acute appendicitis. This is a problem for the doctor, one which he must solve in a hurry.

ALLERGIC TO INSULIN Administration of insulin also may be a problem. Some persons are allergic to insulin. Yet if they have diabetes, they vitally need it.

Generally, any reaction at the site of the injection will disappear in a few weeks. If the allergic reaction is severe, a different brand of insulin may be tried.

Beginning with a diluted solution, the physician gradually administers a series of graded doses until a resistance to the allergic reaction is built up.

All diabetes problems are not necessarily physical troubles. It is vitally important for a diabetic to avoid needless emotional crises.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS B. J.: Would a cyst on the breast cause backache? Answer: Not likely. Backache may be due to a variety of causes, such as poor posture, arthritis, neuritis and disorders of the internal organs.

The Age Old Story

For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ.

CUSTODIAN

The wind's a keeper of many secrets; He sees so much on the road he goes; Moonbeams lifting the latch of a fog; Dew shaking diamonds into a rose!

OUR YESTERDAYS

From The Guardian Files TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (Oct. 16, 1932)

Already the approaching Community Sunshine Days are beginning to stimulate the business life of the City. Saturday was recorded as the busiest day since last spring.

THE ANNUAL INSPECTION OF THE 26th Field Ambulance was held in the Drill Hall last evening when the unit was examined by Lieut. Col. R. N. Gosline, D.S.O., Halifax.

TEN YEARS AGO

Before a large audience in the Sporting Club Saturday evening, Mr. T. R. Jones, Secretary of Local 285, The Packing House Workers, stated it was the intention of his Union to remain on strike until Canada Packers agreed to give us a living wage so that we can feed and clothe our children on a level commensurate with the minimum standard of a civilized community.

Fire today destroyed the barn of George S. Munn on the St. Peters Road. The blaze was discovered about 2 o'clock. The Parkdale fire department responded to the call, and assistance was asked from Charlottetown. There was no estimate of the amount of the loss.

MAXIMS

To let friendship die away by negligence and silence is certainly not wise. It is voluntarily to throw away one of the greatest comforts of this weary pilgrimage.

NOTES BY THE WAY

New planes are getting so fast you hardly get time to become acquainted with the stewardesses anymore. — Niagara Falls Review.

It is said that a dog is a man's best friend. But the best friend of the mailman and milkman is the householder who does not own a dog. — Oshawa Times-Gazette.

In the pocket of an old and almost forgotten suit, the man at the next desk found a dollar bill. But instead of being pleased, he's disgusted at himself for not having spent it when it was worth that much. — Ottawa Journal.

Today here is a tendency to regard the old "imperialistic" days of exploitation of the Eastern people. This is the way that a man like Nehru often talks. But we must not forget that the British people have trained the natives in self-government.

By this time, we suppose last June's brides are thinly veiling snickers of sympathy for those who plan to become next June's brides. — Windsor Star.

Probably it's called middle age because that's where it shows. — Kitchener Waterloo Record.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING CLUBS The annual shut down period for all clubs in Prince Edward Island is October 16 - 31 inclusive. Service will commence again on Friday, November 1.

GINA — the first of three revealing installments the interesting stories appear in the STAR WEEKLY

One For All with New Family Plan One policy — one premium protects each member of your family with Great-West's Family Plan. One "unit" of the plan will: Insure Father for $5,000 — Mother for amounts ranging from $1,500 — each child for $1,000 — each new baby covered with no premium increase.

What has age to do with borrowing money? Age in a company spells experience. Because HFC is backed by 79 years' experience, you may borrow with confidence. You get prompt attention, repayment terms tailored to your needs, peace of mind about money matters. Do as two generations have done. Borrow with confidence from Household Finance.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE Corporation of Canada 117 Queen Street... Telephone 7398 150 Great George Street... Telephone 8517 CHARLOTTETOWN BOUNTY A bounty will be paid on SKUNKS, FOXES and RACCOON from October 21st, 1957 to MARCH 31st, 1958 as follows: SKUNKS $1.00 FOXES $3.00 RACCOON $3.00