Meek-Looking Peasants By Day May Be Viet Cong Guerrillas

SAIGON (AP)—Who are the Viet Cong who prosecute the cruel, stealthy jungle war in South Viet Nam

A Viet Cong guerrilla may be an innocent-looking peasant by day, toiling in his rice paddy, who is transformed by night into a furtive killer. He may be an elusive assassin, a suicidal terrorist or a highly disciplined guerrilla soldier.

He does not call himself Viet Cong. That is a term invented in Saigon, short for "Vietnamese Communist." The odds are that he considers himself a patriot. He shows little compassion, kills without mercy and probably expects no mercy at the hands of his enemy.

He can melt into the countryside and become invisible only yards from his foe. Incredibly adept at camouflage, the VC—as he is called in Saigon—often covers his whole body with camouflage to blend with the terrain.

He can remain submerged in the muddy water of a rice paddy for hours, breathing through a straw. He can pop up suddenly out of nowhere, fire on his enemy pointblank and just as rapidly vanish.d

The VC travels light. Often he carries only his gun and homemade dagger, his water canteen fashioned from a bamboo log and his sack of rice. Often he may wear only black peasant clothing, or perhaps just a pair of shorts, coolie hat and sandals made from old rubber tires.

Accustomed to stealthy combat, discomfort and privation, he is likely to be unusually well-disciplined, but at the same time able to act independently in an emergency.

Frequently he travels in small units of just a few men, who merge into battalion strength or more only when the time is at hand for battle. Far less encumbered than the South Vietnamese army soldier, he is highly mobile.

Knowing the terrain of his country, he is skilful at hiding out in caves, networks of tunnels or even fortifications he has helped laboriously to dig in the heavy forest.

He can fashion ingenious weapons from all manner of ordinary things, but often uses modern arms—captured American material, Soviet - design carbines, Chinese recoilless cannon, Czech machineguns.

Many a VC is a master of terror tactics who picks his victims carefully—an unpopular civil servant in a fortified village, members of a Vietnamese soldier's family, a district chief, a Roman Catholic priest, a teacher who refuses to teach Communist propaganda.

Outside the Communist leadership, few can say for sure how many Viet Cong guerrillas are fighting in the war. Estimates at the beginning of this year were in the neighborhood of 35,000 regulars and about 80,000 irregulars, but the VC recruits all the time in the areas he controls.

Winnipeg Paper Said In Contempt

WINNIPG (CP)—The Free Press Friday was found in contempt of court for two stories published during an attempted murder trial.

Mr. Justice Gordon C. Hall ordered fines of $300 against the Winnipeg Free Press Company Limited and $100 against reporter Michael Olver. Costs were ordered against both.

In his written judgment delivered in Court of Queen's Bench, Mr. Justice Hall said there was no intention that the stories should prejudice a fair trial, but rather a failure to achieve the standard of care which might reasonably be expected."

The stories were published Feb. 18 and 19 during the trial here of Germain Bernard of Montreal and Stanford Roy Settee of Winnipeg. The two were charged with attempted murder in the stabbing of Jean Paul Fournel, a figure in Montreal's Santa Claus bank holdup and a fellow prisoner at Stony Mountain Penitentiary.

The first story said Settee had recently been discharged from Stony Mountain at the end of a two-year term for assault, and had sought unsuccessfully to have the charge against him reduced to assault causing bodily harm.

The second said Bernard had been brought to Stony Mountain from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary in Montreal after another prisoner there was killed.

DECLARED MISTRIAL

After counsel for both accused objected to the stories, Mr. Justice Hall ruled both stories might have a prejudicial effect on the jury and declared a mistrial. A new trial has not yet been set.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice Hall said both stories contained material not admissible as evidence unless introduced by the defence. They were likely and probable to bring about a real and substantial interference with the fair trial of both the accused."

The judgment said:

'Persons engaged in journalism or other media are bound to exercise a high standard of care in publishing proceedings of the court. That duty is commensurate with the risk of prejudice and the other factors which may be involved.

"In these days of rapid and instant communication, consummate care is required. A high standard of professional skill and discipline is demanded and this is especially so when the liberty of the subject is involve."

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY S. JENKINS

Inserted by the family

Sorrow entered the homes of Mt. Albion and surrounding communities on Tuesday, February 23rd, 1965, when it was learned Mrs. Henry S. Jenkins had passed away at Cross Roads in her 62nd year.

Olive was the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Horton, Mt. Albion and the late Benjamin Horton. She was united in marriage to Mr. Henry S. Jenkins, Mt. Albion and in that community they made their home.

Mrs. Jenkins was a faithful member of Hazelbrook Baptist Church and Womens Missionary Society.

During her long illness she demonstrated patience and resignation to the will of God that was an inspiration to all her relatives and friends, as well as to those who cared for her during her last days.

Left to mourn her passing are her husband Henry, her mother Mrs. Horton, Mt. Albion, one daughter, Ruth, Mrs. Lawson MacEachern, Cherry Valley, three sons, Chester, Toronto, Ontario; Wendell and Lloyd, Mt. Albion. One brother, Harry Horton, Mt. Albion.

The funeral, under the direction of MacLean Funeral Home, was held in Hazelbrook Baptist Church, Feb. 25th and conducted by Lic. Jerry Cole. Rev. D.L. Howlett of Summerside gave the message which was entitled "God's Glory in the Morning", and taken from Exodus 16.7.

During the service Eva Wood and Arlene MacDonald sang "God's Way." A quartet composed of Earle Jones, Harry Jones, Harold Carver and Ludlow Carver sang "Going Down the Valley One by One." Mrs. Harold Carver was the organist and the congregational hymns were, "The Lord's My Shepherd," and "Abide With Me."

The pallbearers were Lawson Jenkins, Vernon MacLeod, Robert MacKinnon, Daniel Acorn, Hector Jenkins, Ralph Horton. Flower bearers were: Hudson Jenkins, Stewart Jenkins, Sterling Jenkins, Donald Jenkins, Hollis Wood, Keith Jones.

Interment in the church cemetery.

"DEATH IS A DOOR"

Death is only an old door
Set in a garden wall
On quiet hinges it gives at dusk
When the late birds call.

Along the Lintel are green leaves
Beyond the light lies still;
Very weary and willing feet
Go over that sill.

There is nothing to trouble any heart.
Nothing to hurt at all.
Death is only an old door
In a garden wall ...

CARD OF THANKS

Henry S. Jenkins and family wish to express sincere thanks to Dr. Rachmel, Mrs. Charles Fraser R.N., Lorne Jenkins, Rev. D. L. Howlett, Lic. Jerry Cole, Rev. T.R. Goudge, Rev. Ross Howard, nurses and staff of the P.E.I. Hospital, MacLean Funeral Home, also a sincere thank you to all who sent flowers, Memorial Bibles, Hymn books, cards and letters of sympathy and to all kind friends and neighbors who helped in any way during the illness and death of a dear wife and mother.

B-B Commission Said Over-Stepping Bounds

By RONALD LEBEL

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MPs complained in the Commons Friday the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism has over-stepped its bounds by "grilling" many members on broad political and cultural issues.

Other Conservatives said English-speaking civil servants and military personnel are worried that the government's bilingual program will hurt their promotion chances.

First public word about a commission survey of MPs came in the question period when Nicholas Mandziuk (PC—Marquette) asked Prime Minister Pearson whether he was aware the "psycho - analytical survey" was under way.

"This very important matter has not yet been brought to my attention," Mr. Pearson replied. "I would hope if the commission feels inclined to do this, it would not make any exceptions."

It was learned reliably later, interviewers from the royal commission have questioned about 50 MPs from all parties in the last three weeks and plan to see all members who agree to be interviewed.

Mr. Mandziuk said outside the House that several of his colleagues were questioned for up to 2½ hours and asked to fill in questionnaires with 17 biographical questions and 30 questions on a wide range of touchy political subjects.

Stanley Korchinski (PC—Mackenzie) asked Mr. Pearson whether he will put a stop to questioning of MPs on topics that are not even remotely connected with bilingualism and biculturalism.

Province May Develop 1st Viking Site

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood said Thursday the government may develop the site of the first Viking landing at Lance aux Meadows, Nfld., as "one of the most important historic sites in North America."

He said the government is "taking a good look at the site" and it will be developed "if this site can be established officially as the site of the landing of Leif Ericson and the first settlement in North America."

He said one of the first acts would be to name the long highway which runs up the St. Barbe coast from central and western Newfoundland to the northern peninsula "the Leif Ericson Highway."

Norwegian archeologist Helgut Ingstad found a small "whorl" or spindle used by the Vikings to spin wool during the time Ericson is supposed to have reached "Vineland" in the new world.
