Once we had a lamb by its mother's side—it was artless and pure and mild—The dearest lamb in our own dear flock, Was the fair little blue-eyed child! But a Shepherd came when the sun grew low By a path that has long been trod, And carried our lamb through the mists of night,

To his fold in the mount of God. With a tearful eye and a bleeding heart We must bear it and struggle on; Must climb the mount by the Shepherd's track To the fold where our lamb is gone.
