Four hundred compositors and 50 proof-readers are steadily employed, besides 44 pressmen, 145 proof-readers, and 34 ruling machine feeders.
An attempt has been made to arrive with some accuracy at the loss inflicted directly and indirectly by the strike of the Knights of Labor on the Gould system. The loss of earnings to the railway companies is estimated at $2,200,000, damage to property at $300,000, and expenses for guards, $200,000, in all $2,700,000. The strikers have lost, at least $500,000 in wages, and the strike has deprived six thousand other employees of the railway, of wages to the amount of about $800,000. These figures cannot, of course, be added to the previous ones as they only show what part of the loss of $2,800,000 is borne by the men. What the indirect cost to the public is, can only be guessed at from the fact that fifty millions worth of goods have not been transported, and four or five thousand men employed in various establishments dependent for supplies on the railways have been thrown out of work.

Railroad Warfare.

GOULD'S CHANGED OPINION ABOUT THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Jay Gould said yesterday: "The strike on our railroad is practically over. I have been astonished at much of the revelation that has come through the recent disturbances, but nothing has been so surprising as the proof I have had of the weakness of the Knights. They have no such organization as I had supposed. Their demonstrations and assertions had led me to believe them not only formidable but practically unconquerable. They are not the sort of organization that wins victories. They are not what they led the public to believe them to be; they are readily overcome. So great was my apprehension as to the strength of the Knights, and of what might come from a fight with them, that for over a year we have been carrying hundreds of men on the Missouri Pacific Railroad's Pay roll for whom we really had no need. We were paying them their wages only because we were apprehensive of an extreme emergency to follow a strike by the Knights. Now we find that the money spent in this way was practically wasted. We had no such things to fear as we anticipated. Up to this time we have taken back 25 men who have been active in the strike troubles at St. Louis. We can get without having to call upon a single one of the strikers. Labor, in fact, is over-abundant in all the strike districts. There is no lack anywhere of material for trainmen. Here in New York, for instance, the elevated railroads have constantly on the applications from between 1,500 and 2,000 men who will answer a call for work. The same condition of affairs exists in the South West. We have decided to give the men in East St. Louis until one o'clock on Monday afternoon to return to work, such a number of them, at least, as we require. If they refuse this generous offer they will get no further chance.

ALL THE MEN WE WANT

Krupp.

Alfred Krupp, owns probably the largest business in the world dependent on one individual. The works within the town of Essen occupy more than 500 acres, half of which are under cover. According to a census taken in September 1881, the number of hands employed by Mr. Krupp was 19,605, the members of their families 45,776, making 65,381 persons supported by his works. Mr. Krupp owns 547 iron mines in Germany. He owns four sea steamers, and there are connected with his Essen works forty-two miles of railway, employing twenty-eight locomotives, 883 cars, sixty-nine horses, with 191 wagons, and forty miles of telegraph wires, with thirty-five stations and fifty-five Morse apparatuses. The establishment possesses a grand chemical laboratory, a photographic and lithographic atelier, a printing office with three steam and six hand presses, and a book-binding room. The establishment even runs a hotel in Essen.

She Got Acquainted.

"Hold on to the young man in front," said a young lady's escort, as they seated themselves on the toboggan. "But I don't know him." "Well, take hold and get acquainted." "Sir!" said the Puritanical miss, with an offended look. Her escort chuckled and dropped the conversation. The toboggan started. "Oh my!" squealed the nervous young lady, taking a very light hold of the House of the young man in front. The escort chuckled a little more and the toboggan flew faster. As the sled struck the level the young lady bobbed into the air. She threw her arms around the neck of the young man in front and clung to him like a well-licked postage stamp to a letter. When the toboggan came to a standstill the young lady was still tightly clasping the stranger. "Well, did you get acquainted?" inquired her escort with a grin. "You horrid thing," was her only answer.—St. Paul Letter.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little abraded awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. [Feb 4 cod wky
