

Happenings Of The Week

Marjorie, the Dowager Lady Pentland and her daughter, the Hon. Margaret Sinclair of West Clendon, Surrey, England have been visiting in Aberdeen and attending the Edinburgh Festival. Lady Pentland is a daughter of the late Marquis and Marchioness of Aberdeen and Tennyson. Lord Aberdeen was one of Canada's Governors General and the family have visited this province on various occasions.

Mrs. Geo. D. DeBlais is having as house guests at her summer home, Tracadie, Mrs. J. A. Fraser, Mrs. J. Curran, Mrs. A. V. Saunders and Mrs. P. A. Creelman. This group is sketching points of interest at Tracadie and vicinity.

Mrs. Lemuel Prowse entertained at bridge this week in honour of her house guest Mrs. Donald Campbell, Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

Hon. John George MacKay, Minister of Highways for Prince Edward Island is featured in "The Maritime Advocate and Busy East" publication of August. There is a photograph of Mr. MacKay on the cover of the magazine and the article is by Mr. J. D. Dunn who outlines the minister's career and activities.

Reference is made to the fact that Mr. MacKay was born in Albany on November 6th, 1883, a son of David and Almira MacKay, of Scottish and English descent. His mother was a daughter of John Harvey (English) and Phoebe Baker, of United Empire Loyalist descent.

As a young man Mr. MacKay lived for a time in Saskatchewan. There he met and married Muriel Boulton, an Island girl from Truro, who happened to be teaching out west at the time. Mr. and Mrs. MacKay have two daughters, Audrey (Mrs. Colin Waugh) and Lois (Mrs. Charles Thurgood).

Mr. Dick Wedge, son of Mayor Henry Wedge and Mrs. Wedge of Summerside, returned recently from a trip to Japan, where he spent the summer with a group of Canadian University students.

Mr. Wedge re-enters St. Dunstan's University this autumn as a Senator. His trip to Japan was made under the auspices of the World University Service to which 26 Canadian colleges belong and which arranges a trip to a foreign country each year. One student from this province goes annually, chosen from St. Dunstan's and Prince of Wales college alternately.

In Edmonton Mr. Wedge joined his parents who had been attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Pretty September Double-Ring Ceremony

to right: Mr. Jack Johnston, best man; Mr. and Mrs. Cameron; Miss Nancy MacNevin, maid of honor; Dr. Temple Hooper,

In a setting of varied colored gladioli with white predominating, the Charlottetown Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, September 10th, when Barbara Ruth Rupert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rupert, Charlottetown, became the bride of Mr. Douglas A. Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cameron, Charlottetown. Rev. Harold L. Mitton, B.A., B.D., performed the double-ring ceremony. Mr. Royston F. Mugford, A.R.C.O., presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Jack Haystead, Halifax, sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown designed and created by Huntley Johns. The floor-length gown was of white nylon tulle and hand-picked Chantilly lace fashioned with a strapless basque bodice covered by a lace bolero of the Spencer type buttoning in front with tiny self-covered buttons. The long sleeves tapering over the hands were caught snugly over the wrists and the full sweeping skirt featured an exquisite peplum of Chantilly lace billowing out into points over nylon tulle and lustrous columbia satin. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion sprinkled with rhinestones fell from a half-hat of Chantilly lace embroidered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom and she carried a white Bible covered with Pink Delight roses.

Miss Nancy MacNevin, maid of honor, and Miss Diane Rupert, bridesmaid, wore identical ballerina-length gowns of calypso yellow shirmp, and lotus blue, respectively. Partly covered by brief boleros, the strapless basque bodices were nipped in tightly at the waists, accentuating the bouffant skirts of narrow ruffles of lace billowing out over taffeta and crinolines. The attendants carried nosegays of mixed flowers.

Mr. Jack Johnston, Charlottetown, was best man, and the ushers were Dr. Temple Hooper, Charlottetown, and Mr. Jack Haystead, Halifax. The bride's mother chose an afternoon dress of dusty rose magpie hour crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore an afternoon frock of navy blue crepe with nylon lace over skirt, white accessories and red roses en corsage. A reception followed in the lounge of the Charlottetown Hotel. During the reception Mr. Mugford was pianist and Miss Nancy MacNevin sang, "Because" and "Till We Meet Again." Rev. Dr. C. A. Britten proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. Charles Ballam was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. C. H. Beatey and Mrs. James H. Cameron presided over the coffee cups and Miss Velma

Carmody served the bride's table. Assisting in serving were Misses Katherine Hutchison, Suzanne Palmer and Joan Cameron, and Mrs. George Andrew and Mrs. William Soper.

For motoring through the Eastern United States and Upper Canada, the bride donned a cocoa brown wool suit with velvet turquoise hat, beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. The groom is associated with H. R. Doane and Co., and the bride is a member of the staff of the Bank of Montreal. They will reside at the Harwood Apts. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Edward Prime and Mrs. C. H. Beatey, Saint John, N. B.; Mr. G. W. Bustin, Mr. and Mrs. George MacKay, Miss Barbara Ann MacKay, Lancaster, N. B.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Reicker, Hampton, N. B.; Rev. Dr. C. A. Britten, Miss Phyllis Britten and Mr. Ted Britten, Bequepe, P.E.I., and Mr. Jack Haystead, Halifax.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

A first frost was on the nearer waste-gate of the milldam this morning. Yes, the familiar white of it.

When James who invariably takes stock of wind and weather from the bedroom window which looks down on the pond, saw it, memory opened for him his book of the years.

"The waste-gate's white, Ellen! Would you believe it? Looks as if the summer's pretty well over, doesn't it? It's a funny thing "he smiled with a look of wishfulness," but seeing it, I looked out along the hill, expecting to catch sight of someone coming to the mill with a grist of new wheat!"

He stopped a long moment there, continuing his survey, seeing, we could appreciate, not so much the dark jewel of pond lying for the most part in shadow, or the hill-top touched with the new gold of the day, but the teams of a day's farm-carts and wagons that once came from near and far to draw in at the road which leads to the mill.

Then in our young years of farming, sometimes when out about our work we would see James pause a moment in the yard to watch a team come in along there. "I'm not sure, Ellen who that is, but I seem to half-know that horse. Yes" with a broad smile of recognition, "of course, it's...from away over on the South Shore. That's his horse—he's a nice one isn't he? Pretty hard to beat to my mind...He's a good farmer that" with a pleased nod, "He always drives a fine one."

And odd times to this day when we come to town together and a farmer whose face is strange to us, falls James in a neighborly fashion it is likely one who "used to come to the mill in the long ago. "And as we, in what James puts down to our "feminine frivolity" keep thoughts centred on some much desired item of buying we are going to, he has commented, "I wonder if he still keeps that same breed of horses—they were good ones."

Yes, made like pictures, they were. Then with a long sigh, "We don't see them like that nowadays."

But like harvest-weather to that of those olden days we still have—quiet and lovely and brimming over with every enchantment of season, giving us clear dawns, starry nights. Bringing too the hush and peace now of a week, gone to rest. And tomorrow our churches. What think we, do they mean to us?

"A room of quiet a temple of peace. The home of faith, where doubtings cease. A house of comfort, where hope is given; A shrine for worship, a place to pray— We shall find all this...in our Church tomorrow. Until Monday—Diary—Good-night....."

New And Tricky Tote-Bags

Just one look on registration day discloses that the old type school-bag is fast disappearing along with heavy overshoes. Even small fry want to tote their books like school kids as smart as mother's hand-bag and as functional as dad's brief case.

For the younger set, modern space travel and science fiction motifs have taken over. In shape, some of the newest bags are styled like miniature doctor's satchels, suitcases or brief bags. Many have separate pockets to keep pencils and supplies from coming in contact with lunch and snacks.

VARIETY OF COLORS Nylon, rayon, cotton, plastic and leather are all pressed into service. For colors, there's just as big a variety, ranging from crisp Air Force blue to bright red plaids.

Older pupils who have graduated to the notebook stages like color in kits as smart as mother's hand-bag and as functional as dad's brief case.

High school and college students tend to choose classically simple underarm cases, brief bags or a duffel bag style.

Youngsters, up to the age of ten with school bags which not only are in keeping with the styles of today but safeguard their health by properly balancing book weights.

Things to look for include good, firm handles that are securely anchored, expandable gussets or permanently shaped bag bottoms for correct packing and detachable shoulder straps for ease in handling. All these do contribute to the scientific balance necessary for good posture, so vital in the formative years.

One further consideration in the purchase of a schoolbag should be its length of service. The new ones are reinforced where stitching receives most wear, are metal-bound at corners or come equipped with "button feet" for youngsters who put bags on floors or hard cement.

LUNCH POCKET If a youngster totes lunch or snacks to school, then choose a bag with an outside lunch pocket. And make the youngster responsible for keeping his schoolbag in good condition together with the rest of his academic gear.

HOUSEHOLD HINT A gardener needs two pairs of work gloves—one to wear and one to wash. There's nothing so uncomfortable as having to stick your hands into gloves still clammy with wet mud or stiff and dusty from dried dirt. Before sueding gloves, beat or shake out as much loose dirt as possible.

Several Scripture passages were read from Luke and questions followed. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Eleven members and three visitors were present. Friendship Secretary reported 25 calls in homes, eight cards sent, two thank you notes were received.

Appointments for October: Leader, Mrs. Stewart Parkman; Lunch, Mrs. Gordon Laird, Mrs. William Andrew, Heralds, Mrs. Ed Stevenson, Mrs. I. S. Edwards; Missionary Prayer, Mrs. Ed Stevenson. Mrs. Gordon Laird invited members to her home for October

LET'S EAT

Meals Easily Prepared If Cupboard's Not Bare

By Ida Bailey Allen

"It is good to return to the test-kitchen after a two weeks' absence," remarked the Chef. "And it is also good to know that we have on the pantry shelves and in the food freezer and refrigerator plenty to eat without running to a store. Madame, dinner will be served in half an hour."

THE CHEF'S FOUR COURSE 30-MINUTE DINNER

Devilled Bean Soup
Small Toast
Fish Sticks with
Sour Cream Sauce
Parslied Quartered Potatoes
Buttered Beets
Avocado Grapefruit and Lettuce Salad
Indian Apple Pudding a la Mode
Coffee
Tea
Milk

"What routine did you follow, Chef?" I asked.

"First," he replied, "I started the devilled bean soup. Next, I peeled and quartered the potatoes and put them to boil. The Indian apple pudding was the one you made and put in the food freezer, Madame; I placed it in a hot oven to thaw and heat."

FISH STICKS "Next, I placed the frozen fish sticks on a pan, dusted with monosodium glutamate to bring out the flavor and put in the oven to thaw, heat and brown."

"The rest was a matter of minutes. Canned beets, heated with lemon juice and butter; the sour cream horseradish sauce made from canned grapefruit sections, with the avocado and lettuce we left in a polyethylene bag in the refrigerator and..."

Quick Devilled Bean Soup: Into a qt. saucepan put the contents 1

(1 lb.) can baked beans; mash and add 1 (1 lb.) can tomato, 1 fine-chopped onion, 1 tsp. each salt and sugar, 1/4 tsp. each pepper and monosodium glutamate, 1 1/2 oz. can devilled ham and 2 c. water. Cover and simmer 20 min. or more. Stir often. Garnish of minced scallions.

Baked Indian Apple Pudding: In a double boiler, scald 1 qt. whole milk. Mix together 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 c. unsulphured molasses, 1 1/2 c. sugar, 1 1/2 c. enriched cornmeal and 1 tsp. powdered ginger. Stir into the milk. Cook until thick, about 30 min., stirring occasionally in the meantime.

Add 2 tbs. butter and 2 c. coarse chopped apples. Transfer to a 1 qt. casserole. Cover and bake in a slow oven 3 hrs. 325 degrees F. Cool, seal and freeze. Freezer-life 3 months.

THE CHEF'S SOUR CREAM HORSE RADISH SAUCE Heat (but do not boil) 1/4 pt. commercial sour cream. Stir in 1/4 tsp. each salt and sugar, 1/4 tsp. white pepper and 1 1/2 c. prepared horseradish mixed with 1 slightly beaten egg. Cook and stir 1 min.
