

The Gentle Art of Winking.
 "When you have mastered the gentle art of winking," said Lord Beaconsfield, "you hold the key to success in your hands."
 Every one's personality is made up of trivial failings and trivial talents. Foster the good qualities in your friends and subordinates and wink at those failings so dear to their possessors. Not to see everything is a rule which will strengthen friendships and help you to get the best results from your fellow workers.
 "He is no good," said the great Napoleon of one of his officers. "He is continually looking into the privates' stew pot!"
 "I want a man who can keep his eye on the ultimate result and ignore little failings, never mind how aggravating," said Nelson. And General Gordon once remarked that the man who lost his temper because a private's boot lace was tied loosely on the day of battle did more to lose the day than all the army's guns.

"Not if it Were My Boy."
 Some years ago the late Horace Mann, the eminent educator, delivered an address at the opening of some reformatory institution for boys, during which he remarked that if only one boy was saved from ruin it would pay for all the cost and care and labor of establishing such an institution as that. After the exercises had closed, in private conversation, a gentleman rallied Mr. Mann upon his statement and said to him:
 "Did you not color that a little when you said that all that expense and labor would be repaid if it only saved one boy?"
 "Not if it were my boy," was the solemn and convincing reply.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his blood impure—he keeps his nerves and his body under a constant nervous strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The Golden Medical Discovery cures many so-called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The Discovery makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.
 The sprinkling of railway lines with oil is valuable in that rain does not penetrate the oiled outer crust, and that vegetation along the line of the rails is destroyed.

DANGER ON THE PRAIRIES.
 Alkali in Great Source of Trouble in Northwest.

OAK LAKE, MAN., Feb. 5.—One of the great drawbacks to life in the great Canadian wheat belt, is the presence of alkali in the water. This is a prolific source of kidney and bladder trouble and it is for this reason that Dodd's Kidney Pills are becoming indispensable in this district.
 Frank Colleaux, of Oak Lake writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the excellent curative qualities of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About two years ago I was attacked with kidney disease and severe pains in the back. A friend of mine advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so and six boxes cured me. My back has not troubled me since."
 When a girl refuses to marry a man, he concludes that she doesn't know her own mind; when a man refuses to marry a girl, she generally comes to the same conclusion.

Bismarck's Appetite.
 Among other amusing reminiscences of the late Prince Bismarck appearing in Herr John Booth's "Memoirs of the Iron Chancellor" is one relating to the latter's gargantuan capacity for eating and drinking. He told the author that the largest number of oysters he ever ate was 175. He first ordered 25; then as they were very good, 50 more, and, consuming these, determined to eat nothing else and ordered another hundred, to the great amusement of those present. Bismarck was then 26 and had just returned from England.

Experience Versus Arithmetic.
 Teacher—Johnny may stand up to recite. Now, Johnny, suppose I borrow $50 from your father and agree to pay $5 a week, how long will it be before he gets his money?
 Johnny—Just one week.
 Teacher—Oh, think again; that's not right!
 Johnny—Yes, it is. I know my father. He'd have you up in the courts by that time.

It Looked Suspicious.
 "Isn't your neighbor Blinkinoff a drinking man?"
 "I wouldn't like to give an expert opinion on the subject. I'll admit, however, that I saw him the other night trying to drive a spigot into an ash barrel, thinking that it was cider."
 —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Great City For Prayer.
 A visitor to Moscow soon discovers why it is called the Holy City. Every 200 or 300 feet there is a cathedral, church, chapel or shrine, and whichever way you look you see people crossing themselves. Until one has seen Moscow the pety of the place is not easily understood. The outsider cannot imagine Moscow conditions. He cannot imagine church bells ringing all the time and people praying in the public streets at all hours of day and night.

On a Camel.
 The sensation has been likened to that which would be felt by mounting a stool placed on a springless cart driven over a plowed field. I found it all that and more. Next to walking barefoot in chains, riding on camel back is, in the eyes of the Moors, the worst degradation they can put upon their prisoners.—Grey's "In Moorish Captivity."
