IN MEMORIAM

MR. FREDERICK G. JOHNSON

In "pastures green"? Not always; sometimes He
Who knoweth best, in kindness leadeth me
In weary ways, where heavy shadows be.

Yet, where He leads me, I can safely go,
And in the blest hereafter I shall know,
Why, in His wisdom, He hath led me so.

On December 26, widespread sorrow was felt throughout Murray Harbour North and adjacent districts when it became known that Frederick G. Johnston had passed into the eternal peace and security of Christ. The hushed world seemed still to linger in the holy calm of the Christmas Day when he heard the voice of his Saviour say: "Come unto Me and rest." In the silent stillness of the hours which herald the approach of a new day, he entered into the rest that remaineth for the children of God.

Son of the late Samuel Johnston and Jane MacDonald, he was born at Peter's Road on July 20, 1885, and was one of a family of fourteen. He was united in marriage with Mayburn MacKinnon, daughter of the late John H. MacKinnon and Mary Jane MacLean. For two years after his marriage he lived on the old homestead at Peter's Road. He then took up residence in Murray Harbour North where he resided until the Fall of 1951, at which time he moved to Murray River.

The late Mr. Johnston was well known in his own community and elsewhere as an enterprising lobster-packer and farmer, and for several years was also engaged in the fox industry.

He was a man who possessed a friendly nature, a cheerful disposition, and a pleasing personality, which endeared him to the many who knew him. He loved his family, his home and his friends, and the stranger within his gate always received a cordial welcome.

He was especially noted for his loyalty to his church, being a generous supporter and regular attender. He served as Treasurer and as Chairman of the Property Committee and was a most faithful and efficient worker, giving unstintingly of his time and effort. With his passing the Murray Harbour North Presbyterian Church has lost a valued member, and the community, one who always had its interests at heart and was ready at all times to assist in any worthy project for the betterment of the district. He has left a cherished memory that not even time can erase.

He who brings beauty to the lives of men
Needeth no tribute of recording pen.
His deeds are graven in a place apart,
On the enduring tablet of the human heart.

The late Mr. Johnston enjoyed good health until about a year and a half before his death, at which time he suffered a heart attack. He endured his illness in a cheerful and uncomplaining spirit and retained his active interest in home and community life. On December 16th, he became seriously ill, and despite the love and care of his family and attending nurses and physicians, he passed on to that eternal world where "he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

Besides his sorrowing wife, he leaves to mourn four sons and three daughters: Floyd in Toronto; Marvyn, Charlottetown; Emerson, Murray River; Reta, Murray River; Shirley (Mrs. Conn Murphy), Charlotteotwn; Lowell, Murray Harbour North; Ruth (Mrs. Charles Fraser), Montague. Also five brothers and one sister survive: Earl, Fortune Bridge; Garfield, Percy, and Raulston, all of Peter's Road; Lester in Charlottetown, and Beatrice, (Mrs. John MacLean), Peter's Road.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved.

The funeral, which was largely attended, despite the inclemency of the weather, was held from the Murray River United Church on Sunday afternoon, December 28, and was conducted by the Rev. Wallace MacPherson, assisted by the Rev. Carl Currie. Taking for his text, Isaiah 43:2 — "When thou passeth through the waters, I will be with thee." Mr. Currie spoke words of comfort to the bereaved and paid fitting tribute to the departed. Hymns sung were, "There is no Night in Heaven," and "Does Jesus Care." A trio, "The Haven of Rest," was beautifully rendered by Messrs William Moore, Clarence Nicolle, and Ford Keenan. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Bowles, David Irving, Thomas Clow Newton Hicken, Edward Miller and Chester MacLure. His remains were gently laid to rest in the presence of loved ones and friends.

There is no death, the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore
And bright in Heaven's jewelled crown
They shine forever more.

A profusion of lovely floral tributes, silent messages of sympathy bore testimony of the love and esteem in which the departed was held.

CLAUDE J. MacINNIS

who departed this life

the morning of the 23rd December, 1952.

Of the golden chain you wear,
By your hearts calm strength in loving,
Of the fire you have had to bear.

Beat on true heart forever,
Shine bright, strong, golden chain,
And bless the ceasing fire
And the furnace of living pain.

After photographers had snapped his picure, Dr. Hewlett Johnson himself provided them with an appropriate caption — "The Dean in full flight." Maybe it was coincidence that the Dean of Canterbury then informed his Toronto audience that he would leave for Britain on Friday and make no other public addresses in Canada. Before a crowd of 2,700, mostly Communist sympathizers, in Toronto's Massey Hall, the Dean sang Russia's praises, adding that he was "certain Canada will be a Communist country in the future." Police had trouble quelling the 700 university students and anti-Communist D. P.'s who staged a mass demonstration outside the hall.

Bristol and Vicinity

A sharp watch has been going on here around the trout streams and the by-pass at the Jordan Pond as there are reports of out-of-season fishing.

Mrs. Maurice Ranahan, who entered the Charlottetown Hospital on February 23rd for treatment, is home again as the hospital doctors could find nothing seriously wrong with her.

Birthday greetings are being extended to Miss Geraldine O'Brien, who was five years old on March 2nd and celebrated her birthday party with twenty of her little friends at her home.

Miss Geraldine Barry, who served on the Charlottetown Hospital staff for a year or more, has been home for some time. Her health has not been the best for some years.

The work at the packing plant in the City that was expected to keep a lot of girls and women employed for a long period lasted a little more than one week, reports one lady from here who joined the staff. There were some forty women at work at one time.

It is understood there are large quantities of potatoes still unmarketed here, as most farmers held over for the monster price in the spring. One person even boasted last fall that spuds would be ten dollars a bushel in April. Today, it is reported, they are being sold for eighty cents.

Mr. James Arnold was a business visitor to the City on Saturday February 28th. Mr. Arnold had a strange experience recently when he purchased a buck saw in one of the city stores and left it to pick up later.

Those old timers here who have more than fifty years will have to retract some statements preached about the ground hog for this season as memory and records show Candlesmass Day was bright and clear, calling for two winters in one year. To date, March 2nd, there hasn't been enough snow or winter weather to cover a ground hog's back.

The Drake brothers have purchased a tract of lumber land from Mr. Frank Dunphy, in Morell Rear, and plan to cut and haul it all this winter or early spring. They have truck and tractor power along with horses for the job. Mr. Dunphy made his living for half a century hauling lumber from his forest, and now along in the evening of life, with failing eye sight, his days of work are about at a close.

A week later his daughter called for the saw and no one knew anything about it. Strangely enough when Mr. Arnold got around to see about it he learned the clerk who waited on him had been laid off for the slack season, and no doubt the saw went back into stock in stock taking. Nevertheless, he will get another one shortly as his dealings and his honesty are well known.

. . *Mr. John R. O'Brien, who was an outstanding fisherman here many years ago, is planning to spend his four weeks' vacation here in May and June to show his two sons how lobster fishing was done long ago. Despite all the years away from this old fishing port Mr. O'Brien, claims he still knows the markings where the fish are and how to trap them. He will have a fleet of three hundred new traps put in readiness for the opening bell to compete with young fishermen who were not even born in his time, 40 years ago, before the day of gasoline engines and traps haulers.

Recently the fact was mentioned that the old St. Laurance Church was built in 1867 and now it is learned there are two gentlemen here who were born that same year. Mr. John T. O'Brien, who is hale and hearty, was born that year. His late father, a blacksmith at that time, had a hand in the building of this old church. Also hale and hearty is Mr. Mike McCarthy, born the same year, who has lived across the road from the church all his life. Many have come and gone, he says, in that time. Many old friends are sleeping down the road in the old cemetery and scores of others come and go along life's way, but these two are still going strong despite a lifetime of hard work when the going was tough.
