the doctors

approve of Scott's Emulsion. For whom? For men and women who are weak, when they should be strong; for babies and children who are thin, when they should be fat; for all who get no nourishment from their food. Poor blood is starved blood. Consumption and Scrofula never come without this starvation. And nothing is better for starved blood than cod-liver oil. Scott's Emulsion is cod-liver oil with the fish-fat taste taken out.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette

GOOD LADY DUCAYNE

By Miss Braddon

The dream troubled her a little, not because it was a ghastly or frightening dream, but on account of sensations which she had never felt before in sleep—a whirring of wheels that went round in her brain, a great noise like a whirlwind, but rhythmical like the ticking of a gigantic clock; and then in the midst of this uproar as of winds and waves she seemed to sink into a gulf of unconsciousness, out of sleep into a deeper sleep—total extinction. And then, after that blank interval, there had come the sound of voices, and then again the whirr of wheels, louder and louder—and again the blank—and then she knew no more till morning, when she awoke, feeling languid and oppressed.

She told Dr. Parravicini of her dream one day, on the only occasion when she wanted his professional advice. She had suffered rather severely from the mosquitoes before Christmas—and had been almost frightened at finding a wound upon her arm which she could only attribute to the venomous sting of one of these torturers. Parravicini put on his glasses, and scrutinized the angry mark on the round, white arm, as Bella stood before him and Lady Ducayne with her sleeve rolled up above her elbow.

"Yes, that's rather more than a joke," he said; "he has caught you on the top of a vein. What a vampire! But there's no harm done, signorina, nothing that a little dressing of mine won't heal. You must always show me any bite of this nature. It might be dangerous if neglected. These creatures feed on poison and disseminate it."

"And to think that such tiny creatures can bite like this," said Bella; "my arm looks as if it had been cut by a knife."

"If I were to show you a mosquito's sting under my microscope you wouldn't be surprised at that," replied Parravicini.

Bella had to put up with the mosquito bites, even when they came on the top of a vein, and produced that ugly wound. The wound recurred now and then at longish intervals, and Bella found Dr. Parravicini's dressing a speedy cure. If he were the quack his enemies called him, he had at least a light hand and a delicate touch in performing this small operation.

"Bella Rolleston to Mr. Rolleston.—April 14th.

"Ever Dearest—Behold the cheque for my second quarter's salary—five and twenty pounds. There is no one to pinch off a whole tenner for a year's commission as there was last time, so it is all for you, mother, dear. I have plenty of pocket-money in hand from the cash I brought away with me, when you insisted on my keeping more than I wanted. It isn't possible to spend money here—except on occasional tips to servants, or sous to beggars and children—unless one had lots to spend, for everything one would like to buy—tortoise-shell, coral, lace—is so ridiculously dear that only a millionaire ought to look at it. Italy is a dream of beauty: but for shopping, give me Newington Causeway.

"You ask me so earnestly if I am quite well that I fear my letters must have been very dull lately. Yes, dear, I am well—but I am not quite so strong as I was when I used to trudge to the West-end to buy half a pound of tea—just for a constitutional walk—or to Dulwich to look at the pictures. Italy is relaxing; and I feel what the people here call 'slack.' But I fancy I can see your dear face looking worried as you read this. Indeed, and indeed, I am not ill. I am only a little tired of this lovely scene—as I suppose one might get tired of looking at one of Turner's pictures if it hung on a wall that was always opposite one. I think of you every hour in every day—think of you and our homely little room—our dear little shabby parlor, with the arm-chairs from the wreck of your old home, and Dick swinging in his cage over the sewing-machine. Dear, shrill, maddening Dick, who, we flattered ourselves, was so passionately fond of us. Do tell me in your next that he is well

"My friend Lotta and her brother never came back after all. They went from Pisa to Rome Happy mortals! And they are to be on the Italian lakes in May; which lake was not decided when Lotta last wrote to me She has been a charming correspondent, and has confided all her little flirtations to me We are all to go to Bellaggio next week—by Genoa and Milan. Isn't that lovely? Lady Ducayne travels by the easiest stages—except when she is bottled up in the train de luxe. We shall stop two days at Genoa and one at Milan. What a bore I shall be to you with my talk about Italy when I come home

"Love and love—and ever more love from your adoring, Bella."

CHAPTER IV.

Herbert Stafford and his sister had often talked of the pretty English girl with her fresh complexion, which made such a pleasant touch of rosy color among all those sallow faces at the Grand Hotel. The young doctor thought of her with a compassionate tenderness—her utter loneliness in that great hotel where there were so many people, her bondage to that old, old woman, where everybody else was free to think of nothing but enjoying life. It was a hard fate; and the poor child was evidently devoted to her mother, and felt the pain of separation—"only two of them, and very poor, and all the world to each other," he thought.

Lotta told him one morning that they were to meet again at Bellaggio "The old thing and her court are to be there before we are," she said "I shall be charmed to have Bella again She is so bright and gay—in spite of an occasional touch of home-sickness I never took to a girl on a short acquaintance as I did to her."

"I like her best when she is home-sick," said Herbert; "for then I am sure she has a heart."

"What have you to do with hearts, except for dissection? Don't forget that Bella is an absolute pauper. She told me in confidence that her mother makes mantles for a West-end shop You can hardly have a lower depth than that"

"I shouldn't think any less of her if her mother made match-boxes."

"Not in the abstract—of course not. Match boxes are honest labor. But you couldn't marry a girl whose mother makes mantles."

"We haven't come to the consideration of that question yet," answered Herbert, who liked to provoke his sister.

In two-years' hospital practice he had seen too much of the grim realities of life to retain any prejudices about rank Cancer, phthisis, gangrene, leave a man with little respect for the outward differences which vary the husk of humanity The kernel is always the same—fearfully and wonderfully made—a subject for pity and terror

Mr Stafford and his sister arrived at Bellaggio on a fair May evening The sun was going down as the steamer approached the pier; and all that glory of purple bloom which curtains every wall at this season of the year flushed and deepened in the glowing light A group of ladies were standing on the pier watching the arrivals, and among them Herbert saw a pale face that startled him out of his wonted composure.

"There she is," murmured Lotta, at his elbow, "but how dreadfully changed She looks a wreck"

They were shaking hands with her a few minutes later, and a flush had lighted up her poor pinched face in the pleasure of meeting.

"I thought you might come this evening," she said. "We have been here a week."

She did not add that she had been there every evening to watch the boat in, and a good many times during the day. The Grand Bretagne was close by, and it had been easy for her to creep to the pier when the boat bell rang. She felt a joy in meeting these people again; a sense of being with friends; a confidence which Lady Ducayne's goodness had never inspired in her.

"Oh, you poor darling, how awfully ill you must have been," exclaimed Lotta, as the two girls embraced.

Bella tried to answer, but her voice was choked with tears.

"What has been the matter, dear? That horrid influenza, I suppose?

"No, no, I have not been ill—I have only felt a little weaker than I used to be. I don't think the air of Cap Ferrino quite agreed with me."

"It must have disagreed with you abominably. I never saw such a change in anyone. Do let Herbert doctor you. He is fully qualified, you know. He has prescribed for ever so many influenza patients at the Londres. They were glad to get advice from an English doctor in a friendly way."

"I am sure he must be very clever!" faltered Bella; "but there is really nothing the matter. I am not ill, and if I were ill, Lady Ducayne's physician—"

"That dreadful man with the yellow face? I would as soon one of the Borgias prescribed for me. I hope you haven't been taking any of his medicines."

"No, dear, I have taken nothing. I have never complained of being ill."

This was said while they were all three walking to the hotel. The Staffords' rooms had been secured in advance, pretty ground-floor rooms, opening into the garden. Lady Ducayne's statelier apartments were on the floor above.

"I believe these rooms are just under ours," said Bella.

"Then it will be all the easier for you to run down to us," replied Lotta, which was not really the case, as the grand staircase was in the center of the hotel.

"Oh, I shall find it easy enough," said Bella. "I'm afraid you'll have too much of my society. Lady Ducayne sleeps away half the day in this warm weather, so I have a good deal of idle time; and I get awfully moped thinking of mother and home."

To be Continued.)

Don't Wait for the Sick Room.

The experience of physicians and the public proves that taking Scott's Emulsion produces an immediate increase in flesh: it is therefore of the highest value in Wasting Diseases and Consumption.

"To My Life's End."

Old age brings many aches and pains which must be looked after if health is to be maintained. This depends more than anything else on the kidneys. "I am 85 years old," writes A. Duffin, farmer, Aultsville, Ont, "and have had kidney trouble five years. My son advised Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I obtained immediate relief. I shall use them to my life's end." You will find Chase's Pills equally effective for that lame back.

A Wrong Theory—"I believe in letting a woman have her own way."

She—What! And thus deprive her of the pleasure of blaming somebody else when things go wrong.—Truth.

Completely Knocked Out.

"I was so much run down I had to give up work, and I felt as if life was not worth living," writes Wm. W. Thompson, Z phyr Ont. "I took Scott's Sarsaparilla and am now feeling as I did years ago." Scott's Sarsaprilla tones up the entire system, purifies the blood, and eradicates rheumatic and scrofulous poison. Ask for Scott's and get it.

According to a cable letter, bicycling is more in vogue in England this summer than ever, and it has been very much in vogue in England for many years now. "Everybody" has a wheel and uses it. Even the Thames, above London, is deserted by the boating parties that once made it so lively, and the gay participants are to be found pedalling along the country roads.

A Child Cured of Eczema by Chase's Ointment.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result The doctor advised the use of Chase's Ointment, and since using the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured.

The Cuban order prohibiting the export of leaf tobacco may bother outside manufacturers for a while, but it will not diminish the supply of cigars made from Havana leaf. A good many of these are made from Jamaica leaf, and some, it is suspected, from tobacco that was never nearer the tropics than New Jersey.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to a well-known citizen on one of the leading streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to them.

Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganized, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work porperly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

A box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at a cost of 25 cents will regulate the system, purify the blood and make a new person of every sickly man, woman or child.

Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. One pill a dose, one cent a dose.

Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine is and colds. Largest bottle on the market; only 25 cents.

A SAVED MAN'S CONFESSION

"I AM PERFECTLY CURED."

Paine's Celery Compound, the Kind that Cures, Saves a Photographer's Life.

'The kind that cures.';

This short sentence implies warning, comfort and joy, but there are some who do not fully grasp its depth of meaning.

"The kind that cures," refers directly to that marvellous disease-curing medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medical prescription of the century, that sick people can implicitly trust in and look for the banishment of all nervous troubles, dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism and blood diseases.

"The kind that cures" warns you to be ever watchful, less substituters try to persuade you to take what they term SOMETHING JUST AS GOOD The continual anxiety of the substituting dealer, is to sell you some worthless medicine from which he derives a large profit.

"The kind that cures" was the medicine used by Mr. Hubert Raimand, of Roxton Pond, P.Q.. After he was perfectly and completely cured, he wrote as follows:

"I desire to inform you in as few words as possible what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I was a photographer in the United States for 19 years, and was obliged to return to Canada in order to regain my health. I used all kinds of medicines that were recommended to me. but they brought me no relief or cure. My troubles were a very bad form of dyspepsia and rheumatism of the stomach For ten years I was very miserable and suffered much My wife bought me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, which I used with wonderful results. I continued until I used twelve bottles, and am now completely cured. I cannot thank you sufficiently for the great good yoSr Paine's Celery Compound has done for me."

BIBLE FIGURES.

The Bible contains 3,586,488 letters, 773,662 words, 31,173 verses, 1,189 chapters, and 66 books. The word "and" occurs 46,277 times. The word "reverend" occurs but once, which is in the 9th verse of the 111th Psalm. The middle verse is the 8th verse of the 118th Psalm. The 21st verse of the 7th chapter of Ezra contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter "j." The finest chapter to read is the 25th chapter of Acts of the Apostles. The 19th chapter of 2nd Kings, and the 37th chapter of Isaiah are alike. The longest verse is the 9th verse of the 8th chapter of Esther. The shortest verse is the 35th verse of the 11th chapter of St. John. The 7th, 15th, 21st and 31st verses of the 107th Psalm are alike. Each verse of the 137th Psalm ends alike. There are no words or names of six syllables.

GOOD DEMAND FOR GOOD HORSES.

Reviewing the horse market outlook, the New York Herald sizes up the situation in a few words, as follow: "There is nobody in the horse business just now doing any worrying. It is many years since there was such a genuine demand for good horses, and at really good prices. This has been brought about mainly by three prime factors: First, the restrictions in breeding operations, which are now begining to tell; second, the fact that the number of those who can afford to buy and drive high-class horses is continually on the increase; and thirdly and lastly, everything that Americans are not smart enough to secure is gobbled up by agents for English and European firms.

Venezuela is to pay Great Britain £1,600 indemnity for the Uruan incident, in which a British police officer was seized and held as a prisoner. There are many stipulations connected with the payment, as to its not being a precedent, and as to its not affecting the boundary dispute; but it is a payment, and it means that Venezuela will leave Englishmen alone, whether they are in disputed territory or not.

Kind Words from the Fred Victor Mission Bible Class.

On behalf of the Fred Victor Mission Bible Class I wish to express our gratitude to you for the box of Chase's Ointment which you supplied in aid of our charitable work to the infant child of Mrs. Brownrig, 162 River street. Ten days ago the child was awfully afflicted with scald head, the face being literally one scab from forehead to chin, and in that brief time a complete cure has been effected. Surely your gift was worth more than its weight in gold.

The Toronto Globe says of the Roman Catholic Bishops' pastoral letter that it lays down a principle that must be resented without reference to what the effects on the fortunes of political parties may be. That is for the English McCarthyite wing of the Laurier combination. The Quebec L'Electeur says it puts Liberal stock up 50 per cent., it is such a good thing for Mr. Laurier. That is for the French Catholic part of the Liberal chief's followers. The Opposition is about as much divided on this as it is on every other issue before the country.

Science Triumphant at Last.

Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the outcome of the latest scientific researches. There was always a prejudice against taking Cod Liver Oil on account of its disagreeable taste, but Miller's Emulsion is agreeable to the palate, and that is one reason why it has become so popular with the medical fraternity, the hospitals of the country and the households wherever consumption or lung troubles prevail. Miller's Emulsion is the great nerve strengthener and blood maker, and cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Scrofula and all Lung affections. In Big Bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment

THE SOOTHING HEALING ANODYNE.

It is the original.
It is the best in use.
It is unlike any other.
It is the oldest on earth.
It is superior to all others.
It is the great vital and muscle nervine.
It is for internal as much as external use.
It is used and endorsed by all athletes.
It is a soothing, healing, penetrating Anodyne.
It is what every mother should have in the house.
It is used and recommended by many physicians everywhere.
It is the Universal Household Remedy from infancy to old age.
It is safe to trust that which has satisfied generation after generation.
It is made from the favorite prescription of a good old family physician.
It is marvellous how many ailments it will quickly relieve, heal and cure.
