

SPORTS FRONT

By JIM CULLEN

Sugarman Still Fighting

We read last week where Sugar Ray Robinson eked out a decision over Yoland Levesque of France and the fighters were awarded for their efforts with numerous and the greatest eulogy. The Sugarman considered by many as the greatest all-around boxer, "bound for pounds," of his age, has been around and making combinations almost annually since 1952.

Robinson began his professional boxing career in 1949 when he tangled with Joe Ekeberovic in a four-round preliminary at Madison Square Garden on the Henry Armstrong-Fritzie Zivic welterweight card. The program scored the two rounds the same and was thereafter his way to becoming one of the all-time greats in the fight world. Robinson entered the ring on 79 occasions the following year and out of the 80 opponents he faced he sent 15 of them down for the long count and the five that managed to go the distance with him, lost to round winners. Three of those who went the route with Robby were: Fritzie Zivic, Sammy Angott and Marty Servo.

From 1953's Robinson won a rough 91 consecutive appearances without dropping a single one. In 1954 he captured the welterweight championship of the world by defeating Tommy Bell in 15 rounds. About 1959 Robinson began to cast his eyes on the middleweight crown which was then held by Jake LaMotta. Robinson stopped LaMotta for the championship in the 13th round of a grueling battle in Chicago on February 14, 1951. Soon after this Robinson vacated the welterweight title.

In a surprising upset, Robinson lost his middleweight crown to England's Turpin in a four-round bout on September 1 by halting the battling Englishman in the tenth. That second fight drew 61,370 who paid $70,000. Robinson entered the ring for the heavyweight class. Sugar received almost $250,000 at his end.

Robinson's first retirement from boxing was announced in 1955 when he gave up his title career to become a traveling singer-and-dancer man. He returned to the ring in 1955, however, and fought his way back to the middleweight class. Robinson of the world with a second round knock out over Carl (Bobo) Olson.

He has successfully defended his title against Olson, but then lost a 15 round decision to Gene Fullmer in 1957. Later in the same year Robinson received a surprise offer to fight in the same year. Robinson received a surprise offer to fight in the same year. Robinson received a surprise offer to fight in the same year.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Robinson is now known as a has been in the States. A great fighter who doesn't know to quit, but in Europe he is winned and dined as an active boxing contender. This is part of the boxing legend that belongs to a man who has been traveling and working in the boxing business for so long that he has become a legend in his own right.

Canada has a four-man golf team entered in the fourth world amateur team championship being played in Rome, Oct. 7-10. The team played an exhibition match in Toronto Wednesday before departing for Europe. From the left, "Katie" Alexander, Calgary, former Canadian amateur champion; Doug Silverberg, Calgary; veteran of international amateur competition; Nick Weale, Burlington, Ontario, Canadian amateur champion; and Gary Cowan, Kitchener, former Canadian amateur champion.

INTERNATIONAL ENTRY

That was only the beginning of his troubles. Lions fined him an additional $200 and placed him on a strict curfew. It was the second such incident for the Lions in recent weeks. On Sept. 12, Dick Potts—a former Toronto Argonauts player now with the defensive staff of the Western team—was charged with impaired driving but pleaded not guilty.

Also FINED: Fouts' case has not been heard, but Lions fined him $50 for conduct detrimental to football.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Frank, police said, resisted and they handcuffed him to the steering wheel and called for reinforcements. Dennis, identified by police as one of the passengers who fled, later returned and tried to calm Frank. It was then he suffered a sharp rap to the nose. The club said later his nose was broken.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?" Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Cinemas Roaring Home Amidst Executive Changes

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals, only three victories away from their first National League pennant in 18 years, roared up the home stretch Tuesday with a 6-0 rout of the Cincinnati Reds.

Leading by a game, the Red birds perched atop their lofty roost Thursday with only last night's 4-1 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cardinals have won eight straight games since Wednesday night virtually eliminated the crumbling Philadelphia Phillies by beating them 7-0.

Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr., and his 82-year-old right hand, Branch Rickey, shook up the front office and the organization's farm system. They brought some of the biggest executive changes in recent Cardinals history.

Busch fired general manager Bing Devine and business manager Art Rountree Aug. 17. He said he was disappointed and frustrated over the Cardinals' inability to win a pennant.

Busch brought back Rickey 16 months ago and made him president. Rickey, 67, has been recommended as Devine's replacement. Bob Howsman, 42, was named as Rickey's replacement.

Manager Johnny Keane's job also was reported in jeopardy, but the Cardinals' leap to the top probably saved him from being fired.

Meanwhile, former Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky, director of the organization's player development, was named as Howsman's replacement. Stanky, 42, but who has been in charge of minor league clubs, Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs. Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Lions' Inmate, Frank Fineo A Total of $850,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Tackle Bill Frank, 26, a malpractice of the offensive line of the British Columbia Lions, was fined a total of $850,000 following an early morning fracas with police.

His inmate, tackle Lonnie Dennis, escaped with a sharp rap to the nose.

Frank, six-foot-five and a weighing 290 pounds, spent several hours in jail before posting $300 bond. Later, he was fined $50 for impaired driving.

A charge of assaulting a policeman was withdrawn. His driver's licence was suspended for six months.

That was only the beginning of his troubles. Lions fined him an additional $200 and placed him on a strict curfew.

It was the second such incident for the Lions in recent weeks. On Sept. 12, Dick Potts—a former Toronto Argonauts player now with the defensive staff of the Western team—was charged with impaired driving but pleaded not guilty.

Also FINED: Fouts' case has not been heard, but Lions fined him $50 for conduct detrimental to football.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?"

Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Frank, police said, resisted and they handcuffed him to the steering wheel and called for reinforcements.

Dennis, identified by police as one of the passengers who fled, later returned and tried to calm Frank. It was then he suffered a sharp rap to the nose.

The club said later his nose was broken.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?"

Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Frank, police said, resisted and they handcuffed him to the steering wheel and called for reinforcements.

Dennis, identified by police as one of the passengers who fled, later returned and tried to calm Frank. It was then he suffered a sharp rap to the nose.

The club said later his nose was broken.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it screeching back and forth. Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded: "Where's your warrant?"

Five passengers—two men and three women—left the car, but Frank later hid in the back seat.

Frank, police said, resisted and they handcuffed him to the steering wheel and called for reinforcements.

Pontiacs Capture Championship

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals, only three victories away from their first National League pennant in 18 years, roared up the home stretch Tuesday with a 6-0 rout of the Cincinnati Reds.

Leading by a game, the Red birds perched atop their lofty roost Thursday with only last night's 4-1 win over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr., and his 82-year-old right hand, Branch Rickey, shook up the front office and the organization's farm system.

They brought some of the biggest executive changes in recent Cardinals history.

Busch fired general manager Bing Devine and business manager Art Rountree Aug. 17. He said he was disappointed and frustrated over the Cardinals' inability to win a pennant.

Busch brought back Rickey 16 months ago and made him president. Rickey, 67, has been recommended as Devine's replacement.

Bob Howsman, 42, was named as Rickey's replacement. Manager Johnny Keane's job also was reported in jeopardy, but the Cardinals' leap to the top probably saved him from being fired.

Meanwhile, former Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky, director of the organization's player development, was named as Howsman's replacement.

Stanky, 42, but who has been in charge of minor league clubs, Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Bender will be in charge of about 150 players in the Cardinals' farm system.

Howsman announced Thursday that Stanky's replacement is Sheldon (Chief) Bender, 42, but that Bender will have a new charge of minor league clubs.

Tid Bits From Here And There

Boston Red Sox will announce manager John Pesky has been fired and veteran coach Billy Herman hired as his replacement at a press conference Tuesday. A source close to the placement in National League history. It is the second year Pesky will be offered a job in the organization in the event of a slump around for a position in another system is not known.

The Sporting News announced Thursday its selection of the rookie baseball pitcher among the major leagues. Well known as a home run hitter, Tony Oliva and Wally Bunker, Baltimore Orioles right-handed were the unanimous choice of the national sportswriters. Philadelphia third baseman Richie Allen and Cincinnati Reds pitcher Billy McCool were the national league choices.

Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Eastern Football Conference has signed center John Metras Jr., son of the coach of University of Western Ontario Mustangs and a graduate of that university.

Detroit delayed any New York Yankee pennant-clinching celebration for at least two more days when they defeated Yankees 4-2 Thursday in the first game of a doubleheader.

Phil Dooten, left winger with the Moncton Hawks, has been named as the first star in the New Haven of the Eastern United States Hockey League. It was learned in Moncton Thursday night. The offer, which was made by the Eastern United States Hockey League, was made on Monday along with a hockey contract. Dooten scored 39 goals and 48 assists while playing 40 games last season.

Oscar Gaudel, another member of the Moncton Hawks, is trying out with the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. The 23-year-old Gaudel has scored 12 goals and 15 assists in five assists in five exhibition games with the Bisons, top farm club of the National Hockey League's Chicago Black Hawks. Gaudel is expected to play in the regular season.

This weekend whether to retain the St. Joseph, N.J. player or place him with the St. Louis Braves is expected to play in the National Hockey League season. He will be playing on a line with Ray Cullen and Jack Stanfield. Buffalo has a 41-loss record in exhibition games.

There were three double dash winners on an eight dash harness racing program at the Casselton Downs racetrack in Ontario, Canada, last night. Double winners included: Shadydale Merit, Jolly Dick and Wally Bunker.

The fastest time on the program was paced by Galt's Best with Emmett Bernard holding the reins. The first time was 1:21.4. The eight dash race card. The Bernard teamed early was 1:21.4.

The first double event which was held on the first and second dashes was the largest pair-mutual return of the night. The winning combination was Shadydale Merit, Jolly Dick and Wally Bunker.

Shadydale Merit, Jolly Dick and Wally Bunker were the winners in the first and second dashes. The fastest time on the program was paced by Galt's Best with Emmett Bernard holding the reins. The first time was 1:21.4.

The eight dash race card. The Bernard teamed early was 1:21.4.

The first double event which was held on the first and second dashes was the largest pair-mutual return of the night. The winning combination was Shadydale Merit, Jolly Dick and Wally Bunker.

Shadydale Merit, Jolly Dick and Wally Bunker were the winners in the first and second dashes. The fastest time on the program was paced by Galt's Best with Emmett Bernard holding the reins. The first time was 1:21.4.

New York Yanks Suffer Two Losses

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
New York Yankee, needing only two wins to clinch the 29th American League pennant, lost their first doubleheader of the season Thursday, bowing to Detroit Tigers 4-2 and 5-2. Denny McLain, a 26-year-old right-hander, went all the way in the second of the two games, whipping Houston Coups 6-3. Had they lost, the Giants would have been eliminated from the race.

Milwaukee Braves clinched fifth place in the National League pennant last week by sweeping New York Mets 7-3 to turn their winning streak to a season high of seven. The Braves will play Ed Bailey's grand slam home run, the sixth of his major league career, led an early assault against Bill Wakefield. Denny McLain gained his 17th victory for the Braves with the help of Bob Tiefenauer.