

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

NOVEMBER 12, 1894.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A meeting of all persons who wish to see the Harbor Light maintained in the coming winter will be held in the parlour of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, 6 to 10.

In reference to the statements of a correspondent in Saturday's EXAMINER, we are authorized to say that neither Senator Ferguson nor Mr. Blake had anything to do with the re-employment of Mr. John Good on the Railway.

The new United States tariff is still Protectionist, and is still upon the whole, higher than that of Canada. But it approaches towards the Canadian tariff, and already the business depression is reported to be clearing away. "Prosperity," we are told, "is returning."

The lesson for Canada is clear: stick to moderate, incidental protection, the policy of the present Government the policy embodied in our National Policy.

Montreal Gazette: The Liberal hopes of success at the next Canadian election were admittedly based on the idea that the free trade ideas of Mr. Cleveland's friends would spread over into the Dominion. Whatever influence the Democrats' tariff muddling may have had in Canada may be left to take care of by the sympathetic effect of the free trade ideas of Mr. Cleveland's friends.

The Pall Mall Gazette contains a racy article headed "The Metaphysics of Law," in opposition to the present disestablishment of the Church of England on the plea of Religious Equality. According to this view, it says: "Religious Equality means 'simple direct plunder of that property which the State never gave to the Church, and which the State ought not to take from it.'"

Advices from the country report that the people of this Province heartily endorse and approve the idea of making Senator Ferguson Minister of Agriculture in the event of a change in the cabinet. It is urged with a great deal of force that an interest so large and important as that of agriculture ought, if possible, to be represented in the cabinet by a practical agriculturist, and that Senator Ferguson is a practical agriculturist, whose ability, knowledge and experience would legislate fit him for a Cabinet position.

The Guardian refers to the defeat of Gorman and Hill as proof that the people of the United States want "tariff for revenue only." Our religious contemporary knows right well that both Gorman and Hill are the unscrupulous users of corrupt political factions, and that it was because they were so that the moral sense of their constituents rebelled against them and repudiated them.

The "several untruths" exposed in the following paragraph, were spread abroad in this Province. It is therefore but right they should in this Province be corrected. We quote from The Nation, of New York, (Nov. 8), a journal of the highest character. Those who retailed the "several untruths" here will perhaps note the following statement:

"A condensed summary of the testimony of Mr. Pullman and other officers of the Pullman Car Company before the Carroll Wright commission has been published in a pamphlet. Several untruths that were promulgated at the time by clergymen and others residing in the town of Pullman, who were accepted as disinterested witnesses, are now exposed. For example, the Rev. Mr. Carwardine said in his book that the company paid four cents per thousand gallons of water and retailed it at ten cents per thousand gallons. The fact is that the company pays seven cents and retails it at four cents, making a net loss of about $200 per month. When Mr. Carwardine was asked what was his authority, he said that his statement 'was true as far as he could find out.' Another witness named Heathcote has affirmed that the company was making a yearly profit of $32,000 on the water supply. The same witness (Heathcote) had declared that it was made a condition of getting employment in the Pullman works that the employees should live in the company's houses. This was proved to be untrue by the records, which showed that of 3,284 shop employees on April 30, 1894, 1,563 owned the houses they lived in, and 1,721 others lived outside the town in houses not owned by the company, and that no discrimination was made between those inside and those outside the town."

A CHILD ENJOYS The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be constipated or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known, and every family should have a bottle on hand.

Hoof's Sarsaparilla acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

One hundred black and colored quills received, selling from 10 cents each. New leathers, dress trimmings, braids, velvets, satins, fur goods, and English blankets.—Jas Paton & Co.

FOOTBALL AT THE PARK.

Crescents, 6, Prince of Wales College, 0.

The football match between the Prince of Wales team and the Crescents came off on Saturday afternoon at Victoria Park and resulted in a victory for the latter by six points to nil. The Crescents' defence was excellent, and the ball was slowly worked into the College territory by a short run or two and hard scrummaging. The College boys here were awarded a free kick. The ball was again soon within a few yards of the western goal line and Macdonald went over the line with the ball, securing a try. No goal was kicked. The Crescents were given another free kick, but soon forced to rouse for safety. More forward work near centre took place. The ball was kicked down behind the Prince's goal line, and blocked by a Crescent on the return kick, and another try secured by McLean. No goal. The College again roused. Time was soon called, the score being 6-0. The teams changed goals, and the Crescents kicked off. The ball was returned, and more scrummaging began. Some of the Crescents forwards were out of practice, and their work as a body was ragged. The College's hard practice was showing itself in this halt. There was plenty of open play, and the backs had good chances for runs, but very little material gains were made. The Princes worked like the Crescents' goal line, and blocked the latter's goal line and roused, but the rouse was dissipated by the referee. The ball was worked out of danger, and when time was called was near mid-field. Dr. H. D. Johnson acted in the capacity of referee very satisfactorily.

EASTERN ITEMS.

The Maggie Alice, Capt. Lannigan, of Souris, about which some fears were entertained since late storms, arrived home safely from St. Pierre on Sunday last. The genl. R. F. McDonald, of the firm of McDonald & McEachern, and the energetic proprietor of Gowan Brae Mills, Lazar White, were among her passengers. The Mary Joseph, Capt. McCarthy, of the same port, arrived home from Halifax just as the storm set in the evening before.

Now that the Government seem disposed to enforce the Scott Act in Souris, some are beginning to think that the same authority should appoint suitable persons as vendors in that town. If Charlottetown is entitled to four vendors, Souris should have one, or perhaps two, to dispense liquor for medicinal use. This matter ought not to be overlooked by the powers that be. The patrons of the Little River and Gowan Brae cheese factories, now that the past season's gains and profits can be figured up, are all, without, we believe, a single exception, satisfied with the results of last summer's work, and determined to carry on the enterprise with renewed vigor next year. In this connection it is pleasing to note that Rev. Father Walker, of Hullo Bay, one of the pioneers and prize winners in the dairy business, has just completed the building of a large new barn with all the modern improvements including a silo. This is the first ever built in the eastern part of the County.

Farmers are busy hauling their produce. The prices are not as high as they would wish, but taken all together their labours will be better rewarded this year than for the last two or three years back.

A REGION OF TERROR.

American Western Authorities Fail to Protect Life or Property. A late despatch from Guthrie, Okla., says: Meagre particulars have been received here of a desperate running fight between the Cook outlaws and the United States Deputy Marshals near Sasokka. Two officers and one bandit were killed and two bandits wounded.

Non-sensical outrages committed recently in the Indian Territory have been the work of the Cooks, but the Cooks are primarily responsible for most of the lawlessness that now prevails. Their success in eluding capture inspired others to emulate them, and under their reign of terror which they instituted crime was more easy of commission and more difficult of detection than under ordinary conditions.

There are to-day possibly a dozen gang-modified after that of the Cook boys, but when the Cooks are captured the others will possibly disband and return to their homes, if they have any. Among the law-abiding classes absolute terror reigns. Persons are afraid to travel and afraid to stay at home. They do not know at what hour they may be attacked and robbed, and they are afraid to defend themselves. Living in a sparsely settled country, no neighbors within call, no single household can make any show of resistance against a band of well-armed and well-equipped outlaws. A pamphlet shows that an appeal to the authorities not only fails to accomplish any good, but almost invariably angers the gang to such an extent that a second and more murderous attack is made.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM DR. JOHNSON.

SIR.—Another letter from Dr. Kelly in your issue of Saturday demands another reply from me. In this, his second narration of the case, he has made sundry additions and variations, and not without sundry discrepancies, which are readily discernible, there is nothing new in thought or theory bearing upon the nature of the case, but the latter part of my letter, neither does he appear to have thought of the distinction between the "direct" and "indirect" cause of death until it had been alluded to in my letter, and I positively affirm that what he says to me that he did not know the cause of death he made no reference to any such distinction. But now behold his splendid gymnastics. "After examining the patient I told the family that I believed it was a case of diphtheria." (Letter 1 Nov. 8) "On examination of the child I found the child suffering from oedema of the glottis." (Letter 2, Nov. 10) Well, he is so Dr. Kelly has written of diphtheria now, and admitted oedema of the glottis as his diagnosis. But I positively deny that Dr. Kelly ever mentioned this latter disease to me in connection with the case.

CRESCENTS SHOW THE WHITE FEATHER.

SIR.—Three times within the past few years have the Crescents called to meet the St. Dunstan's Football team, after having previously arranged to "play" on October 14th, 1893, followed by an eruption of a volcano on the Island. The lava destroyed villages on every side of the Island. A number of the natives sought refuge on board H. M. S. Dart.
