BACCHUS Awareness

Anyone who may have cruised through the "pit" area on Monday, October 22nd, should have seen a huge display, a video playing non-stop and/or a blond talking about Bacchus.

Bacchus stands for:

Beware of Alcohol Consciousness Consumption of Healthy
University
Students.

Bacchus's phil. doesn't say "no, don't drink" but promotes consciousness consumption or non-consumption of alcohol.

Bacchus met with various people on campus, the director of Student Services, the Student Union Executives, and some of the Head Residents and Resident Assistants for information meeting.

Hopefully, anyone who took in any aspect of the Bacchus display or information sessions had their eyes opened and/or reopened to the alcoholic problem on university campuses. I would like to thank Carmi and Lisa for their time and interesting talks- Question for thought?

"Do you consume more than (or about) 28 alcoholic drinks per week?"

Think about it! Scary, eh?

Resume Writing

UPEI Student Union and the Employment Centre on Campus is offering every UPEI student the opportunity to participate in an awareness session(s) on resume writing, preparing for an interview, and the Interview. Employers from many areas - science, education, government etc. will be participating. If anyone is interested for more details, please call or drop into the Employment Centre or the Student Union:

Leave your name, faculty, and interests (job related!)

Preparing and looking for a job - for ever and ever, or summer, should start now!

Have a Good One
