Obituary.

David Kyo McDonald, youngest son of the late Daniel M. Donald, died at the old homestead, New Perth, Feb. 6, 1891, aged 22 years. His mother, in widowhood, and four brothers, with many friends, are left to mourn the early death of one of the most upright and highly respected young men in the community. Patiently he bore his long illness, until the end came. He loved life, and desired to live, but he had a hope in that which is higher than any earthly good, and we trust he is gone "to be with Christ, which is far better." Two brothers came from Boston to see David, but they were a little too late to see more than the lifeless form of him they loved so well. Resigned to the Father's will, may they be able to say, "It is well."

Address of Condolence.

St. Lawrence Lodge, I. O. O. F.,
Charlottetown, Feb. 11th, 1891.
Brother Fred. E. J. L. Oyd, Chaplain:—
DEAR BROTHER,—It was with feelings of deepest regret that the members of St. Lawrence Lodge received the sad intelligence of the death of your beloved wife; and through the undersigned they desire to convey to you their heartfelt sympathy.

Try ye live in a world where solemn shadows are continually falling upon our path—shadows that teach us the insecurity of all temporal blessings, and warn us that "here there is no abiding stay." We have, however, the blessed satisfaction of knowing that death cannot enter the sphere to which the dear departed is removed. We believe, dear brother, that in this, the day of your sore bereavement, you will derive consolation from the teachings of our Order. Let Hope and Faith mingle with your natural sorrow, and look to the future, where the sundered ties of earth are reunited.

Though aware that no words of ours can bring comfort to your sorely-tired heart, yet we cannot refrain from expressing to you our deep and sincere sympathy in your affliction, and knowing that you will receive consolation from a higher source than earthly friendship.

We remain, in F. L. & T.

Long Creek Notes.

Unrestricted reciprocity, which will bring direct taxation on land and property on account of the falling off in revenue, meets but little favor among thoughtful men here. Liberal-Conservatives here are cheerful and sanguine of victory for the grand old man Sir John, in the County. Ferguson and Blake, and the tunnel, and fair reciprocity, being the rallying cry, and not Davies and Welsh who have been throwing cold water on these important requirements.

There is a small coterie of Grigs here, who at every election and especially on election day, give trouble and annoyance to Government supporters. This I hope will no longer be tolerated. We will ask for a Returning Officer who will do his duty fairly and impartially, and not be scheming by lying petitions or other small tricks, to destroy the Conservative votes in St. Catherine's Polling Division.

Concert at Lake Verd.

On the 31st January the members of Lake Verd Debating Club gave the first of a series of concerts. Although the roads were blocked and travelling inconvenient a large and respectable gathering assembled in the Schoolroom, and quite a large number of the fair sex graced the occasion with their presence. Mr. Joseph Smith, in opening, said he regretted that the disagreeable state of the roads prevented a great many members of the society from attending. However, he had much pleasure in opening the concert and hoped all who were present would do the best they could to make it a success. The following ladies and gentlemen took part: the Misses Acorn, the Misses Wood, Owen Wood, Patrick Jakeman, Charles Curley, Daniel Carmichael, Thomas Howlett, Peter J. Keman, Joseph Carroll, Daniel Lane, Alfred Acorn, John Trainor, Michael Jakeman, James Trainor and Bernard Callaghan. To particularize would be doing an injustice, as all did their parts remarkably well; but one thing was noticeable, namely, the amount of vocal talent displayed, also the harmony and good feeling existing among those present. The singing of the ladies was particularly good. Mr. Bernard Callaghan deserves the thanks of all present for his sociability and great entertaining abilities. After nearly a score of songs had been sung, besides a large amount of readings and recitations the night's fun came to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne." Three cheers for the Queen were then given, after which the audience dispersed well pleased with the night's proceedings. RANBLER.

Unrestricted Reciprocity Denounced.

A very large assemblage of the inhabitants of Lots 35 and 36, met in Blooming Point Schoolroom on Saturday, 7th inst., to discuss the question, "Would Unrestricted Reciprocity benefit Canada?" John C. McDonald, Esq., occupied the chair.

The question was discussed very hotly for upwards of four hours, the advocates of reciprocity quoting principally figures from the celebrated financier Sir R. Bird.

At the close a decision was given that "Unrestricted Reciprocity would be injurious to our great Dominion."

After tendering a vote of thanks to the chairman, the meeting, the largest ever seen here, dispersed with three rousing cheers for the National Policy and the grand old chief Sir John Macdonald.

ON-LOOKER.

As Usual.

We may expect, until the 5th March, very sensational telegrams in the grit newspapers, somewhat like the following which appeared in the Halifax Chronicle prior to the last general election. It will be amusing to read their black lines after election:

An Obstruction.

SIR,—Right in the middle of the North Rustico Road, near Mr. Ewen McKenzie's gate, stands an old house which somebody was trying to move and could get no further. There is scarcely room to pass between this old pile and the stump on the side of the road. While trying to pass this the other day, I got my sleigh caught in some of the lumber and would surely have had it smashed only that I had a quiet horse. The owner of this house and the overseer of roads must have gone to sleep when they allow this obstruction to remain on the public road. They must be awakened. VIATOR.
