Conundrums.

THE FAMOUS FORTY-FIVE.

How can number 45 be divided into four such parts, that if to the first part you add 2, from the second part you subtract 2 the third part you multiply by 2, and the fourth part you divide by 2; the sum of the addition, the remainder of the subtraction, the product of the multiplication, and the quotient of the division will all be equal?

VOLTAIRE'S RIDDLE.

What is the longest, and yet the shortest thing in the world; the swiftest, and the most slow, the most divisible and the most extended; the least valued, and the most re- gretted; without which nothing can be done which devours everything however small and yet gives life and spirit to every object however great?

CONUNDRUM.

Why is it impossible for an artist to take a correct likeness of a young lady?

ENIGMA.

I am a word composed of nine letters. My 2, 5, 6, is vermin; my 1, 2, 3, 5, 4, is an improvement to tea; my 6, 5, 9, is used for deadening sound; my 2, 3, 6, 4, is a quantity of paper; my 8, 9, 3, is a unit; my 7, 2, 8, 9, is a hard metal; my whole is a new system of treating bodies after death.

My first is part of the frame Of man and of quadruped too, And often it's under my second, Tho' perhaps it is not so with you. My whole is an object of dread, For fear it may enter their head, In mistakes for a hole in the wall.

ANAGRAM.

Where'er I rule supreme o'er good, Discomfort must be rife; Behold me—though I am not food, You live on me through life.
