St. Patrick's Play Is Enjoyed By Audience In Kensington

KENSINGTON — Excellent entertainment was a furnished Saturday night for the large crowd attending the annual St. Patrick's play at Kensington. "Casey's Inn," a three-act comedy, provided fun from beginning to end, and in addition carried a plot which kept the audience in suspense to the happy climax.

It would be unfair to single out any character for special praise, as each was well chosen and ably performed. However, Joseph MacDonald, as Tim Casey, proprietor of Casey's Inn, delighted the audience with his near perfect interpretation of a witty Irishman, throughout the four scenes of the lengthy play. Hilda Ramsay, as his wife, Katie as usual gave the excellent performance. Kensington drama lovers have learned to expect from her. In addition to a leading part Mrs. Ramsay also directed the play. Others in the cast were John Assanau, who played Clark Starret, a rather boisterous young man; Mabel MacLellan as Mrs. Casey, who played the role which hears only the traveller.

Redeque 11 a.m. Travellers Rest 2:00 p.m., Free town 7:30 p.m. Evening Song Service drum, minister.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, Summerside Minister, Rev. D.L. Howitt, Bible School 10 a.m. Worship 11 a.m. evening service 7:00.

things; Bes Kennedy, as Sally Matthews, a milliner; Leonard MacLellan as James Montgomery Hardwicke, a prophet without honor in his hometown; Annette Assanau as Gwendolyn Aubrey, secretary to Leslie Sabar, a famous star played by Thelma Cameron; Harold Howard as Theodore Van Volckenhoven, Leslie's temperamental director; and Bernard MacLellan, as Nat Gill, Kensington's leading citizen.

Specialties included piano duets by Mrs. L. K. Zielinski ## there? Perhaps he has, but he might find a more profitable manner of expending his energy.

Now, as to whether "Gallows Humor" is or is not a good bunk of drama, I reckon it might be a matter of personal opinion, but let us not overlook the fact that the c h a s p o who chose it for broadcast must have figured it out on the basis that "Disgraced" would be in bed by that time of night and they could slip it in without his noticing.

I would like to make a suggestion to "Disgraced" that might help keep him from getting bored and writing to the paper each time he sees a program he

SOCIAL WELFARE

under a Conservative government!

more for P.E. in six years than preceding governments in twenty-two

In the field of Social Welfare . . . a field which is of concern to practically every family in Prince Edward Island . . . the progress and achievement record under a Conservative government has been phenomenal . . . and the record clearly shows that the Conservative government has put into effect plans and ideas which previously, under Liberal governments, had been ignored . . . or which had received only slight consideration in Ottawa.

Let The Record Speak For Itself:

- in six short years old age pensions have been increased on two occasions
- increased pensions for the blind
- hospital insurance contributions
- increased assistance for disabled persons
- 85% of all residents of the Atlantic provinces pay less income tax now than they did under the Liberals.
- hospital grants
- increased Old Age assistance
- increased pensions for veterans

... Still More In The Future

- Family Allowances to be extended to 18 years of age
- Establishment of Homes for Senior Citizens—an extension of the program already under way
- Establishment of a contributory old age pension plan providing additional benefits over and above the existing old age pension
