

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 27, 1886.

The Subway.

The Montreal Times comments upon the success of the boring tests between the Capes, and says: "Senator Howland and the Island are to be congratulated on the satisfactory solution of the first great problem in connection with this project—the question of a suitable bed for the tunnel. The remaining serious difficulty is the financial one, but with the feasibility of the scheme satisfactorily demonstrated, we judge that the Island's claims and the Island's importance will ere long command the necessary funds, especially as the government now in power, and likely to remain, has always been ready to give liberal consideration to progressive movements designed to develop the resources and promote the interests of every section of our great Dominion."

Shipping.

AFTER his return from the Mother Country, the Hon. Alexander McKenzie was interviewed by a reporter of the Toronto Globe, and said, (among other things) that he "was struck by the evidences of great depression in the British shipping trade. No good reason had been assigned for this state of things, except that ships had been built in excess of the demands of the carrying trade. Ships that would be sold at £20 a ton in the old days could now be built for £9 per ton. The result had been very disastrous to shipping centres like Newcastle and the Clyde, and many people who, a few years ago were wealthy, were now poor through the depreciation of their property." So it appears that depression in shipping, is not due to the N. P. or anything of that sort; for it prevails in Free Trade England to a much greater extent than it does in Protected Canada.

Repatriation.

It is significant of the success of the policy of the Canadian Government that whole settlements of French Canadians who left Canada during the dark days of Grit administration, are about to return home. Every true Canadian, says Le Courier, will applaud such a movement—a movement that will restore to the land of their birth or their ancestors hundreds of families who in days of trial in the past, thought to better their lot by seeking a home among strangers. It is hoped that, once well started, there will be no difficulty in settling many of the vacant lands to the north of us with these temporarily alienated sons and daughters of the soil, who in their wanderings abroad, have never forgotten nor ceased to love the land where they or their fathers first saw the light.

Reciprocity.

A DENIAL of the truth of the report that a treaty of Reciprocity had been framed and sent to Ottawa for revision is officially published. This will not surprise any reflecting person who knows anything about the matter. But the Repealers of Nova Scotia were caught by it; and have indubitably circulated a statement to the effect that "it was all due to the result of our election. The Government got scared, don't you see, and straightway sent Lord Lansdowne home to England. The British Government was scared also, and brought all their influence to bear upon the matter. So a treaty was formulated; and we are soon to have it—all due to us."

Reading between the lines we can easily see how anxious the Repealers of Nova Scotia are to get out of the scrape they are in. An apocryphal story was eagerly accepted as true, for they saw in it a way out of their difficulty. Reciprocity obtained, there will be no more need for the repeal movement; and the repealers took credit for getting Reciprocity, hoping to make their fall easy. We deeply regret the disappointment caused them by the official denial of the story; and sincerely hope that another opportunity to recede from their untenable position with some show of credit may soon be afforded them.

The Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, in a recent interview, said that Canada was "well and generally favorably known throughout Scotland. He thought that a mistake was made in exhibits of Canadian goods in Great Britain in giving too much prominence to snowshoes and similar articles, as if they were an essential element of life in Canada. For this and other reasons there were in the Old Country exaggerated notions of the severity of the Canadian winter; but Canadian visitors to Great Britain, constantly increasing in numbers as they were, were doing a great deal to dispel these illusions."

Dominion Exports and Imports.

An Ottawa despatch says:—"The exports for August last are considerably more than for August of the previous year. Dutiable articles are more by $551,000, and free goods are more by $540,000. Exports also show an increase. The total exports were $156,000 more. Every branch except the fisheries show an increase. The export of home produce, animals and their products, an increase of nearly $500,000. Inland revenue returns also show a large increase. Taking customs and inland revenue duties, the amount collected increased $413,000 over the collections of August of last year."

A Master of Misquotation.

LORD SALISBURY'S NEW NAME FOR MR. GLADSTONE—THE PREMIER ON OBSTRUCTION—MORE RIGOROUS PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE REQUIRED—A DECLARATION IN FAVOR OF PEASANT PROPRIETARY.

The County Conservative Club was opened at St. Albans on the 22nd inst., with a large and distinguished gathering. Lord Salisbury was loudly cheered. In the course of a speech he said it was necessary for the Conservatives to organize and labor untiringly to maintain the advantage they had already won. The division yesterday showed a remarkable record. Every Conservative had either voted or paired and there was not a single absentee. "Let me tell you," continued Lord Salisbury, "the conditions of discouragement are very serious. Prisoners condemned to labor know nothing like the misery and discomfort a member of the House of Commons undergoes through a night of 'Irish obstruction.' Irish obstructionists have greatly changed in character. Formerly they meant to secure, and perhaps they were not to be blamed, for their efforts to obtain, a long discussion, a complete thrashing and sifting of the subject. They carry their opposition to the utmost possible length to-day, and this opposition, in skillful hands is something totally different from their former methods. It is.

AN INSTRUMENT OF TORTURE

to compel a majority Government by mere physical suffering to concede this or that. Whatever the obstructionists set their hearts on, the majority must stand and listen, not to argument or exhortations, but to elaborate efforts to waste time, which are made merely for the purpose of keeping the majority up night after night in the hope that from sheer fatigue they will concede something which they know public duty compels them to refuse. (Cries of shame.) If a representative government is to continue, he said, this instrument of torture cannot be permitted to survive. (Loud cheers.) It will paralyze all legislation and bring discredit upon the oldest instrument of freedom in the world. I desire, he continued, to repudiate the words which Mr. Gladstone kindly put into my mouth on Monday.

MR. GLADSTONE IS A MASTER OF MISQUOTATION

(cheers and laughter), but I do not believe that he was ever so brilliant or successful before. Mr. Gladstone charged me with stating that there were cases where judicial rents could not be paid. Mr. Gladstone based his arguments and justified his course thereon, but the charge is absolutely unfounded. I said nothing of the kind (cheers.) I never said that the exchequer should pay the difference between judicial and first rents. Courtesy alone prevents me from contradicting those statements in sufficiently strong language. The proposal to multiply small freeholds in Ireland originated with Mr. John Bright, who parted from Mr. Gladstone this year, but the proposal was never a party question. I, myself, and many other Conservatives, have supported it for twenty years. It is the true policy of statesmen. In a SOUND SYSTEM OF PEASANT PROPRIETARY lies the future social salvation of Ireland. (Cheers.) The change may be slow and gradual, but our policy is to establish it." In conclusion, Lord Salisbury said: "Remember, gentlemen, we are engaged in a great struggle to preserve the unity of the Empire, which is our paramount object. Do not relax your efforts to hand the Empire down to posterity unimpaired." (Prolonged cheers.)

Misplaced Confidence.

The St. John Telegraph of Saturday says: There died at the public hospital yesterday morning a man named Chas. Callaghan, a resident of Portland, a victim of misplaced confidence in an itinerant medicine man. It will be remembered that a "Doctor" Souverein exhibited his prowess and skill in pulling teeth before thousands of people in Chipman's field about a year ago. He had an orchestra with him, and the music and the novelty of the exhibition attracted thousands of people. The "doctor" professed to pull teeth without causing pain, as an advertisement for his wares, and very many citizens patronized him. Among others was the unfortunate man who died yesterday. He went up to the stand and Souverein broke a piece of his jaw, and from that time until death ended his sufferings. He has been in great agony. Erysipelas set in and spread to the scalp, causing horrible pain. Medical aid was of no avail, and the unfortunate man passed through a lingering death. He was taken to the hospital about a fortnight ago, but without any improvement. The inflammation from the jaw had penetrated the brain, and he passed away in great agony. The deceased drove a team for a number of years, and was a sober and industrious man. The fact that he leaves a widow and three young helpless children in destitute circumstances lends additional sadness to the case.

Has it Become Hollow?

W. H. Smith, of Montreal, has received a number of letters from observers in Charleston and vicinity, describing the earthquake and its consequences. One letter he got yesterday states that "the running of a railway train now shakes the earth from four to seven miles off, sounding at the same time as if the train was running over a culvert, the earth giving back a hollow sound." From this the writer concludes that the earth beneath Charleston and neighborhood has become hollow. The reckless predictions of Wiggins and other alleged earthquake seers are described as having done considerable harm amongst the more ignorant. Some, in consequence, live in hourly dread of being engulfed.

Despite not the day of small things. Little things may help a man to rise—a bent pin in an easy chair for instance. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are small things, pleasant to take, and they cure sick headaches, relieve toped livers and do wonders. Being purely vegetable they cannot harm any one. All druggists. Price 25c a box.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Denial.

SIR,—I call your attention to the following statement in a letter signed "Puzzler," in the Daily Examiner of Friday, attacking the editor of the Patriot:

"To show his malice towards Mr. A. Martin I will just quote one instance. He has deliberately falsified the debates of the Legislative Council, in representing Mr. D. C. Martin as bringing in a message and a bill to incorporate the Church at Orwell Head."

This statement is a malicious falsehood, and I call upon you to retract it without delay. Neither I nor anyone in this office falsified the reporter's copy, as you can see by calling and examining the same for yourself.

Yours, &c.,

D. LAIRD.

[We need not say that we regret the publication in THE EXAMINER of a statement not strictly correct; and await with some interest the explanation of our correspondent "Puzzler."]

A Reply.

SIR,—In Saturday's issue of THE EXAMINER, you quote enough law to show to your own satisfaction that the City Council have power to dismiss any policeman, or all the police, should they see fit so to do. If you will kindly allow me space in to-day's issue, I will quote all the law on the point which will clearly prove to your readers that they have no such power. The 3rd Sec. 40th Vic., Cap. 14 provides as follows: "For removal of doubts as to power of the Stipendiary Magistrate, it is hereby declared that after the passing hereof, he shall have the sole control and management of the police of said city; and shall prescribe and regulate their duties, and may from time to time dismiss or remove any marshal or policeman now or hereafter to be appointed; but the power of appointing both marshal or policeman shall remain as at present." This clearly establishes that the power of appointing policemen remains with the City Council, who had that power before this law was passed, but the power of dismissing them was taken away from the Council and given to the Magistrate under this section of the Act.

Yours, etc.,

LEX.

Ch'town, 27th Sept., 1886.

[We still hold to the opinion that the City Council retain the power to dismiss any policeman or all the policemen. The power of the Stipendiary Magistrate over the policemen is similar to that possessed by a superintendent or foreman over the employes of a manufacturing establishment. He has full power to manage, control, dismiss, but his power under the law is not superior to that of those in whose service he is. However, let the people judge.]

The Charlottetown Rifle Club.

The usual weekly Spoon Competition of the Charlottetown Rifle Club was held on Saturday afternoon, and notwithstanding the strong cold wind from the left, the scoring was very good. Sergt. Davison, of the Engineers, won the Silver Spoon. Scores, 200 and 500 yards, standing:—

Table with 2 columns: Name and Points. Includes Sergt. Davison (56), Lieut. R. V. Longworth (52), Lieut. McDougall (5), Capt. Weeks (40), Adjt. Morson (48), Lieut. J. A. Longworth (48), E. L. Hazard (43), E. B. Love (42), Sergt. Major Grey (39).

The Copper Find.

There is evident excitement over the reported copper find at Sudbury junction. This is where the Canadian Pacific railway connects with the branch running to Georgian Bay. All the region to the north and east of Lake Superior abounds in copper, either in ore or in its native state, but hitherto no deposit has been found as rich as that to the south of the lake in the Northern Michigan peninsula. The copper mines in the latter place have been considered the richest in the world. There the mineral is found almost chemically pure. One of these mines was producing a few years ago one-eighth of the annual production of copper in the world. In view of the fact that the Sudbury deposit is said to be superior to this, it is worth noting that the Michigan copper has hitherto commanded the highest price in the market, being remarkable for tenacity and especially suitable for cartridges. It is said that the mines south of Lake Superior paid $28,000,000 in dividends from the time they were opened down to 1882, in which latter year the dividends amounted to $2,900,000. It will be seen that these Algoma people have a large thing if Mr. Mackay is right in saying that they can close up all other copper mines in the world.

A DOG-CART, owned by M. McLeod, Esq., Q. C., and driven by his servant man, collided with a truckman's team last Saturday afternoon, on Richmond Street, near the Bijou Restaurant. As a result one of the shafts of the dog-cart was broken, the horse, a young and spirited animal, ran away, and some excitement was created among those who witnessed the accident. The truckman's team escaped unscathed.

PILOT George Mulherrin, of St. John, committed suicide on Thursday evening, by jumping overboard from the pilot boat H. S. Taylor, when off Grand Manan, thirteen miles from St. John, N. B. All efforts to rescue him were fruitless. Pilot Mulherrin, was an unmarried man 36 years of age, and resided with his mother on Charlotte Street. No cause is assigned for the rash act.

MR. JAMES N. CUNNINGHAM, of Cape Sable, N. S., has a natural curiosity in the shape of a real live rooster with four wings. The bird was hatched early last spring, is full grown and differs from the ordinary kind only in being furnished with an extra pair of wings, for which there appears to be no earthly use. They are smaller than the normal ones, placed further in the rear, but quite well developed.
