THOMAS E. NOONAN

There passed away suddenly at his home in Albany on December 6, 1963, a true Christian gentleman in the person of Thomas E. Noonan. The late Mr. Noonan had been in retirement for several years but had enjoyed excellent health until his sudden and unexpected passing while preparing to leave home on a visit to his family in Ontario. He was stricken with a heart attack and died before medical attention could be of any help to him. The Last Sacraments were administered by Reverend Harold Croken of Kinkora.

The late Mr. Noonan was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Noonan. He was born on January 14, 1892 at Albany, P.E.I. where he lived until his death. During most of his lifetime he operated the farm at the old family homestead, but in recent years was employed by the Canadian National Railways. He was at one time a member of the Provincial Police and served in that force with distinction. He retired from C.N.R. service several years ago and since then alternated his time between his much-loved children in Ontario and his many fond friends in Albany and surrounding areas.

The late Mr. Noonan remained young in heart, habit and disposition throughout his entire life. His home was always a gathering place for the youth of the community, and he was a friend and confidant of all who came to him. He was a truly deeply human man, tolerant of human frailties, and inspired by true Charity in his dealings with his fellow man. He had an engaging sense of humor which survived and surmounted all of the difficulties which life presented to him. All who knew him have been saddened at his passing.

Apart from his many friends, Mr. Noonan leaves to mourn his wife, the former Patricia Hughes whom he married almost 50 years ago, two sons, Eldon and Ambrose of Brantford, Ontario, and one daughter Geraldine, (Mrs. Walter Dorsey) also of Brantford. Among his sorrows were the passing of three children who predeceased him, Thornton, Ernest, and Noreen. He is also survived by two sisters, Lillian, (Mrs. Charles Melvet), Summerside, and Jennie, (Mrs. Jack Farmer) Kinkora, and two brother, James in Albany and William in Borden.

The funeral was held from the Monaghan Funeral Home in Kinkora to Seven Mile Bay Church, where Requiem High Mass was offered by Rev. Reginald MacDonald. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Harold Croken, Rev. Arthur Pendergast, and Rev. Austin Bradley. Father MacDonald also conducted the services at the cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs Hendley MacDonald, Sterling MacKay, Peter Nicholson, Robert Carmichael, Lorne Noonan, and George Rushes.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Thomas E. Noonan wish to extend their sincere thanks to the clergy, to all those who sent flowers, mass cards, spiritual bouquets, and to all those who helped in many ways during the sad bereavement.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANGUS D. MARTIN

Inserted by the family.

The community of Valleyfield and surrounding area, as well as her family, relatives and friends were saddened on Friday, January 31, to hear of the death of Mrs. Malcolm D. Martin, in the Kings County Memorial Hospital, Montague.

Although in her 87th year, she had continued remarkably active and alert, and had only entered the hospital a few days previous to her death.

The late Mrs. Martin, born in Glen Martin, P.E.I., was the daughter of Kenneth Martin and his wife Mary Bruce Martin. Before her marriage she spent some years in Boston, Mass.

She married Malcolm D. Martin in 1902. For the past 60 years she has resided in Valleyfield, where her neighbors now keenly feel the loss of one of their senior citizens, who lived for so many years and was a good neighbor in their midst. Many relatives and friends through the years shared the friendly hospitality of her home, where they were always sure of receiving a warm welcome.

Her life was a busy one in the home, community and church. She was a good homemaker, mother, and grandmother, and is sorely missed by her children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Martin was a faithful member of Valleyfield Church, which she generously supported, and which she attended regularly until the last year or two, when due to the infirmities of older age, she became more confined to her home.

In her concern for the spiritual life of young people, she encouraged her family to the same generous support, attendance, and helpful participation in any church activity.

She was an active member of the Ladies Aid and of the Women's Missionary Society, and a charter member of both. She was also a life member of the WMS and until recent years, missed very few meetings.

She was a member of the Women's Institute Branch in the district, and continued her interest in it, and was always ready to help in any way she could.

During her declining years her needs were kindly considered by her son and daughter-in-law and family who lived in the home with her.

She was predeceased by her husband, who passed away 10 years ago, and by their daughter, Mary, who died in 1930.

Left to mourn a loving mother are one daughter, Katharine, Mrs. Art Burns, Charlottetown, and six sons, as well as 18 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren, besides nieces and nephews. She was good to them all, and they made her life happy by their frequent visits and thoughtful remembrances.

The sons are Donald, Montreal; John K., Charlottetown; Angus, at home; Charles, Saskatoon; Callum, Bellevue, and Allan in Charlottetown.

Of a large family of sisters and brothers, only one, Marjorie, Mrs. Ino Alex MacPherson, Toronto, Ont., lives to mourn the loss of a sister.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of the Montague Funeral Home. With Mrs. P. Peardon, organist, and the Valleyfield choir, the hymns sung were "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "O God, Our Help In Ages Past." The Brooklyn Trio sang "The Christian's Goodnight". Army General Named Brazilian President

BRASILIA (AP)—The army general who led the successful military coup against Joao Goulart's government was named interim Brazilian president during the weekend in a drab, spiritless congressional election.

The nearly unanimous vote Saturday for Gen. Humberto Castello Branco was marred by a low-keyed, but nevertheless dramatic show of defiance by Goulart's Labor party which abstained from the roll call vote in the chamber of deputies.

The combined congress — chamber and senate—gave Castello Branco 361 votes out of 438 present. There were 72 abstentions and 37 congressmen were absent.

Christian Democrat deputy Juarez Tavora received three votes and retired Marshal Eurico Gaspar Dutra two. Dutra is a former Brazilian president.

Castello Branco will serve out

Always a smile, never a frown
There wasn't a thing too big or too small
That she wouldn't try to do for us all
Treasured memories of a wife and mother
We loved, and will never forget.

what was left of the ousted Goulart's term—until Jan. 31, 1966, when a full-term president, to be elected in October, 1965, will take over.

PROMISES COHESION

The new 63-year-old president promised to deliver "to my successor elected by the people in free elections a cohesive nation and one much more confident in its future and without the fears and anxieties of today."

Jose Maria Alkmin, an influential politican who was a former minister of finance, was elected vice-president in a run-off vote.

The congressional vote required 2½ hours. There was only polite applause from the packed galleries when the totals were announced. Most of the time was taken up by party leaders who restated their support for the military revolt and the interim government.

Deputy Boutel de Andrade of the Brazilian Labor party gave the deputies and the galleries their biggest surprise when he announced his group was abstaining from the voting.

He said his party's action was based on the lack of sufficient time during which the will of the people on the issues could be consulted "in a valid and legitimate manner."

This was interpreted to mean the Labor party favored a popular instead of a congressional vote with which to choose a new government.

SHOTS FIRED

Shortly before the election two members of the left-of-centre Brazilian Labor party were involved in a shooting incident in the congress.

The shooting seemed to have no bearing on the voting for the new president. Nevertheless, combat troops took up positions around the capital and along approaches to government square.

The shooting incident was touched off by a chance meeting in the congressional lobby of deputy Osvaldo Lima Filho, a supporter of ousted president Goulart, and deputy Milton Cabral. Lima Filho accused Cabral of supporting the anti-Goulart coup, led by Castello Branco. The two went at each other with fists. Then, witnesses said, Lima Filho drew a pistol, fired three times but missed Cabral. The bullets hit a wall.

Guards and other congressmen separated the pair.
