

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 30, 1889.

Notes and Clippings.

An extra of the Canada Gazette announces officially the appointment of Hon. J. S. Carvell as Lieutenant-Governor of Prince Edward Island.

It is expected that upwards of thirty thousand men will take part in the autumn manoeuvres of the French army, which will be held in the eastern provinces. Officers from the armies of all nations are expected to be present.

They have a novel and very effective way of stamping out the tramp nuisance at Moberly, Mo. Four tramps arrested there a few days ago, were put up at auction. There was a large attendance of purchasers, but the bidding was not very lively. Two of the tourists went to farmers for $2 a head and another was bid in for 75 cents. The fourth could not find a purchaser. The three sold must serve the purchasers for four months.

The Patriot ridicules the idea of trying to save the land which is now, every year, being lost to the sea all along our shore. To the farmer who is losing the land, THE EXAMINER'S proposition may not, however, seem so very preposterous. Indeed, there is nothing impossible about it, and we very greatly mistake the men who are immediately concerned, if a simple and effective method of saving their freehold from the depredations of the sea, be not found out and adopted ere long.

Hon. Mr. Gladstone, in sending a statement to the Daily News concerning Turkish cruelties in Armenia, commends that paper for probing the Bulgarian atrocities, and adds: "It should be borne in mind that we are entitled by treaty to demand that the Sultan suppress outrages and punish these miscreants. I trust the Government will probe the matter to the bottom, and freely avail themselves when the facts are established of the powerful aid of public opinion in the cause of humanity and justice."

It is said that the Emperor of China is anxious to encourage the building of rail ways in his kingdom, but he is surrounded by many obstacles. His priests, astrologers and advisers of various kinds are afraid of western civilization, and they employ all manner of devices for keeping the young potentate from acting in a progressive way. The astrologers never find the stars favorable to the granting of a railway franchise. The Emperor is not more superstitious than other educated Chinamen, but he is obliged to conform to certain ancient customs or stand in danger of a rebellion. But the railways in the end will be built.

During the progress of a trial in the County Court a day or two ago, one of the witnesses admitted upon oath that he had sold liquor in violation of the Canada Temperance Act, and gave the name of one of the purchasers. Upon the strength of this admission he was summoned to appear before His Honor the Stipendiary Magistrate for violating the law. The case came up for trial this morning. The man to whom the sale was said to have been made was placed upon the witness stand and testified that he was neither directly nor indirectly interested in any such transaction as that alleged to have taken place between himself and the defendant. The defendant was not present during the trial, and the case was adjourned for one week. There's something wrong somewhere.

According to the Empire's Ottawa correspondent, advices have been received from the High Commissioner's office to the effect that str. Maryland, from Baltimore, landed on the 10th inst. at Depford wharf, London, 226 head of cattle. Among them was found a bull afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia. The cattle were immediately slaughtered. The fact that an animal was found suffering from this dread disease proves that the efforts which have been put forth by the United States Government to extirpate pleuro-pneumonia among cattle have not yet been successful. The vigorous measures taken by the Canadian quarantine department to prevent the entry of the virus into Canada have had the result of giving us perfect immunity from the disease, and of allowing Canadian live stock to be taken to any part of Great Britain. Representations, however, are continually reaching the Department to allow live stock from the United States into Canada, and were this done simply to please a few interested individuals, a great blow would have been struck at the Canadian live stock industry.

Menacing Mutterings.

Seas a recent London despatch: There is still much muttering abroad on the recent visit of the German Emperor to England, still more on his presence at Strasbourg and Metz. The French press has lost control of itself, and some of its most sober journals seriously allege that England must be secretly maturing hostile designs against France. Fuel to feed this jealous fire was supplied by the Radicals, who plied the government with questions in the House of Commons whether some new agreement had not been entered into at Osborne. This is part of the usual game to annoy the Ministry, and the meaning of it is well understood in Paris. It probably is true that England's relations with Germany are better since the Emperor came, but that is no reason why they should be worse with France. The Germans naturally make the most of the matter, and inspired articles in the German papers still further infuriate the French. But all this will soon blow over. Much more menacing than these spurts of hot temper is the report that the French Radicals have made up their minds that they will not, in any circumstances, support the moderate Republicans at the coming general elections. "If forced to choose between M. Ferry and General Boulanger, we choose General Boulanger," cries M. Lockroy. They are not forced to choose, for the chance of M. Ferry's return to power is in any case remote. But if the Radical wing of the Republican party accept and adopt M. Lockroy's view, General Boulanger again becomes formidable. The cause of the Republic is for the present bound up with President Carnot and his ministry. The elections must be fought under their leadership and won by them, if by any Republican section. But M. Lockroy cares more about abolishing the Senate than establishing the Republic.

STAGE COACH ROBBED BY A LONE HIGHWAY-MAN—TWO FATALLY SHOT.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 27.—A lone highwayman held up and robbed the stage near Gogebic, Mich. As the stage was running along through a dense forest a man jumped out in front of it, and, pointing two big navy revolvers at the driver, commanded him to throw up his hands, at the same time extending the same order to the four passengers inside the coach. One of the passengers began firing at the robber. The desperado immediately returned the fire, and although the driver whipped the horses into a mad gallop, his aim was true. D. Mackerchar, bookkeeper in the First National Bank of Minneapolis, received the first bullet in his cheek, while a second went crashing through his leg.

Another passenger named A. C. Fleescham of Belleville, Ill., was mortally wounded. He fell forward and pitched over the side of the coach into the roadway. The horses continued on a run and the wounded man was left to take his chances with the robber. The villain threatened at first to kill him, but finally desisted after securing $37 and his victim's watch and chain. The wounded man lay bleeding on the road for four hours before any one courageous enough to go to his succor was secured. He was taken to the hospital at Bessemer, but the loss of blood was so great as to blight all hope of recovery. Mackerchar was taken to Eagle River for treatment, and from there to his home in Minneapolis. There are grave doubts as to his recovery also.

There were two other passengers on the coach, but neither of them was molested. They were William Paddon of Chicago and Robert Rinton of the Bank of Montreal, Chicago. The party was out on a fishing trip and was composed of wealthy men. The sheriff at once organized a posse of a dozen men and has gone in pursuit. The chances for capture are very slim.

An Islander Stabbed.

A well dressed and respectable looking young negro was at the police station yesterday charged with having a hand in a stabbing affray at Bar Harbor on Saturday night, and he was taken back there on the train last evening by two Bar Harbor policemen who came up for that purpose. His name is Edward Smothers, and the trouble is this:—

Smothers and two other darkies named Lee and Blair were out late Saturday night, having been to a show, and as they were going up from the waterside a little past midnight, a crowd of eight or ten white fellows chased them and attacked them with blows. Smothers and Blair ran, but Lee was left behind, and in the scuffle was thrown down. It appears that he was scared and used his knife as his race are pretty apt to do under the circumstances. The man who got hurt is a Prince Edward Islander, whose name is not known here. He had a narrow escape, the knife passing within an inch of the main artery in his thigh.

Lee was arrested that night and Blair the next evening. Smothers became frightened and thought he was going to be locked up, too, and so started to clear out, but was arrested on the train from Bar Harbor as it reached this city yesterday. He engaged John F. Robinson, Esq., as his counsel, and Mr. Robinson goes to Bar Harbor this morning to attend the hearing. Smothers is a nice looking fellow. He is assistant head water in the Louisburg hotel, but his regular business is serving as a waiter in the students' dining room at Harvard College. In summer he waits in hotels at the resorts. —Bangor News.

A PLOT TO BLOW UP THE MICHIGAN STATE PRISON AT JACKSON.

JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 26.—A great sensation has been unearthed at the State prison. Irving Latimer has been detected in a plot to blow up the prison, and a quantity of a terrible explosive has been found within the prison walls. Latimer is the notorious young dude and business man of this city who was recently convicted of murdering his aged mother, for the purpose of securing her property and relieving himself from financial difficulties. Latimer was locked in the solitary dungeon at once, on the discovery of the plot. For six weeks past the warden has suspected that Latimer was at the head of a daring and devilish scheme to blow up the prison, and he has been watched closely. Last week a "lumper" or choranam, was detected getting a package near the north wall, which had been thrown over by outsiders during the night. A watchman got the package, having traced it to Latimer. It contained a quantity of hercules powder, one of the most terrible of explosives. From other, but reliable sources it is learned that old prisoners have made use of Latimer's money and secured outside influence to execute the gigantic scheme, which would, if entirely successful, have destroyed the prison and let 800 convicts loose.

Guillotined.

EXECUTION OF AN AMATEUR JACK THE RIPPER AT ST. PIERRE.

Avices from St. Pierre, Miq., say that Nael was guillotined at five o'clock, on Saturday morning, in the presence of two thousand spectators, for Jack-the-Rippering an old man. At three o'clock, Nael received a priest in jail, confessed and was made ready for death. Then the straight jacket was put on and his hands tied behind his back. After this he confessed to the judges, saying that liquor caused him to commit the murder. He kissed the priest six times before he walked to the platform. It was a chum of Nael's who was to drop the knife. When Nael saw him, he asked, "Is it you who are going to kill me?" The executioner said "Yes." Nael replied, "If you would kill me, you would kill others." Then turning to the crowd, he said "Dear friends, my name is Nael. I am the first man killed in this way in St. Pierre. I am sorry for what I have done, and I hope in St. Pierre, no execution like this will ever happen again. May God protect you all." Then he turned around and examined the guillotine from top to bottom. He was then laid on his face on a plank and lashed to it. The plank was pushed into place under the knife. Nael then said to the executioner, "Do not make a botch of the job." In less than a minute Nael said he was ready. The executioner touched a spring, and the triangular knife fell, but it did not do the deadly work well. The head was not completely severed, so the executioner, with a large knife finished the job.

Personal.

J. W. Richards, M. P. P., went west to-day. R. Borrildale, Inspector of Inland Revenue, is registered at the Hotel Davies. Mr. M. A. Cuming, of New York, who has been visiting his relatives in this city, left for home this morning.

Hon. T. W. Dodd was a passenger on the western express for St. John this morning, probably on an interesting mission. Mr. Fred Anderson left this morning to return to Kingston where he will attend the Military College for another term. Judge Kelly and the Misses Kelly, of Summerside, were at the Davies yesterday. They were among the passengers in the steamer to Pictou this morning.

A London cable says:—Among the prominent people now afloat, bound for America, is Sir Edwin Arnold, author of "The Light of Asia," who, with his daughter, sailed on the Vancouver for Montreal. He intends to travel home by way of California, Japan and India.

Prince Henry of Battenberg, Princess Beatrice and Princess Alice visited a coal mine at Rushon, England, on the 26th. They watched the miners dig and blast coal and picked some, which they carried home to Osborne as mementoes of their visit.

King Leopold of Belgium is not only the sworn enemy of tobacco, but he is a vegetarian, dislikes music and is the embodiment of other eccentricities. One of these is an aversion to wearing his hat in the open air, as he believes the action of the wind on his head is beneficial.

Mr. A. Wilmet Strong left this morning for Fredericton, N. B. He has been appointed to the chair of engineering which has lately been established in the N. B. University. It will be remembered by our readers that Mr. Strong graduated with distinguished honors at McGill College last Spring, standing at the head of the graduating class in applied science, and winning the British Association's Gold Medal. He received the most flattering testimonials from the Chief Engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway, as regarded his practical knowledge of civil engineering, and we predict for him a brilliant career in his chosen profession.

ROBBERY THE MAIL.—On Wednesday night last, the mail clerk's bag for Ottawa was stolen at the Grand Trunk depot, Brockville, Ont. The bag was out open and all the registered letters were extracted. So far as can be ascertained $300 are missing. There is no trace of the robbers.
