"Pride of the Marines" At Capitol

The Marines have landed on the screen again, this time in a heart thumping, comedy-filled romantic drama called "Pride of the Marines," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre.

Planned in its entirety at the United States Marine Base at San Diego, "Pride of the Marines" weaves a cleverly built and diverting story into the thrilling fabric of America's military prowess.

Charles Bickford heads the large cast as the gruff, sentimental leatherneck who adopts a ten-year old orphan lad and brings him to the Marine Base to live. Florence Rice appears opposite Bickford as the girl the brash Marine wants to marry with Robert Allen seen as a rival suitor. The big surprise in the film, as might be surmised, is the lovable, heart-winning performance of little Billy Burrud.

Sparkling with delightful humor, replete with droll situations and tender romance, "Pride of the Marines" offers an evening of unmatched entertainment. The principals perform with sincerity and conviction.

The authentic pictorialization of the military maneuvers of the Sixth Regiment of United States Marines, some 2600 of the nation's finest fighting men, provides a stimulating burst of color, thrills and military pageantry.

Others in the cast are George McKay, Thurston Hall, Ward Bond and Joseph Sawyer.

CHOCOLATE CREAM FILLING

Four tablespoons cake flour, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate cut in small pieces, 2 cups milk scalded, 2 egg-yolks slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine flour, sugar, salt and chocolate. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Pour small amount of mixture over egg-yolks, stirring vigorously. Return to double boiler and cook two or three minutes longer. Remove from fire. Add vanilla. Makes enough filling for three 9-inch layers.

S. S. "GASPESIA" IN PORT—The S. S. "Gaspesia" was discharging cargo at Pownal wharf yesterday. It is expected the steamer will move over to the Railway wharf where a cargo of potatoes will be loaded for Newfoundland. Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed by the local longshoremen by the action of the crew in discharging the cargo even to the transfering it into the warehouse. The crew explained that the steamer carried a double crew due to the fact that men were scarce at some of the ports of call.

BRIDAL SHOWER—Miss Peggy Hobbs whose marriage takes place in June, was tendered a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas White, Hillsboro Street. of bidding you a fond "au revoir." "We who have been so closely associated with you for the past number of years realize fully that a void there will be in the administration of our duties, and although your successor may possess the intelligence and personality, the qualifications and character, so important and necessary to a man holding this position, nevertheless to us who have had the pleasure of working with you and under your supervision, there will never be another Supervisor Galant.

"From the time of our entrance into the Service we have always looked to you for direction and counsel in all things, and what training we have received or what degree of efficiency we have attained, we, each and all, can credit this standard to your wise guidance and timely instruction more than to our own individual efforts.

"Your manly characteristics have been an example for us to emulate, and your regard for your fellow-man at all times and under all circumstances, no matter what these may have been, have been always an inspiration to us. As our superior officer, being in a position to demand discipline and respect from us at all times, you have always demonstrated the greatest patience and consideration. You have always placed yourself on a level with us, and by your friendly admonition and paternal correction, instead of by the stern disciplinary methods of the average superior, you have generally obtained the desired results. When severe reprimand was in order from our superior officers for our errors and, perhaps, negligence of duty, you have a way supported us, and upon numerous occasions you have strongly defended us from these deserved punishments. You have done all this in your modest, gentlemanly manner, peculiar to your character, and at this time we wish to express our tardy appreciation for all you have done for us."

"We realize fully the necessity and ultimate benefit of discipline in all things, and we feel that much more may be accomplished by your method of advice, in preference to stern command and dictation. We want to assure you of the fact that our apparent negligence at times was not taking advantage of your kind-hearted qualities, and felt often that the patience shown by you should only encourage us to do better in the future.

"No man securely commands, save he who has learned how to obey. No man securely governs, save he who has learned how to live in subjection. The reputation you leave behind you, not only as a model for us, but also as a remembrance to the public whom you have served so long and faithfully, will ever stand as a glowing beacon of character and a fitting demonstration of the truth of these expressions.

"The past co-operation, and always friendly associations of this small family in the Fishery Service of this province, we will always endeavor to maintain. We will always feel that your example will be guiding us, and that your counsel will be beside us in our tribulations and problems, and you may rest assured that our best wishes and sincerest appreciation for all you have done for us will always remain as enthusiastic in the future as it has been in the past. As a token of this appreciation and our best wishes to both yourself and Mrs. Gallant, please accept this gift, and may you ever realize that we feel we owe you much more than we can ever hope to repay.

"When reclining in contentment, and reminiscing over past years as our Superior Officer, may your cares and trifling troubles vanish and be obliterated by the pleasant memories of our associations together, content in the knowledge that, as a result of all you have done for us, for the public and for the Department, the Fishery Service will not be neglected, and the same loyalty and brotherly co-operation which you have instilled into this service, will be maintained as a reward for your enthusiasm in your work."

Discarded Tires Made Into Mats

A new process by which discarded automobile tires are reformed into mats for almost all uses is an innovation into the city's industrial life by the Campbell Fabrix and Mat Company, lower Queen Street. The disused tires are taken, stripped of "beads," cut in two, and then sliced into various strips according to the size of the mat required. The thinner strips are subjected to a punch and turned into "spacing rollers" for the formation of the pattern desired. The strips and rollers are then weaved onto special rust-proof wire, put in a press and wire ends securely locked.

The mat proper, an example of which was shown the Guardian, appeared quite stable and Mr. Campbell vouches for its indefinite usefulness. The manufacture of the mat is of an American patent of which the Campbell Fabrix Mat Co. has license. Mr. Campbell has employed at present about six workmen, all of whom are busily engaged, orders for mats exceeding the supply.

NOT THIS ONE—IT'S A NEW DISCOVERY CALLED OXYDOL—MADE BY THE HONORABLE PEOPLE. IT'S SO MILD—YET IT SOAKS OUT DIRT IN 15 MINUTES. NO HARD SCRUBBING OR BOILING AT ALL!

15 MINUTES LATER

IT'S TRUE! JUST 15 MINUTES SOAKING—AND I NEVER SAW THESE TOWELS SO WHITE.

AND WAIT TILL YOU SEE HOW FRESH AND BRIGHT IT WASHES COLORED THINGS—AND HOW SOFT IT LEAVES YOUR HANDS.

WEEKS LATER

HONEY, YOU LOOK YOUNGER EVERY DAY—AND YET YOU WORK TWICE AS HARD AS MOST WOMEN.

I USED TO HAVE A HORROR OF LOOKING LIKE A SCRUBWOMAN—UNTIL I DISCOVERED OXYDOL.

NEWEST "NO-SCRUB" SOAP DISCOVERY

Soaks Out Dirt in 15 Minutes—Yet Safe For Colors, Hands!

Now this utterly new kind of laundry soap puts an end to the washday slavery women have suffered so long. No more aching backs! No more unsightly "washboard hands!"

OXYDOL is the latest amazing soap discovery by the makers of gentle Ivory soap. Combining speed and safety in a way no single soap has ever done before, it does these 4 amazing things:

- (1) Soaks out dirt in 15 minutes, without scrubbing or boiling. Even the "tough" spots come snowy white with gentle rub.
- (2) Cuts washing time 25% to 40% in tub or machine.
- (3) Gets white clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter than other soaps, proved by scientific Tintometer tests.
- (4) Yet so safe and mild that hands stay soft and lovely, and every washable color comes out sparkling, brilliant, fresh! Even sheer cotton prints, washed 100 consecutive times in OXYDOL suds, showed no perceptible sign of fading.

OXYDOL is economical, too. Tests show that it will go one-third to one-half again as far as even the latest soap chips on the market. One package often does twice the work—gives twice the suds—lasts twice as long as less modern soaps. Get OXYDOL from your dealer today.

BOUGHTON IS FISHMEN RESCUED

Picked up from a little motor-boat in which they had drifted helplessly in Cardigan Bay for more than six hours during a heavy gale, James Steele and Harry Jameson, Boughton Island fishermen, returned home safely aboard the Souris schooner Frances Cook.

The fishermen were left at the mercy of wind and sea when the engine of their boat failed just after they had been forced to leave their Cardigan Bay lobster grounds by threatening weather. Unable to bring life to the motor, Steele and Jameson had raised a distress flag on their tiny vessel hoping to draw the attention of other lobstermen.

Preliminary Hearing In Robbery Case

Oyrene Kelly, Fred Phillips and Alfred Clinton, charged with robbery by violence, came up for preliminary hearing yesterday before His Honor D. Edgar Shaw, acting stipendiary magistrate for Charlottetown. After the evidence of George Jeffery had been taken the case was adjourned until to-day. Mr. J. O. C. Campbell appeared for the Crown and Mr. J. J. Johnston for the accused.

Elmer Doucette had been arrested on the same charge but was released Wednesday on his own recognizance to appear when wanted. His case will be tried after the present one is completed it was understood.

George Jeffery in his evidence told of going to the house of Mrs. McQuigan on King Street, in company with Lionel Vautour and two Norwegian sailors, early in the evening of May 14th. While at Mrs. McQuigan's he had three drinks of rum given to him by the sailors. He had changed a ten dollar bill for one of the men from $100.00 he had in his pocket given to him by Mr. J. D. McLeod to be used for buying lobsters. Phillips, the sailors and the McQuigan girls had seen him make the change. Clinton and Kelly were in the house at the time also. After he had been there about an hour and a half, in company with Vautour and Mrs. McQuigan and another girl, the witness had gone out to a restaurant and had something to eat. They then returned to the house on King Street and had remained there until about twelve o'clock when the witness left in company with the sailors and Clinton, Kelly and Phillips. They left by the front door and Vautour left by the back way. When the witness and the others reached the sidewalk they stood talking for a few minutes and then the witness said Clinton hit him on the eye. Some one else hit him several times and knocked him down. While he was down he was choked and felt someone take the one hundred dollars from his hip pocket where he kept it. Clinton, Kelly and Phillips were there at the time but the witness has gone on before that he said in evidence. After the money was taken from him those that were there ran. Vautour arrived about that time and he and the witness went to the City Police Station. The police were out but they told a man that was there what had happened and Vautour stayed at the station while the witness went to the Mounted Police headquarters.

They told him it was a case for the city police and the witness went back to find that the police had already arrested Clinton and Kelly.

Cross examined by Mr. Johnston the witness said he was 24 years of age and was married and had lived in Charlottetown for five years. He was born in New Brunswick and had moved to this province with his parents twelve years ago. He had known Vautour since the first of May when he arrived from New Brunswick with a boat to "smack" lobsters for Mr. McLeod. The witness had been buying lobsters for Mr. McLeod for three years. He had the hundred dollars from Monday, the time it was given to him by Mr. McLeod until it was taken from him Thursday. He did not see a fight between Clinton, Kelly or Phillips and the sailors after they came out of McQuigan's house he said. There might have been but he did not see it. He did not interfere in any fight. He had not spent any of the one hundred dollars given to him by Mr. McLeod nor had he been drinking at any time during the week previous to the three drinks he had Thursday night. He had not been unconscious at any time when he was knocked down in the street and choked.

Jane Withers In "Paddy O' Day" At Prince Edward

About the adventures of the cunningest colleen ever brought to the screen, "Paddy O' Day," the new picture which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre, weaves a story of rapid fire song, dance and comedy with a heart tug.

Jane Withers, star of "Ginger" heads the new production, with Pinky Tomlin, Rita Cansino, Jane Darwell and George Givot—radio's Greek ambassador—backing her up.

The story of "Paddy O' Day" follows the fascinating and often heart warming adventures of a motherless little Irish immigrant recently arrived in New York.

Although she has run away from the immigration authorities at Ellis Island, numerous kindly people befriend her. Finally Pinky Tomlin, eccentric young heir to millions, gives her refuge in his house.

It is Jane's influence that creates a romance between Tomlin and Rita Cansino and which gets them all involved in the Russian show of that excitable impresario, George Givot. The film finds its climax in the happy culmination of the romance and the finding of a permanent home for the little girl.

In addition to Jane Withers' versatile and engaging performance, there is the acting of George Givot which created a laugh riot and the dancing and vocalizing of Rita Cansino.

"Keep That Twinkle in Your Eye," "I Like a Balalaika" and "Changing My Ambitions" are the names of some of the catchy tunes this feature "Paddy O' Day."
