A MODERN BATH-ROOM.

From Harper's Weekly.

A recent description of a bath-room in a grand American house shows how people of taste transform rooms devoted to the humblest uses into bowers of beauty.

The floor is paved with mosaic, and there is no tub, the bath being simply a sunken space about three feet in depth in one corner. This is walled with marble, railed with bronze, and marble steps lead to it.

The walls are covered with ten-inch square tiles, painted by an American artist, with a design of waves, fishes and other object suggestive of the sea, and above this a frieze, a trellis wreathed with vines.

In many houses the bath-room is too often regarded entirely from a utilitarian point of view; and while it is true that absolute cleanliness and hygienic plumbing are the chief consideration, beauty should also be aimed at here as in any other room of the house.

The plumbing should be arranged after the approved modern methods in which all the pipes are exposed, and the bath, if possible, should be of porcelain, which in the end is heaper than the metal ones.

The floor, if tiling is too expensive, should be of parquetry or stained wood, with only one long rug, which may be easily taken up at the weekly cleaning, and tile paper, which comes in many pretty designs, should cover the walls.

It is well to have the wall below the cornice, divided into two portions, the upper covered with the tile paper, and the lower painted with soapstone finish, which is entirely water-proof, and may, like the paper, be washed off with a sponge.

MILLIONS IN DIAMONDS.

The discovery and workings of the great South African mines, says the New York News, has enormously increased the production of diamonds. During the past quarter century ten tons of these gems, selling for $300,000,000 uncut, and for $600,000,000 after cutting have been added to the world's wealth. This quantity of stones is twice as great as the sum total of all that were known to exist before, the value represented being in the most concentrated possible form. A single corporation controls more than nine-tenths of the entire world's output of diamonds, owning practically the whole of the mines in South Africa. Thus it is enabled to regulate and maintain prices, restricting the production so that the supply may not exceed the demand. Up to date it has placed upon the market about 2,800,000 carats. During the last year it dug and sold $16,000,000 worth of diamonds. During 1893 diamonds to the value of about $15,000,000 were imported into this country. Since 1868 $175,000,000 worth of these gems have been brought into the United States. The cutting of diamonds is carried on in the United States by 15 firms, employing 150 cutters, cleavers and polishers. The American public demands a much higher quality of cutting than is required by European markets. At the same time less is paid for the work here than abroad, $2 being considered fair wages per diem. The pioneer cutter on this side of the water was Henry D. Morse, of Boston. In 1869 he cut the famous Dewey diamond — the biggest gem of the kind ever found in this country—which was dug out of a clay bank near Richmond, weighing 25 carats in the rough. In his shop was invented the first diamond-cutting machine, which made it possible to do the work faster and with more precision. It has not been adopted abroad to any extent as yet. Amsterdam, the greatest centre of diamond cutting, has 72 factories engaged in that industry. The largest employs 1,000 hands. Next in importance is Antwerp. London ranks third. In the world there are 6,500 cutters of diamonds and 8,000 dealers. The latter carry in stock $350,000,000 worth of stones, representing probably one-third of all the diamonds possessed by human beings to-day.

YOUNG MAN IN BUSINESS.

Above all things, before a young man attempts to make a success, he should convince himself that he is in a congenial business. Whether it be a trade or a profession, let him satisfy himself, above everything else, that it enlists his personal interest. If a man shows that he has his work at heart his business can be relied on. Fully satisfied that he is in the particular line of business in which he feels a stronger, warmer interest than in any other, then he should remember:

Devote yourself to it.

Be honest in everything.

Employ caution; think out a thing well before you enter upon it.

Sleep eight hours every night.

Do everything that means keeping in good health.

School yourself not to worry; worry kills, work doesn't.

Avoid liquors of all kinds.

If you must smoke, smoke moderately.

Shun discussion on two points—religion and politics.

And last, but not least: Marry a true woman and have your own home.

CAUSE OF BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

The direct cause of pain and looseness of the bowels, is an irritation of the mucous membrane of the same, sufficient to produce excessive peristaltic or worm-like motion in the interior of the bowels, thus the partly digested food matter is kept constantly passing along and evacuated freely. This is called a diarrhœa; where the irritation is enough to cause bleeding, we have dysentery. Indirect causes of diarrhœa, by which an irritation is started are intestinal dyspepsia, overeating unripe or over-ripe fruit, tainted meats, or oysters etc.; torpor of liver, by which not enough bile is secreted; excessive flow of bile, etc.; TREATMENT. Thoroughly evacuate the bowls with Parsons' Pills, they are among the best to get rid of all irritating matter. Then take Johnson's Anodyne Liniment in teaspoonful doses diluted with water, every four hours, and oftener if the case is severe. In case of Asiatic cholera, one teaspoonful should be given every half hour. Thousands of people remember the year 1849, when the worse known epidemic disease spread over this country. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment at that time was little knowu outside of the state of Maine. But for its use at that time by its friends, many would not now live to spread the joyful news that any case of diarrhœe, dysentery, cholera-morbus, or kindred diseases, can be cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. It nevr yet failed. The proprietors, I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass., will send their new illustrated book, entitled "TREATMENT FOR DISEASEL," free to any person for the asking. July 25

When anything of real worth appears, there is sure to be appreciative response. At this moment Priestley's dress fabrics are worn by most of the well dressed ladies in Great Britain. They have the foundation of durability; but they add grace to merit. Ladies who have worn Priestley's black dress goods will never think of wearing any other, the satisfaction is so complete with them. The trade mark is "The Vanished Board." .....
