Notes on Poultry.

We have a timepiece always true, Not very old or very new; At midnight and the break of day, Still keeping time in noisy way. When there's to be a change of weather, Proclaiming it with ruffled feather. Each hour throughout the darkest night, We know our timepiece still is right, No need have ye of watch or clock, So faithful is our barnyard cock, —American Agriculturist.

Feed only business poultry. Starved hens are poor layers. The best results come from careful attention.

At this time of the year hen houses should be disinfected and the interior whitewashed.

Save money by getting rid of poor layers.

Too have a well filled-egg basket there must be variety of food.

To much care cannot be taken in handling eggs for table use, for one bad egg in the basket will be a bad advertisement, and very often lose a valuable customer.

When once a poultryman gets a reputation for selling eggs that are guaranteed to be good, there is no more trouble for him to hold his orders. —A Few Hens.

Here's sound logic by the Reliable Poultry Journal: Be in earnest! It is the royal road to success in "poultry keeping for profit." Work is what counts—earnest, persistent, intelligent work. Be in earnest and you will succeed! Know what to do, then do it with your might. This will change failure into success, and bring happiness, contentment. The poultry business is not boy's play. Keeping poultry for profit is no longer a mere pastime. For thousands of worthy people it is a means of livelihood, a matter of bread and butter.

Mrs. Cora Halbrook, in Poultry Keeper, prepares the nest for sitting hens on turkey eggs, as follows: Prepare the nest by taking several newspapers, put them all around and all over the nests, and just leave a place large enough for the hen to get out or in. Then put about 2 1/2 inches of ashes on the paper, and cover with enough hay to keep the eggs off the ashes. Then I tie moth balls in small rags, one in a rag, and place two of these in a nest, which I think prevent lice. You can get a pint for five cts.; (they are very poisonous and must be kept away from children). We set 11 eggs under a hen.

Poultry Topics gives the method of killing and picking geese; hang the goose up by the feet where it cannot bruise itself. Stick a narrow-bladed sharp knife through the neck close to the head. Be sure to sever the veins, but make as small as a wound as possible. Let the goose hang till dead. Have a boiler little more than half full of boiling water; throw in one pail full of cold water; take the goose in one hand, dip in the water three times and then wrap in an old bag or carpet to steam a few minutes. Then with the thumb and finger remove the feathers and head at once by beginning at the head.—finish by singing with a blaze made with shavings, as

A PERFECT, SURE AND RELIABLE CURE

The Doctor's Opinion Regarding Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They Cure Dyspepsia, and all Other Stomach Diseases, by Curing Stomach and Bowels—They are the Only Cure on Earth.

They were talking about Dyspepsia. The doctor said it causes more misery than whiskey does. But, he said, he could cure it. He knew of one remedy—for Dyspepsia, and every other stomach trouble—that always cures. That one is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. But he knew of no other.

The lawyer agreed with the doctor, as to the misery caused by Dyspepsia. But he claimed that Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Foul Breath, Wind on the Stomach, Biliousness, Waterbrash, and Catarrh of the Stomach are responsible for equally as much torture.

there will be less smoke. Then wash in rather warm soap suds and dip in cold water. A small vegetable brush is nice for the purpose.

Up-to-Date Farming gives this advice: Breed thoroughbred stock, sell eggs for hatching, sell breeding stock, raise and sell earlier broilers, raise turkeys, ducks, geese and chickens enough so you will have a good lot to dress and ship to market in the winter when prices are good; and if you wish ornamental poultry do so, as these always bring good prices, and, above all, have a large number of laying hens at work all winter, and keep them at it. If you can handle the business properly do not be afraid of overdoing it, for you may increase as much as you please and then you could sell twice as much as you could raise. If you find that you have a surplus of eggs for hatching, or of your breeding stock all that is necessary to convert them into cash at your price is simply to have them choice. If you find your business growing, increase your facilities and add to the establishment every year.
