Interesting Talk On India At Rotary Dinner

"I notice you are having a home beautification week in Charlottetown and I am glad to tell you of the great work of beautification one of your Island men is doing in India," said Professor C. W. David, Mission Fields, with headquarters at the Rotary Club at their weekly dinner meeting yesterday at the Charlottetown hotel.

"You would be gratified and proud to see what Rev. George Earle Lead is doing in training young leaders in camps and villages, as he preaches and teaches the Mission Fields, with headquarters at Mt. How, the speaker continued. "India since independence," was the theme of Dr. David's address on a country which has 25 1-2 times the population of Canada in an area one third the size. 14 languages are used in the country which, however, is dominated by a sufficient knowledge of English everywhere, to be of assistance in extending education to those who are in dark and deep ignorance. The speaker deplored the average age expectancy of 27 years there, compared with Canada's almost three score and ten.

"The system of law and order which England left us, after their supremacy gave us an outlook on the eternal verities of life," he said, "and the railways and scientific outlook which Britain brought in a hundred years, leaves us grateful for our freedom gained without the shedding of a drop of blood.

"Our sovereign democratic republic, the caste system has been broken down and equal opportunities for men and women is granted under the constitution now framed and passed." "Help is being extended under various organizations to advance the work of modernizing India. The United Nations, the Colombo Plan, and valuable contributions by the United States and Norway have for their objective, vast improvements within the next five years. 12 huge power projects are now being started, with 102 foot, Jule Mills, irrigation, machinery plants and numerous other progressive schemes are well under way. In the United States, England and Norway 61 experts and 69 students are being given highly technical training.

Contributions of wheat and beef from Canada were sold on arrival in India and the results devoted to extension work in various fields, notably the planting of trees and extension of fisheries. "We have a strong and ambitious nation of 361 million who are grateful for the love and friendship that prompts missionaries to contribute to our social services in helping the lepers, open hospitals, provide nurses and inspire our people to become educated along such lines as will enable them to help themselves," Dr. David continued. "Since the 500 princes in India and a vast number of big landowners have been required to submit to a common allegiance to the Republic, and open their holdings to cultivation, a large scale development of farms of 5-1-2 acres owned by the farmers themselves is well under way. However, there are still two million unemployed in India, a great number of them well educated under a system that provided for 630 colleges, 30 universities with 600,000 students. There are 23 million students in schools and colleges, many of them potential grounds for the seeds of Communism, if they are not provided with work.

"The Communist promise of food, clothing and housing is most inviting to a nation where 90 per cent of the people are living below the recognized subsistence level," Dr. David concluded. "The meeting was presided over by Rotarian George J. Tweedy, who introduced the speaker. Mr. T. R. Cudmore, co-chairman extended the thanks of the club to Dr. David. Guests present were: Wilfred Rankersyde, Trinidad B.W.I.; Rev. A. E. Kewley, Toronto; Rev. J. D. Davison, City; Rev. Robert MacNaught, Lanark, Ont.; and Messrs. Reg. Howard, C. H. Black, S. C. Green, E. E. Clawson, Erskine MacNutt, Stewart Ives, W.W. Lord, Keith Kennedy, all of Charlottetown; Rev. Maxwell Dawes, St. John's, Nfld.; Rev. Alex. Rea, Bathurst, N.B.; James MacLean, Rev. J. T. Irwin and Rev. A. Frank MacLean, City.

Cites Grievances In House Of Queen's County Veterans

OTTAWA, May 11 (Special)-In recent weeks war veterans residing in Queen's County have not been accorded either the preference granted by law to ex-servicemen nor priority for obtaining positions, it was stated in the Commons here this afternoon by W. Chester S. McLure, Progressive Conservative member for New Brunswick.

A situation of this kind could and would be remedied, Mr. McLure said, if the House had a standing committee on veterans' affairs before which such grievances could be taken. Hitherto, he remarked, the atmosphere of the veterans' affairs committee of the Commons has been largely non-political, and its personnel is composed of members who are experienced in military and veterans' issues.

The Queen's member protested strongly against the federal regulation which permits an ex-serviceman receiving war veterans' allowance to earn a very small income above the allowance. He told the House of a concrete case where a returned soldier was unable to obtain employment and received an allowance of about $80 a month. Since this was insufficient for his family, his wife took a job as waitress in a hotel to make ends meet.

When the Department of Veterans Affairs discovered this situation, it reduced the veterans allowance and ordered the man concerned to pay back the "excess" his family had earned owing to his wife working. Mr. McLure branded this treatment of the veteran as a ridiculous state of affairs. "Surely a man in this position," he said, "should be permitted to earn what he can in addition to his veterans allowance, and the same should apply to any member of his family without any deduction being made in the allowance he received formerly." Mr. McLure said he had been puzzled by the departmental classification of certain veterans as "army alcoholics." He tried to get a definition of the term and concluded that an army alcoholic is a private who can consume more liquor than his commanding officer.

Cites Island Record

The Queen's member reminded the Commons that in both World War I and World War II, Prince Edward Island had the record and the honor of having more per capita enlistments in the armed services than any other province of Canada.

He said he had always encountered the greatest courtesy and co-operation from officials of the Veterans Affairs Department in doing an excellent job for the Canadian veteran. He had encountered differences of opinion among departmental physicians at times, and these differences made certain pension cases difficult to settle. He urged sympathetic consideration of older veterans who find difficulty in obtaining employment.

Mr. McLure told the Commons that he had been a strong advocate of pensions ever since his father had drawn a pension for serving with the northern forces in the United States Civil War. In 1899, he said, his father was receiving $50 a month from Washington and in those years $50 was worth a great deal more than it is today. This pension, he continued, was paid to his mother for some 36 years after his father's death. The United States, he observed, was the first country in the world to pay a soldier a pension and he would like to see the government spend his money as he wishes.

This year, the winner (to be a business or professional girl) was Miss Nancy MacEvin. We made our donation to the Business and Professional International Relief Fund.

"Your representatives have answered two requests to attend special meetings of the City Council: in reference to establishing V.O.N., and in preparation for coronation activities. We formally declared our willingness to assist a community project, V.O.N., if it were developed. Your President represented your Club at a meeting at Government House of the National Federation of Women. Answering a request from National, she joined with other club systems in communicating with federal representatives to request an amendment to Bill 100, or new legislation which would recognize women's right to equal pay for equal work.

"Our National Federation has set as a objective for the next two years a building in membership. Perhaps we should adopt that as an objective for our local club. Whatever our specific aims may be, let us continue to shape them in the light of our ideals stated in the constitution:

- (I) to improve the status of women in the business and professional world.
(II) to discover and develop qualities which enable them to take their place in public life.
(III) to further social contacts and to provide opportunity for hobbies and interests.
(IV) and last, but very important, to provide a non-partisan, non-stellarian basis for co-operation.

"Thank you for the honor you gave me when you made me your chief executive for the past year, and thank you for your co-operation. Satisfactory reports for the past year were given by the following: Chairmen of Standing and Special Committees: Miss Dorothy Cullen, Membership; Miss Bessie Prowse, Programme; Miss Ethel Taylor, Publicity; Miss Isabel Storey, Ways and Means; Miss Dorothy Keenan, Visiting; Miss Emma Holmes, House; Miss Frances Johnston, Civic; Mrs. Lora Clapp for Choral Group and Miss Gertrude Love for Book Group.

Changes in the Bye-Laws as proposed by the Chairman of the Constitution Committee, Mrs. Dorothy Rogers were approved. It was decided that members of the Club would attend the local Coronation celebrations in a body and a sum of money was voted towards the fireworks to be used on this occasion. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the officers who fulfilled their duties so capably during the past year.

Miss Lillian Duchemin gave a report on the activities of the Community Planning Association. In response to a request received from Dame Caroline Huslet, International President of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club it was decided to send a food parcel to a needy member in Hungary. Members were reminded to listen to a broadcast by Dame Caroline Huslet on May 18th on "Women in Office."

"Voices of the Morn" and "Voices of the Woods" in a most acceptable manner, giving clear indication of worthwhile training in music as well as in their accepted profession. Miss Helen Larter was granted the high privilege of being Valetudinaria, a duty which she performed with distinction.

Speaker Describes Mission Work In Newfoundland

Rev. H. Maxwell Dawe, D.D., Superintendent of Home Missions, Newfoundland, was guest speaker at the regular monthly supper meeting of Trinity United Church Men's Association held in the church hall last evening, presided over by President Dr. M. I. Lowrie.

The speaker described in detail the work of the missionaries in Newfoundland, who frequently are required to make long and exhausting trips by dog team to remote places in Labrador. A 15 dog team recently travelled 800 miles over difficult terrain to make visits which he described as "bringing comfort and cheer to those who were looking forward to the visitors from outside."

A sing-song was conducted by E. C. Burboe with O. K. Prashy at the piano. "It is our desire to make regular contact with every remote outpost and village, every nook and corner of Newfoundland and broaden the community spirit throughout the country," said the speaker. "Freely, joyfully and exultant giving of ourselves, our time, talent and possibly possessions, will make us attain this objective," concluded the speaker.

The meeting, which was in part taken over by Rev. Wallace MacEwan, Chairman of Presbytery concluded with the election of officers of the Men's Association, when the following were elected and installed. Patrons, Rev. A. Frank MacLean and Rev. J. T. Fine Performance By Junior Pupils At Parkdale Hall

A fine performance was put on by a number of very young pupils of Parkdale School last evening at Parkdale Hall as they presented their one act play, "Not A Word", which was the only entry in the P.E.I. Junior Drama Festival this year, and which won warm praise from the adjudicator, Miss Mary Moran of Queen's Square School.

The major roles were those of four children, Stella, the brightest one of the family, played by Sharlene Campbell, her two brothers, Tom and John, played by Everett Jay and Ronald Rice, Ann, the youngest member of the family, whose part was taken by Dorothy MacInnis, and Ann MacDonald, as the White Fairy. Four tulip fairies were Gail Cameron, Sandra Johnston, Nancy Myers and Sylvia Murphy, while Ann Higgins, of Margaret Isabel MacDonald, Wendy Shaw, and Mendi MacDonald were four daffodil fairies.

In her adjudication of the play, Miss Moran commented upon the excellent acting and the marvelous improvement in audibility and diction noticeable over previous years when she had adjudicated Junior drama entries. She had special praise for the director of the play, Miss Evangeline Greenan, teacher at Parkdale School, and congratulated her on the choice of play which she described as particularly suitable for these young actors, to whom she offered a number of suggestions for improving the play still further.

Mrs. Julian Herring also spoke briefly after the play, representing the Gales, president of the Drama Festival Association, and she congratulated all who had acted in or assisted with the play. She told the cast that if it was at all possible, they would be given a chance to perform on a non-competitive basis, at the Drama Festival finals, when they would be adjudicated by Mrs. Donald Wetmore. Mrs. Herring presented Junior Drama Festival banners to all who had taken part in the play.

The costumes of the fairies were made by Mrs. James Burke, Mrs. Borden MacDonal, Mrs. Louise Arsenault, Mrs. Wilfred Outway and Mrs. Leslie MacKay, and they too deserve commendation for their job, as the costumes were exquisite, and added a great deal to the atmosphere of the play.

Mr. Millar MacFadyen presided over the program, which included as well as the play a number of vocal selections, "Cradle Song" by Brenda Muttow, Dorothy MacEwan, Ann Hickox, Nancy Myers and Sandra Johnston, another song by Brenda MacKay, and Virginia and Gail Mustard, a solo by Ann Cameron, and a duet by Ronald Hickox and Carl MacKay. Bobby Burns played a piano solo, "The Bunny That Ran Away", and two dances were performed, one by Grade II students, and one by the Grade VIII group. Other selections were choral readings by Grade II and III, a chorus by the Parkdale School Chorus, and two numbers by the School Unit Number One Chorus. Accompanist for the evening was Mr. Royston Mugford.
